RICHMAN OVER HARBOR GRACE

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
The only Boston evening newspaper with three direct news services—Associated Press, International News Service and Universal Service
VOL. 33—NO. 149 MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1936 PRICE 2 CENTS

7 SPORTS STOCKS CLOSING PRICES

Pope Warns Of Red Ruin

HIS HOLINESS POPE PIUS XI

Makes World Appeal on Radio for Red Defeat

Pontiff, on Radio, Pictures Satanic Fury in Spain

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Sept. 14—A stirring call to the world to unite and act swiftly against Communism to forestall the "extreme ruin" that threatens otherwise was broadcast from the summer Vatican by Pope Pius today.

Speaking in his native Italian, a tongue attuned to the impassioned nature of the address, the pontiff, before 400 Catholic priests from war-torn Spain, praised the "holy heroism" of the Spanish clergy and people, compared the civil strife in Spain to the first fratricide of Cain and Abel and laid responsibility for the bloodshed flatly at the door of Bolshevism.

"The Pope therefore denounces to Europe and to the world the danger inherent in this explosion of hate—this fruit of Communist propaganda," he said. "He speaks of the danger this represents for all of civilization and voices a paternal and flaming appeal to as many as can possibly hear, so they may all be united to study remedies and act to avert extreme ruin."

Reds' Outrages

Following is a summary of the Pope's address:

"Your presence, beloved sons, exiles from Spain, so dear to us and now so desolate, fills our heart with inexpressible tumult, bringing with it conflicting feelings and emotions.

"We weep for the bitterness which afflicts our heart. You bear the marks of great suffering. You have been robbed and despoiled of all things. You have been hunted and flogged unto death in cities and villages.

"You have come to tell us how

Continued on Page 7, Column 1
—VOTE AMERICAN—

Threaten General Strike in France

Paris, Sept. 14 (INS)—Workers' syndicates at Lille today threatened a general strike throughout France unless their terms are met before expiration of Premier Leon Blum's ultimatum tonight, it was reported here.

(Other Story on Page 6)
—LEST AMERICAN—

Continued on Page 5, Column 7

Today

Forgetting; Remembering
Control of Thought
Shakespeare's Latin Grammar
Freedom of the Press

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The learned Democrats, one of the very greatest mathematical minds in all history, gave as his third patriotic theorem this formula:

"To try always rather to conquer myself than to conquer fate, and rather to change my desires than to change the management of the world; and generally, to make myself believe that there is nothing entirely within our power except our thoughts."

At first glance that seems quite reasonable, especially the part about being able to control our thoughts. That last part is, for 999 out of 1000 of us, entirely inaccurate. Had we been born among Mohammedans with M o h a m m e d a n fathers and mother, the 999 would have believed implicitly in the prophet who described a heaven in which rivers flowed with wine that never intoxicated you, a heaven in which wives were not admitted, except for men, as was rich and insisted on that change—and where every good Mohammedan awoke to find himself 20 feet high, also found himself surrounded with beautiful young ladies made of solid musk, only too anxious to please him.

Had we not our fathers born [illegible] we should now

Continued on Page 5, Column 7

LANDON HITS 'DEAL' CAMPAIGN TACTICS

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	R.	H.	E.
REDS	0
BEES	0

BATTERIES—DERRINGER AND LOMBARDI; CHAPLIN AND LOPEZ.

SEE RICHMAN OFF HARBOR GRACE

Harbor Grace, N. F., Sept. 14 (INS)—Flying so high its identification marks could not be distinguished, a plane which may be that in which Harry Richman and Dick Merrill are attempting an east-to-west aerial crossing of the Atlantic streaked in from the east at 1:30 p. m. (EDT) today.

The plane appeared to circle for its bearings over the local airport and then roared off on a southerly bee-line.

If the plane be that of the transatlantic commuting fliers, it means that Richman and Merrill had successfully negotiated the oceanic phase of their flight and faced only the comparatively easy task of following the coast line southward.

SHIP SIGHTS THEM

Meanwhile a dispatch from New-ark, N. J., said Eastern Air Lines received a message from the S. S. City of Baltimore at 12:20 p. m. (E. S. T.) indicating the Lady Peace had been sighted off Newfoundland. The message said:

"Merrill keeping schedule okay. WEEK strong.
(Signed) "Saunders."

WEEK is Eastern Air Lines Washington office.

STILL WINGING ALONG

The message indicated Merrill and Richman might be getting better reception from the messages broadcast to them from Washington than from Newark.

Officials interpreted the steam-

Continued on Page 3, Column 1

PAID TO KILL KING, SAYS M'MAHON

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—George Andrew McMahon, acquitted on two out of three charges in the celebrated pistol incident of King Edward's Constitution Hill parade, testified today "a foreign power" had wanted him to shoot the new monarch on an earlier occasion.

This "power," which the pudgy, crippled Irish-Scot did not identify, tried to get him to become a spy against Britain, he declared.

He said the King was to have been shot on the ceremonial birthday trooping of the colors last June 23, and that he was to receive £150 ($7500) for doing the shooting.

That was before the occasion, last July 16, when McMahon "slithered" a revolver at the feet of the King's horse.

McMahon was found guilty of producing a revolver near the King with intent "to alarm His Majesty." He was sentenced to 12 months at hard labor.

The jury deliberated only 10 minutes.

McMahon had pleaded with court

Continued on Page 6, Column 5
—VOTE AMERICAN—

STOCKS WEAK

New York, Sept. 14 (INS)—Stocks continued generally weak this afternoon.

RACE RESULTS AT NARRAGANSETT

First—Rafter 115 (Stevenson) 21.00, 9.60, 7.60; Zaca 115 (Arcaro) 12.40, 8.50; Gala Star 115 (Howell) 36.90. Off 2:21½. Also ran—Strabo, Bewitched, Natty Boy, High Velocity, Osmuck, Isadore, dPrairie Dog. dDisqualified.

Second—Yenoor 111 (Jackson) 8.60, 4.40, 4.00; Keep Out 116 (Arcaro) 11.60, 7.20; Brillwinn 111 (Tinker) 15.60. Off 2:55. Also ran—Desperado, Black Selma, Pharenough, Playful Prince, Bull Market, Bay Hereo.

DAILY DOUBLE—Rafter, 1st; Yenoor, 2nd—PAYOFF, $82.30

THIRD RACE—Purse $1000; claiming; four-year-olds and up Six furlongs.

1—Jewel Beauty
2—General Pulaski
3—Prosecutor
4—Lady Pal
5—General Pulaski
6—Merovech
7—Zeynaid
8—Dark War

Scratched—Pilkin Zulu Lad, Eileen C, Golden Words.

First	Second	Third
2	6	8

Happy over the enthusiastic welcome accorded him all along route of his eastern campaign tour, Governor Alfred M. Landon, Republican candidate for President, is shown as he waved "hello" to another throng in Danvers. The Kansas liberal was en route to Nashua, N. H., where he will wind up his successful New England tour. Asked to pose for pictures, the Governor replied, "Sure! I'll hop up on these rocks," which he did in the above manner.

TWO MEN SOUGHT IN BEAUTY'S DROWNING

While an autopsy was being performed today on the body of an attractive, red-haired, blue-eyed girl, found floating in the Charles river, authorities pinned their hopes of identifying her on a search for two men.

One is "the man in the brown coupe," a man described by witnesses as having taken the girl to Magazine beach nightly during the summer and as having taken her there yesterday a short time before the body was found.

The second man is known only as "Ray," thus far. According to Philip Natalie, Salem high teacher who served as a lifeguard at the beach, "Ray" had asked him on occasion, during the summer:

"Where's the red-head today? Have you seen her around?"

While the second man is believed to live somewhere around Central square, Cambridge, the finding of the man in the brown coupe—the man that police feel could definitely be depended on to make identification—was a harder problem. No

Continued on Page 7, Column 3
—VOTE AMERICAN—

Balances and Receipts

Washington, Sept. 14—Today's Treasury balance, $1,795,586,491; U. S. Customs receipts, $11,371,309.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

THE WEATHER

Boston and vicinity generally fair, slight temperature change tonight and Tuesday; moderate northeasterly winds.

High tide 12:18 a. m., 11:56 p. m.
Sun rises 6:06; sets 6:04.
Low—61; highest at 1:24.

AVERAGE TEMPERATURES

BOSTON	66	Chicago	74
New York	67	Los Angeles	80
Washington	68	San Francisco	68

Romance Captain Tells Own Story

Captain Delbert C. Wickens, of the rammed S.S. Romance, today told his own story of the collision with the Eastern Steamship liner New York before two Washington inspectors of the Department of Commerce at Appraiser's Stores.

The governmental inspectors arrived here this morning to take over the investigation of last week's crash from the local officials.

This new, startling move came after local officials, at the time of last week's postponement, announced that the "Washington men are merely sitting in" and that "We'll run the investigation."

During his testimony Captain Wickens told of the feverish activity in the pilot house prior to the collision, in which more than 200 people were dramatically rescued.

(Details on Page 11)

Landon Waves 'Goodbye' to Danvers

KANSAN CALLS ON FOES TO 'COME OUT OF HIDING'

Politics in New England held the nation's attention today with Boston Evening American staff observers reporting as follows:

NASHUA, N. H.—Paul Whelton traveling with Governor Alfred M. Landon, marks the Kansan's rousing send-off after his triumphant invasion of Maine.

PORTLAND, ME.—John T. Lambert predicts the greatest vote in Maine's history as Republicans, aroused by Landon, flock to the polls for the "barometer" election. At noon 500 more votes had been cast than in the record-breaking poll of 1932.

AUGUSTA, ME.—Luther Conant, Jr., senses solidification of anti-New Deal sentiment in a victory for Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., over Governor Louis J. Brann.

BOSTON — Massachusetts primary campaign comes to a whirlwind finish with interest focused on the bitter fight between Governor James M. Curley and Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg for the Democratic senatorial nomination. (See Page 2.)

By PAUL WHELTON

Nashua, N. H., Sept. —More than 6000 cheering Granite Staters jammed the Union Station here today to give Presidential Nominee Alfred M. Landon an enthusiastic send-off as his special train sped to Massachusetts.

And Governor Landon himself paid a deep tribute to the crowds and enthusiasm with which he was greeted throughout his tour as he said "au revoir" from the "back porch" of his train.

"You couldn't come to Kansas to my front porch so I came to New Hampshire on my back porch "motioning to the rear platform on the train) and I want to tell you I'm glad I came," he said.

"I think I know enough of the American people to know that they don't want to save dollars at the expense of the unemployed, but they don't want waste and extravagance at the expense of everybody.

"When the administration took office in 1932, there were 11,000,000 unemployed. There are still 11,000,000 unem-

Continued on Page 2, Column 8

DEAL HOSTILITY SWEEPS MAINE; 300,000 VOTES SEEN

PINE TREE STATE STIRRED BY 'FIGHTING KANSAN'

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Portland, Me., Sept. 14—Stirred by Governor Landon's fighting speech, the people of Maine will cast the greatest vote in the history of the state today in the dramatic barometer election which the country now watches with eager interest.

More than 300,000 votes will be cast, shattering every previous record. The state is aflame with political tenseness.

For the first time in the nation-wide presidential campaign the voters will decide an election battle possibly forecasting the triumph to be gathered either by Governor Landon or Mr. Roosevelt in November.

The Maine voters will elect a United States senator, governor, three congressmen, members of the Legislature and an army of county officials.

LOOKS LIKE G. O. P.

The popularity or unpopularity of the New Deal is the substantial issue to be decided by these free and unrestrained voters.

The surface indications are of a Republican triumph.

Maine will swing back after two years of Democratic triumphs here, each in turn having denied the victories which Mr. Roosevelt and the Democratic Congress would collect throughout the country.

The major interest and whatever uncertainty existed are concentrated in the royal battle for United States senator.

Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., is the Republican candidate for re-election. An effective legislator who at times has touched the realm of statesmanship such as Maine once saw in its James G. Blaine, Tom Reed, Frye, Hale and others, White is a modest self-effacing man whose fine achievements are scarcely known to the people of his state. He lacks both the desire and ability of self-advertising.

Governor Louis J. Brann is the Democratic or New Deal candidate for the office now held by Mr. White. He is the antithesis of White. He knows all the arts of ballyhoo. He is an adept politician. Amiable and affable, he is somewhat of a Chesterfield, referred to by some people as the Jimmy Walker of Maine. Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey came in to aid him in his several campaigns.

TOP OF TICKET

Brann astonished the country four years ago by being elected governor of Maine. His triumph then was the forerunner of the defeat to be visited Mr. Hoover. He was re-elected by 22,000 two years ago, being the first Democrat since the Civil War, at least, to win successive terms for himself at the State House in Augusta.

Brann is the top man of his ticket. Without him, the Democratic party here would be slaughtered. Maine evidently dislikes the New Deal. Its shrewd, thrifty and rugged people despise the high taxes, reckless waste, planned economy and food-scarcity programs of the New Deal.

Seemingly, the only question of tomorrow's election is whether the people, even in their dislike for the New Deal, will jump across the ballot and vote for Brann on his personal popularity. He declines to say whether he is a New Dealer. He picks his audiences and talks New Deal or anti-New Deal according to his local preference. He kept Jim Farley and most of the New Deal big-wigs out of the state, but he assures for himself the unpopularity which exists against them in this Pine Tree state.

If Brann does win, the New Deal strategists will gather him to their bosom. He will be trotted around the country as exhibit No. 1 of a New Deal victory.

The candidates for governor are Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, and F. Harold Dubord, Democrat. Mr. Dubord ran for United States Senator two years ago and came within 1500 votes of deposing the veteran Senator Frederick Hale. It may be seen that the Democrats choose for themselves the strongest ticket possible.

Everybody, save possibly Mr. Dubord himself, believes that Mr. Barrows will be chosen governor by an old-fashioned Republican majority.

ONLY REPUBLICAN

In the first Congressional district, it is assumed that James C. Oliver, Republican, will easily defeat Congressman Simon Hamlin, who went in with the sweep of two years ago. In the third district, victory is forecast for Congressman Ralph O. Brewster, who is now Maine's only Republican in the lower house of Congress.

In the middle district, the contest is complicated by the presence, not only of Republican and Democratic nominees, but of a Lemke-Third Party-backed candidate and by a capable exponent of old-age pensions. Here it is believed, however, that Clyde Smith, the Republican aspirant, will win because of the apparent overwhelming trend toward Republicanism throughout Maine.

Many polls have been taken in the state by local and by national agencies. They are invariable. They all show an enormous Republican sweep. On the face of these polls, Governor Landon would now defeat Mr. Roosevelt by 90,000. Mr. Barrows would be elected Governor by 60,000 and even Governor Brann would go down to defeat by a substantial majority.

Governor Landon was fairly well informed of these conditions when he decided to make his surprise and extraordinary visit to Maine to participate, as he declared, "in the first fighting repudiation of the New Deal."

DIRECT APPEAL

In his speech before the greatest audience in Maine's history, Governor Landon urged the Maine people to start a victory parade that would span the nation and lift the hearts of people everywhere.

This was a direct appeal to Maine. It was a notice to the people of the country that he pledged his high hopes in the Maine result. He actually resolved to "shoot the works" here, giving example of the courage and daring that his friends know to be among his attributes.

A man who fought his way through the oil fields of Oklahoma and Kansas with all their puzzling struggles can be expected to be possessed of an adventurous spirit.

Governor Landon is said to have believed that unless the Maine battle could be won, his campaign would have to be desperate thereafter. Perhaps his judgment was right. There is one offsetting factor. He is much more popular among the people of Maine than any Republican candidate whose name will be on the ballot today. His appearance here will raise their own prospects of victory. If the Democrats win, it will be not because of any diminished fervor for Landon among the people but because of the personality of Brann and the character of his own campaign.

Landon--Youth's Ideal

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

GOV. ALFRED M. LANDON

Six-year-old Tom Kearns was in a cheery mood after Governor Alfred M. Landon's salutation, "Hello, Redhead," at Portland, Me. The Republican nominee for President was about to leave Portland, following his dramatic campaign tour through New England, to return to Kansas.

LANDON LASHES 'DEAL TACTICS IN CAMPAIGN

Continued from First Page

ployed. Obviously that's not a record to be proud of.

"I don't blame the administration for trying to hide now behind a 'non-political' campaign."

The train chugged slowly out of the station at 1:43, 15 minutes behind its schedule, and delayed only by the fact that so large and enthusiastic a crowd had been mustered by the overnight change of plans. Previously Governor Landon had intended to leave for the west from Portland.

CHEERS SWELL TO ROAR

When the presidential nominee arrived here the crowd didn't need anyone to tell them. The outstanding members of the crowd recognized him immediately and the cheers started that swelled to a mighty roar.

It took the Kansas Governor nearly five minutes to cross the railroad tracks from the sidewalk after he got out of his automobile, despite the turnout of police to hold back the crowd.

Everyone wanted to shake his hand or touch his coat or pin on a shoulder. And the applause was deafening. Governor Landon grinned happily, reaching out a hand occasionally as he hustled along.

When he mounted the rear end platform the crowd surged forward again, police surging with them, lost in the weight of numbers.

Governor Landon bent over and shook hand until the rush was too much. Then he swung his head back and spoke. But the impatient whistle of the train cut his speech short, much to the disappointment of the Nashuaites.

The presidential nominee's party had mounted over from Danvers, where Governor Landon had been the overnight guest of Robert E. Choate, Boston publisher.

As the motorcade of eight machines sped along through Andover, the governor suddenly put up his hand for a halt. It was by a roadside fruit stand.

EYES RABBIT OF APPLES

Governor Landon got out of his car, cocked an eye at a basket of apples, and demanded of the youth in charge:

"How much for apples, son?"

The boy, 18-year-old James Evangelos, at turned out, didn't bat any eye as he answered:

"Twenty-five cents, Governor Landon. And they're good apples, too, Gravensteins."

The governor was just as pleased as could be that the boy knew him, but he continued:

"Good eating apples, are they."

"Good eating apples is right, governor. They're the best."

"Well, that's what I've been looking for," Governor Landon replied. "Here's your quarter. I'll take three."

MUNCHES AT FRUIT

When Evangelos grinned back and passed over the apples, Governor Landon took one and munched sturdily at it, passing the rest out to newspapermen and spectators.

The motorcade continued through Lawrence and Lowell, drawing spontaneous cheers as it passed towards Nashua.

It was amazing how the word spread ahead of the speeding procession and knots of people gathered, even though they had so little advance notice.

And they all cheered mightily!

First Massachusetts stop was at Springfield at 4:20 p. m. Next and last stop in the Bay State at Pittsfield at 5:35 p. m. Candidate Landon promised brief rear platform speeches at both cities. Record turnouts were being organized to greet him.

LANDON BUGS GIRL

The Landon special arrives in Chicago at 10:10 a. m. (E. S. T.) tomorrow.

Governor Landon's Sabbath stay in Portland, Me., was quiet and without political incident, as was his wish.

He attended morning services at the First Parish Street Methodist Episcopal church, joining in the singing and in the responses and listening to a sermon by Rev. A. E. Parker, whose text was, "For Enoch walked with God . . . and God took him."

Besieged, after the church service, by crowds of admirers and well-wishers, Governor Landon took particular pains to shake hands with boys and girls, many of whom teased in vain for autographs.

"How do you do, Mr. President" piped up one ten-year-old girl. She won a hug and a kiss from Governor Landon.

LUNCHES WITH HALE

Having lunched at the home of his Portland host, United States Senator Frederick H. Hale, Governor Landon sprang a surprise on news correspondents and other members of his official party by setting suddenly off on an unannounced motor trip along the New Hampshire coastline to the Danvers home of Publisher Choate, in whose car he was a passenger.

At Rye beach, the Landon party halted for an impromptu call at the summer home of former Governor Aivan T. Fuller of Massachusetts.

Political Advertisement

TONIGHT 6:30 WAAB
For CLERK OF COURT
SELVITELLA
"THE BLACK LEGION IN POLITICS"
Joseph Kelleher, 15 Gordon St.

SENATE FIGHT STIRS STATE

Last minute rallies and radio appeals were the order today, the eve of the Massachusetts primary elections with a record-breaking vote anticipated throughout the Commonwealth.

Overshadowing all battles on the Republican and Democratic lists is the contest between Governor James M. Curley and Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate.

Considerable interest is also being shown in the contest for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant-governor between Philip J. Philbin, convention endorsed candidate, Francis E. Kelley and Thomas J. Galvin.

Principal feature of the Republican side is the contest between Richard Darby of Everett and Russell A. Wood of Cambridge for the nomination for state auditor.

Candidates for the various nominations were busy today in whirlwind tours of their districts and final rallies prior to the elections tomorrow.

Tonight Governor Curley and Mayor Greenwood are due to meet on the same platform at Faneuil Hall at a meeting for candidates for state-wide office, sponsored by the Young Democrats Clubs of Massachusetts.

The governor also has one radio engagement for the evening, while Mayor Greenwood is scehduled to speak at least three times over the air.

Mayor Mansfield will also enter the campaign tonight to speak in behalf of Greenwood's candidacy.

The governor had a busy Sabbath. During the afternoon he addressed a meeting of the Women's Democratic Club of Massachusetts at the Parker House and then departed for Fall River with 15 scheduled stops for rallies enroute.

During the evening he attended a huge rally in Brighton, attended by 5000, sponsored by the Andrew Jackson Associates, at which other convention-endorsed candidates were also speakers.

The traditional pre-primary meeting of the Hendricks club, organization of the late Martin Lomasney, resulted in the failure of the club to endorse the name of Governor Curley in specimen ballots sent to voters of downtown wards.

President John I. Fitzgerald explained that no slight was intended and that the Governor's name was passed as he is being opposed on stickers by Thomas C. O'Brien, a close friend of Lomasney.

Fitzgerald pointed out that the club had urged voters of the district to cast ballots for all convention indorsed candidates.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

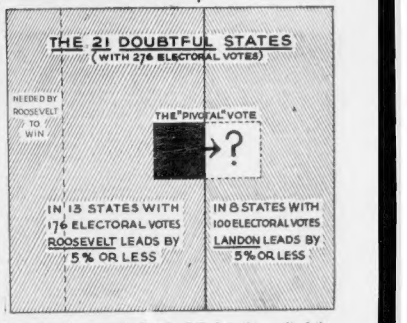
Political Advertisement

MRS. SADIE McNULTY
Will Discuss Coakley
WEEI—9 P. M.
Mary S. Jones, 11 Eastern Pl.

Nation-Wide Poll

Election Still 'Anybody's' Race

Will the Black Square Shift?



THE 21 DOUBTFUL STATES
(WITH 276 ELECTORAL VOTES)
NEEDED BY ROOSEVELT TO WIN
THE "PIVOTAL" VOTE
→?
IN 13 STATES WITH 176 ELECTORAL VOTES ROOSEVELT LEADS BY 5% OR LESS
IN 8 STATES WITH 100 ELECTORAL VOTES LANDON LEADS BY 5% OR LESS

The latest figures of the Crossley Poll show the result of the presidential election now depends on 21 doubtful states. If Landon captures five per cent or less, properly distributed, in doubtful states where Roosevelt now has an edge, besides holding his present leads, Landon will win.

By ARCHIBALD M. CROSSLEY
Director of the National Barometer

Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

New York, Sept. 14—Publication of the latest figures of the National Barometer, the Crossley Poll, today showed campaign managers of all parties that the election is still "anybody's race," and pointed to new campaign tactics.

Roosevelt has the South and Landon has New England.

Either party may swing large blocks of electoral votes in the coast-midwest battleground it is apparent from this latest weekly poll.

(The Crossley Polls are not cumulative and thus register shifts in political trends from week to week. The wisdom of making entirely new polls in every Congressional district throughout the country each week has already been shown by the large percentages of undecided voters shown to be in a number of pivotal states.)

Landon Can Win!

If Landon can hold the Landon states and swing all the Roosevelt state which are now near a tie, he can win with a safe margin of 305 electoral votes. On the other hand, Roosevelt can win easily by holding his present states, including those that are close to a tie.

Assuming that Landon can hold his present states, the latest tabulation of advance votes recorded by Crossley Poll investigators shows he needs only to shift 2 per cent of the major-party voters now favoring Roosevelt in three states (Illinois, Ohio and West Virginia), 3 per cent in one more state (New York) and 5 per cent in two other states (Michigan and Minnesota) to be elected.

In addition, he can look for help among the large number of voters who do not yet definitely favor one candidate or the other.

Electoral Vote

If the election were held today Roosevelt would probably win, the Crossley poll indicates. (In terms of popular vote, it now looks sure that neither side will win by a large margin. But in terms of electoral vote, either side can win by a substantial margin in November.

Everything now depends upon the effect of the campaign on the floating or undecided voter. In the next few strenuous weeks that neither side will win by large blocks of electoral votes by swinging into line just a few voters in each pivotal vote.

The National Barometer, the Crossley poll, appears in the Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser.

Portland Vote Far Ahead Of 1932 Record Breaking Poll

By LUTHER CONANT, JR.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 14—Crowded voting places in hundreds of Maine communities gave early indication today of an all-time record-breaking vote and increased the expectations of a smashing victory for the entire Republican ticket.

In Portland, the state's largest city, 7000 votes had been cast by noon, 500 in excess of the total cast at the same hour in the record-breaking vote of 1934. In that year Portland polled 22,350 votes.

Reports from Bangor, South Portland, Waterville, Augusta and other large cities and towns indicted heavy balloting. Suburban wards of Portland, usually slow in voting, kept pace with wards within the city. In every precinct party workers were active passing out literature.

AGED OUT IN NUMBERS

Older persons, scouting by old age pension agitation, were out in unusual numbers. In Auburn, Frank E. Dillingham, 76, suffering from illness, was carried to the polls on a stretcher to cast his vote.

Never before has national attention been so focused on the outcome of a Main state election.

Estimates of the plurality of Senator Wallace H. White, Jr., Republican standard bearer for re-election in the contest against the New Deal nominee, Governor Louis J. Brann, soared following three great major developments.

Most important was the solidification of the tremendous opposition to the New Deal here by the Portland speech of Governor Landon Saturday.

Equally significant were:

The pledge of an allegiance given to Senator White by the strong Townsendite organization in Maine.

TOWNSEND AID

The endorsement of Senator White by the Maine State Textile Council.

The Townsendite movement here, proved numerically great by the June primaries, is figured to have a voting power of upwards of 50,000.

In the gubernatorial contest it was already conceded that Secretary of State Lewis O. Barrows, Republican candidate, would draw an unprecedented plurality over his New Deal opponent, F. Harold Dubord.

Referring to the senatorial race, James J. George, secretary of the Textile Council, announced that a resolution had been passed urging all textile workers in Maine to vote for Senator Wallace W. White, Jr.

The Townsendite pledge, released by Frank H. Mudgett, state director of the organization, came in complete denial of an earlier endorsement of Brann by John W. Caroline, who represented himself as from national headquarters.

In the congressional battles, attention was centered on the second district.

For in the first and third districts Republican victories were predicted to be more than safe.

In the third district, Congressman Ralph O. Brewster, former governor of Maine, and Republican nominee for re-election, has had no real fight from the beginning of the campaign against his Democratic opponent, Wallace F. Mabee of Eastport.

OLIVER'S SUPPORT

In the first district, James C. Oliver, South Portland, newcomer to the political scene and winner of the Republican primary nomination in field of nine candidates, has the added double support of both the Townsendites and the Union for Social Justice.

Political Advertisement

TONIGHT
WBZ 8:00
Wm. E. HURLEY
Similar Week, 97 Valentine St., W. Roxbury

Filene's
ONLY IN THE LITTLE SHOE SHOP
Street floor—next to the Men's Store

No sacrifice of STYLE for ease—no loss of EASE for style—you'll find foot comfort in smart styles. The LITTLE SHOE SHOP is proud to present its new Fall line of

BELLAIRE SHOES

"like walking on air"—

$4.95

EXCLUSIVE WITH FILENE'S IN BOSTON

LADY ALICE—Black or brown suede or kid wide strap, cuban heel, $4.95.

LADY BETTY—Smart dress oxford in black or brown suede or kid $4.95

LADY CLARE—Brown suede monk-type shoe for campus or street wear, $4.95.

Flexible air cushions concealed in stylish Bellaire Shoes, stimulate healthy circulation through foot veins and tissues, combat foot thickening and fatigue—preserve girlish foot slenderness and buoyancy. $4.95.

FILENE'S LITTLE SHOE SHOP
STREET FLOOR
Next to the Men's Store

KNOW THE SECRETS OF BELLAIRE

1. Snag-fitting arch uplift cushions muscles and arch bones.
2. A pure, live sponge rubber air cushion—80% air absorbs shocks and stimulates normal circulation.
3. Flexible steel shank supports the arch.
4. A pure, live sponge rubber air cushion absorbs shocks to heel nerves.

EVENING EDUCATION
LINCOLN PREPARATORY SCHOOL
Classical, Scientific, and General High School Programs
Preparation for college entrance by certificate or examination. Classes open to men and women of all ages. Moderate fees payable by installments.
Fall Term Opens September 21
Enroll Now. Catalogue on Request
313 Huntington Ave., Boston
TELEPHONE KENmore 3800

FLIERS NEAR U. S. ON HOP

TWO SPEED AT 195-MILE CLIP

Continued from First Page

ship's communication to indicate that it had sighted the plane near Newfoundland.

Twice since 11 a. m. signals had been heard in Newark from the trans-Atlantic fliers, the report said. The last signal came about noon.

Like its predecessor it was too indistinct to be understood, but at least it gave assurance that the fliers are still up and speeding on their way.

Richman Plane Speeds To U. S. at 195 M.P.H.

(Copyright, 1936, by United Service)

Newark, N. J., Sept. 14—Speeding along at 195 miles an hour Harry Richman and Dick Merrill, who hopped from Southport, England, yesterday, on their aerial round trip across the Atlantic, are approaching close to the United States.

The American Airlines radio operator established contact with the fliers shortly before 4 a. m. and received the cheering report that "all is well."

They were then 1150 miles out. As they neared Newfoundland brilliant weather awaited them.

No word was heard at 7 a. m. at 10 a. m. hours set for next radio contact. Observers said they figured the Richman-Merrill craft wasn't powerful enough to carry that far in daylight.

Bound for New York where they intend to have dinner at seven o'clock tonight (EDT), the American night club entertainer and his veteran helmsman encountered a sudden rainstorm over the vast ocean immediately after taking off at 10:02 p. m. Sunday, E. D. T.

Five thousand aviation enthusiasts sheered the departure of the "Lady Peace," despite the early hour.

The good-natured crowd laughed and applauded when Richman tossed them with typical American wisecracks just before he and Merrill climbed into the plane and zoomed out on the hazardous eastwest ocean flight.

1000 GALLONS GAS

The smooth sand dunes of Southport Beach were marked off into a brilliant lane fringed on both sides by bright red and white navigation lanterns, lighting the path for the "Lady Peace" as Merrill taxied the powerful and heavily-loaded plane a mile and a half along the beach before lifting its wheels off the ground.

The takeoff was perfect, despite the fact that the sleek plane took aloft the heaviest load ever carried by a single-engined monoplane — 1000 gallons of gas and 40 gallons of oil.

The sky over Southport was studded with gleaming stars as the "Lady Peace" took to the air on its historic attempt to write a new page into aviation history.

Richman and Merrill hoped to reach New York in less than 23 hours for a record-breaking east to west flight over the Atlantic.

The "Lady Peace" shattered the west to east speed record 11 days ago when she was forced by fuel shortage to land in South Wales, short of her London goal, after negotiating the ocean expanse in 15 hours and 11 minutes.

CAME THE DELUGE

The big crowd lining the beach cheered inaudibly until the "Lady Peace" disappeared over the Irish Sea. But after the plane climbed into the skies, the stars were blotted out by a sudden rainstorm.

But weather reports from both British and American observers indicated that Richman and Merrill will generally be favored by good flying conditions over half course.

The flying pair headed on a direct line westward, hoping to be over Cape Race, Newfoundland, at noon (E. D. T.) today, traversing the ocean itself in the record-shattering time of approximately 14 hours, then heading southwestward for New York.

As the motor of the "Lady Peace" was being warmed up for the takeoff, Richman, using the slang of the American stage, announced to a tittering crowd:

"We're doubling in brass to the U. S. A.

"I hope to be in New York at dinner time tonight. I have ordered steak and chips."

At this point, Merrill interrupted to remind Richman:

"Two steaks, Harry."

Somebody wanted to put a parting present in the plane, but Richman restrained him with the admonition:

"This isn't a luggage train. It's an airplane—more or less a flying gas and oil tank."

MESSAGE TO LA GUARDIA

Newspaper photographers clustered about Richman and Merrill and flashlights blazed. Impatient Merrill told the cameramen:

"Hurry up. We aren't going to wait for you."

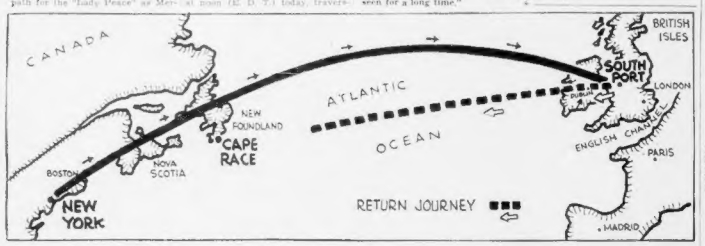
Richman quipped:

"Don't forget we have an appointment in New York. I've ordered my steak and chips to be ready at seven o'clock.

"If we're late and the steak is burned, there'll be the biggest row New York restaurants have seen for a long time."

Dick Merrill (Left) and Harry Richman

Who are speeding toward United States from England and who expect to eat dinner in New York early this evening.



Black line shows route taken by Richman and Merrill on their flight to Europe, while dotted line designates new trail which fliers are following on their return trip. Arrow points to last position.

BLAZING NEW 2-WAY TRAIL OVER ATLANTIC

CALL Insurance MEN

INVITED TO SEE ROOSEVELT

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—A White House conference with a group of insurance company executives has been arranged by President Roosevelt for tomorrow.

Presidential aides declined to discuss details of the meeting or who would attend it. Matters pertaining to insurance companies recently have been given prominence in the political news.

In Chicago, A. A. Ballantine, under secretary of the treasury under former president Hoover, today issued a statement through the Republican national committee that Roosevelt political leaders were "frightened" of votes against the President "by alarmed life insurance policy holders."

Ballantine said they and others feared they would "see their dollars gradually shrink" unless there is a check on federal spending. He said various insurance company officials were being brought forward to say "'tain't so."

White House officials would make no statement today as to the purpose of the meeting, now would they comment on reports it was prompted by a speech by Colonel Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential candidate, at Allentown, Pa., September 5. In that speech Knox said:

"The present administration has been for four years giving lip service to security and welfare and now no life insurance policy is secure; no savings account is safe."

Aides to the President declined repeatedly to answer inquiries as to the details of the meeting. It was said that the names of those to attend would not be made public before tomorrow.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

How's Your Figure? Let Ida Jean Kain help you with your diet problems—one of the women's pages every day in the Boston American.

Under Cover, Eh!

American Writer On Scene

Heat Causes Girls To Doff Petticoats In "Salem Maid"

By PEGGY DOYLE

Boston American Staff Writer

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 14—There's a lot of cheating going on at the "Maid of Salem" location that, were they aware of it, those great sticklers for historic exactitude, Director Frank Floyd and his technical director, Lance Baxter, would be genuinely concerned about.

The cheating is being done by none other than the good wives and demure maids of Old Salem Village. They have been skipping petticoats since the thermometers of Santa Cruz went berserk and commenced hitting highs reminiscent of the stock market before Black Friday.

Paramount's "Maid of Salem," herself, charming Claudette Colbert, is the chief culprit.

While the script calls for the customary six petticoats of that bygone day, Miss Colbert has been getting by with one cambric petticoat.

She admits it's not entirely the weather that is responsible for her thus breaking faith with the fashion decrees of the bygone days that dates her present production.

"How could women wear the bulk of clothes they are supposed to have worn during those days and still retain any trace of feminine vanity?" Miss Colbert wants to know.

On the Common of Salem Village your reporter, one of six Boston newspaper representatives now guests of Paramount on the "Maid of Salem" location, interviewed Miss Colbert, or rather, Barbara Clarke of Old Salem.

She is dressed in a floor-length, sheer gray dress woven to look like homespun. The fitted, buttoned bodice is vastly becoming to Miss Colbert's slim, rounded figure as are the pointed, pale-blue collar and cuffs.

"Devil's Prey"

She has just finished the meeting-house scene where the Rev. Mr. Parris, noting the gown and pretty bonnet, has just closed his Bible and said:

"Speaking of Satan, I must also bid ye beware of the frivolity and foolishness of women, who bedeck themselves with ribbons, curls and lace bonnets, thus causing men's minds to—to wander.

"I say that a female who would fritter away her time trimming and tricking herself out in such a fashion should be looked upon as the very gizzard of a trifle, the epitome of nothing, and the very pit prey of the devil!"

Claudette is wearing the famous bonnet, a delightful confection of light blue quilted taffeta with ruffs after row of delicately patterned lace lining it so as to frame her face.

"We had the most difficult time," she recalls, "trying to find attractive clothes for the period. Everything then was so durable and unattractive. In fact, it was considered a sin to attempt to make yourself attractive."

High Praise

While she is resting between scenes in her specially labelled "Miss Colbert" chair, she lights up, naturally. Other women and girls in the cast, similarly garbed in the modest-appearing gowns of the period, sit about smoking. A bit incongruous with their quaint black or white or blue bonnets, their high-necked dresses and their great full skirts.

Another touch that would have stunned a visitor from the past to the scene is provided in Miss Colbert's eyelashes. Claudette, where did you get those great, long eyelashes?

"Oh, admits Claudette, gaily, "I've finally found something that will actually keep them on my eyelids instead of falling out in great gobs. It's a liquid adhesive."

Yes children, she buys the eyelashes by the yard, or perhaps it's by the inch.

Which reminds us of Miss Colbert's latest fan-letter from the Far East. It, and an enclosure—a movie review of DeMille's Cleopatra appearing in the Manchurian Daily News—almost stopped production late yesterday.

Headlined as "Glamorous and Flagrant, Cleopatra Bristles Eyes," the review states that the production is "so extravagance, so lavishly, so fancieri betimes.

"DeMille's Cleopatra produced an eye-bristling spectacle classed among the most thrilling of last night's screens giving.

"The critic is certain several superfluous word of praises can be offered to this picture which is so colossal, so charming and so vividly with an eye to interesting and that is ahead of his expectations. But eyeing from artistic points, this is just to get the passing mark to hook.

"However, Miss Colbert's rolls is every inch, the ell."

Although it's doubtful whether anything in his letter has anything to do with Miss Colbert's plans, she definitely asserted that she "will quit only when I'm kicked out."

"I intend," she said, definitely, "to stay in pictures until they have to trundle me off the set in a wheel chair."

She thinks it would be interesting to do a play, but since it's seven years gone since she appeared in a legitimate production she fears it might be too much of a risk professionally.

If she could have her way, she'd like to do three pictures a year, all varied.

At this minute, there is a possibility that she may do "Joan of Arc" for Warners and play Scarlet in "Gone With the Wind" for Selznick.

(Another story from the movie colony in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

Frank Lloyd, director of "Maid of Salem," shows Claudette Colbert, star of old Salem picture, how candles were dipped in olden days. Photoplay is now being made at Santa Cruz, Cal., where old Salem has been reconstructed.

(Photo from International News Photograph Service)

Five States Vote In Primaries Tomorrow

By the Associated Press

Voters of five states ballot tomorrow in state primaries. Following are some of the highlights of the contests outside of Massachusetts:

NEW HAMPSHIRE—Two former political allies, Governor H. Styles Bridges, 38 years old, and the veteran ex-Senator George H. Moses, are contesting for the Republican nomination to the Senate seat from which the Republican Senator Henry W. Keyes is retiring. A third entry in the race is William J. Callahan, state representative, campaigning as Townsend candidate. In the Democratic ranks, United States Representative William N. Rogers is unopposed for the senatorial nomination.

WISCONSIN—Governor Philip F. La Follette is unopposed for the Progressive Party nomination for governor. The contestants for the Democratic and Republican nominations all have directed their fire against La Follette. The Democratic candidates are Senator Senator William D. Carroll and Arthur W. Lueck; the Republicans are Alexander Wiley and Orin B. Kipple.

NEW YORK—Townsend and Coughlin candidates numbering more than a dozen are pitted against regular Democratic and Republican designees for Congress. Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell faces opposition from Jesse W. Williams, Townsendite.

MICHIGAN—Here also observers watched to see what strength is displayed by Coughlin or Townsend endorsed candidates. There are a number of men hoping such endorsement in the races for party nominations for congressional seats. Nominations for Senator, Governor and other offices also will be made.

TODAY -:- By Arthur Brisbane

Continued from First Page

accepted as eternal truth the Buddhist teachings of Gautama, who taught that happiness was to be found only in his queer heaven, "Nirvana," which means to our Western minds only annihilation.

If we had been born when the human race, all except its weakest tribes, was cannibalistic, we should have believed in cannibalism and thought it a highly virtuous thing to drag a fat young person home to the family supper table.

One thing we do not control is "HEREDITY, although we think we do.

Our thought depends on society, on environment, on the amount of money we happen to have, on what political party or religion our fathers belonged to. And, sometimes, when we escaped from those old beliefs, we were not as well off as we should have been had we gone along in the old way.

Andre Maurois, a brilliant Jewish writer, whose life of Disraeli would interest you, likes to emphasize the importance of heredity. There is something in the idea. To forget that which cannot be remedied is often wise, unless forgetting it means that you will make the same mistake in the future.

But, far more important would be a worldwide campaign to make human beings REMEMBER.

Already they are forgetting the big war, the rivers of blood and the billions of money poured out. They are forgetting the agony of fear, in the hearts of millions of mothers, the sacrifice of youth and of the next generation.

They even forget that everybody concerned in the wholesale butchery lost, that nobody gained. Even this country that foolishly mixed in a war with which is had no concern, might be capable of mixing in another if it should come.

What men need and lack is the power to remember, to remember favors done, to remember faithless public servants, to remember the breaking of promises, and distrust new promises.

"Remember the Maine," was a fairly good slogan, but there are many remeMberings more important.

George Brandeis' book on Shakespeare says anyone who suggests that Shakespeare's works were written by Bacon, simply proves that he has not read Shakespeare or Bacon.

Today an "Elizabethan research student" surprises you with the statement that Sir Francis Bacon, Shakespeare and Edward Sixth were all one individual. Shakespeare, at most, was nothing but "a small-parts actor."

The Elizabethan student does not explain the interesting fact to which Brandeis calls attention, that every single letter in Shakespeare's works will be found, exactly as he used it, in the little Latin grammar studied by the boys in his school at Stratford.

The real Shakespeare must have been very ingenious, if he knew enough to go to Stratford and get that little book to disguise his authorship.

A reader asks: "Do you consider that freedom of the press is more important and above the will of the government?"

The answer is "YES," the principle of freedom of the press is above any government, because freedom of the press is a part of the Constitution, under which the government is supposed to operate.

Avalanche, Flood Trap 74 in Norse Tourist Mecca

Loen, Norway, Sept. 14 (AP)—Rescue parties today searched beautiful Lake Loen, turned into a death trap by a roaring avalanche and resultant flood, for the bodies of many of the 74 victims of one of Norway's great natural disasters.

The twin villages of Bodsi and Nesdal, nestled at the foot of 8388-foot Rogne mountain in this famous tourist region, were virtually wiped out when a huge mass of rock slid down into the lake and sent a great wall of water sweeping over the area.

The natives, startled from their early morning sleep, had no chance to escape from the great wave which poured through the narrow valley after the massive rock—at least 1200 feet broad and 1300 feet high—rolled into the lake.

Relief workers, including doctors and nurses who flew here from Bergen and Oslo, established temporary hospitals in the few remaining homes.

Bodies of human beings and animals, as well as furniture and household articles, floated on the surface of the lake. There were cores of corpses of silver foxes, bred by the farmers of the region.

An old steamboat, perched 350 feet up the mountainside since a similar disaster in 1905 in which 60 were killed, was swept another 200 feet higher by the immense wave.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Exeter Wins

Newport, N. H., Sept. 14—Exeter's Legion drum corps went home in triumph today, having won first award in the contest staged by the American Legion at the annual convention here.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Nine Wives, One Husband Win Divorces

Nine wives and one mistreated husband won divorces from their mates in 90 minutes of an uncontested session before Judge Joseph R. McCoole in Dedham court today.

Malcolm Cameron of Stoughton, young and husky, divorced Mary F. Cameron after three years of married life, because, he said, she did not know the proper use for household utensils.

She threw a frying pan of hot fat and sizzling eggs at him, followed this up with a kettle of hot, greasy water, then tossed dishes and silverware. With scissors she stabbed him, he testified. Also she bit him and hit him and scratched him.

He said this treatment made him despondent, he lost 22 pounds and felt like killing himself. Still, he was afraid she would kill him so he left her.

Carol Coffin, 30, of South Weymouth, who became the bride of Richard Coffin of Hingham last January, divorced him because during the four months they lived together he slapped her, punched her, choked her and chased her from their home with a carving knife, she testified. She had no idea that married life was like that.

Where Mrs. Coffin waited only a short time, Mrs. Lillian M. Foley of Needham waited 19 years to divorce George Foley, now of parts unknown. They were wed in 1900 and in 1917 he left her and never returned.

Curley to Study McMath Evidence

Governor Curley announced today he is considering "new evidence" in the kidnaping of Margaret "Peggy" McMath, 10, at Harwichport, in 1933.

The evidence is believed to be in connection with the petition for parole by Kenneth Buck, McMath family chauffeur, who was convicted of plotting extortion of the $60,000 ransom and of hiding the child who was lately released.

In his petition Buck declares that he is not the actual kidnaper, that he participated in the crime against his wishes and names a person, who, he charges, actually seized the girl.

NARRAGANSETT PARK
ROUTE 1A PAWTUCKET, R.I.
SUMMER MEETING
NOW AND THRU Sept. 26
POST TIME 2:15
WITH N. E.'S ONLY ELECTRIC EYE
8 RACES 6 on Sat. DAILY
Trotters and Paces Direct to Track
Daily Double-1st & 2nd Races

OPENING THIS WEEK
EVENING CLASSES
ACCOUNTING — MANAGEMENT
LAW and BUSINESS
ENGINEERING and BUSINESS
Northeastern University
SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
315 HUNTINGTON AVE., BOSTON
Confers B. S. A. Degrees

KAY'S 22nd ANNIVERSARY SALE
LANDSLIDE BARGAIN
JUST WHAT THE LADY HAS ALWAYS WANTED ON TERMS YOU CAN EASILY AFFORD!
IT'S YELLOW GOLD COLOR
LOVELY WRIST WATCH EXCLUSIVE AT KAY'S
Set with 2 DIAMONDS
22c DOWN 22 MONTHS TO PAY
$16.22
Designed for style—timed for unerring accuracy. 2 genuine diamonds in the case—fully guaranteed. Silk cord bracelet.
PARK YOUR CAR IN THE BOWDOIN SQUARE GARAGE AND USE FREE DE LUXE BUS SERVICE TO OUR STORE.
BROCKTON QUINCY PROVIDENCE SPRINGFIELD WORCESTER
KAY JEWELRY COMPANY
BOSTON LYNN SALEM WALTHAM PAWTUCKET
594 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON
GET ON THE BANDWAGON AND SAVE

ROMANCE PROBE INDICATES FIVE MAY BE STILL 'LOST'

Testimony that indicated five persons might still be missing as a result of last week's S. S. Romance and S. S. New York crash in Boston harbor was given today at a hearing before United States steamboat inspectors in the Appraiser's Stores.

Captain Delbert C. Wickens, first to take the stand, testified that there were 213 persons on board and this number was corroborated by Captain Edgar Robinson, marine superintendent of the Bay State Steamship Company, and mate aboard the Romance at the time of the collision.

Alton C. Brown, pilot aboard the Romance and the third man in the pilot house at the time of collision, testified that there were 209 persons aboard.

Brown testified he obtained the number of persons from the log.

Brown said he had put that number down in the log book after getting the figure from the watchman.

Capt. Wickens and Capt. Robinson were recalled to the stand and questioned as to the number of persons aboard. They said they believed Brown was mistaken since they looked at the log and saw 213 persons entered.

Prior to the hearing, Captain Oscar G. Anderson, who conducted the questioning, read a message from J. M. Johnson, acting secretary of Commerce, in which the Romance-New York collision was described as "serious."

Captain Charles M. Lyons of the local inspection service, who last Tuesday at the time of the postponement, made indignant denials that the Washington inspectors would take over the investigation, today announced the shift in plans.

"RACE" COMPLAINTS

It is generally believed that the Washington authorities were sent here to determine the cause of the collision and conduct a thorough investigation of the many complaints Department of Commerce officials have received over the much-publicized "race to Provincetown" between the Romance and another steamer.

Also present at the hearing were J. Harvey Turnure, counsel for the S. S. Romance Company, and A. J. Santry, counsel for Eastern Steamship Company, which owns the New York.

Captain Wickens' testimony:

HOLDS 3 LICENSES

Q—What licenses do you hold? A—A master's license, harbor pilot's license, and coastwise master's license.

Q—When were these licenses issued and by what office? A—In September, 1935, from this office.

Q—Were they lost? A—Yes, sir. They were lost in the wreck.

Q—How old are you, Captain Wickens? A—47.

Q—What is your nationality? A—I am a Canadian by birth but was naturalized in 1913. I lost these papers in the wreck, too.

Q—What other boats have you been master of prior to your command of the Romance? A—I was master of the Norumbega in 1913. Since then I have piloted various Nantasket boats and was made master of the Romance June 1.

Q—Were you ever before a local trial board for investigation? A—Yes, I was before a board in this building on complaint of the captain of the S. S. Steel Pier. That's not finished yet.

LOG BOOK LOST

Q—Have your log book? A—No, I lost that in the wreck, too.

Captain Wickens added that he had made efforts to recover the log book from the wreckage, but had been unsuccessful.

Q—What time did you leave Edison wharf? A—10:15 or 10:20 a.m.

Q—What were the weather conditions at that time? A—Dense fog.

Q—What was the approximate visibility? A—One thousand to 1200 feet.

Q—Were you sounding your fog whistle? A—Yes.

Q—How many passengers were you carrying? A—160.

Q—How many in the crew? A—53.

213 ON BOARD

Q—Then you had 213 persons on board? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What course did you follow after leaving Edison's wharf? A—I followed the main channel to Nix's Mate, and then down through the Narrows.

Q—On that day you followed the Narrows, who counted the passengers? A—The sailors did.

Q—Who reported the number to you, captain? A—I think his name is O'Leary.

Q—What is his rating? A—Ordinary seaman.

Q—Did you have a complete complement leaving for Provincetown? A—Yes, sir.

STRUCK FOG

Q—When did you begin to strike fog? A—On the way to Provincetown. We encountered thick fog until Race Point, then it cleared off, and it was bright and sunny.

Q—How many passengers were there leaving Provincetown? A—308 passengers and 33 of the crew.

Q—Who counted them? A—The same man.

261 PERSONS ABOARD

Q—Then you had 261 persons aboard? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What was the weather? A—The sun was shining and the visibility was about eight to ten miles, southeast wind.

Q—What course did you follow from Provincetown? A—The usual course to the outer Hunnewell buoy No. 1, then to the whistle buoy off Minots Light.

Q—What are your normal revolutions in clear weather, Captain Wickens? A—108 to 110 revolutions.

Q—What time did you leave Provincetown? A—4:05 p. m.

Q—Is that the usual time? A—No, the usual time is 4 o'clock, but we were late getting passengers aboard.

SPEED 15 KNOTS

Q—What is the speed of the Romance at 110 revolutions? A—About 15 knots.

Q. Is that the normal speed? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Did you have the latest charts aboard your vessel? A. Yes, sir.

Q. How many trips have you made to Provincetown? A. I should say about 150.

Q. When was your compass last adjusted? A. Around the middle of June.

Q. Any trouble with your courses? A. No, sir.

Q. Have you any record of deviation? A. No, sir, I haven't any.

Q—Do you believe your compass perfect in every respect? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What channel did you set your course for? A—North Sound channel.

Q—Why North Channel? A—I considered it the safest channel in good weather and bad, too.

Q—When you left Province-town, was there any fog? A—No, sir.

Q—When did you encounter fog? A—Half way from Hunnewell buoy to the whistle buoy off Minot.

Q—Did you reduce the speed at any time? A—Not until I ran into a heavy fog bank and heard a steamer's whistle blowing at me at 7:00.

Q—Did you see the Boston lightship? A—Yes, sir.

Q—How far off? A—About 1000 feet when I went by.

SOUNDED FOG SIGNAL

Q—Was there any fog at that time and were you sounding your fog signal? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Are you familiar with the Boston-New York boat sailings? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Where do you usually sight the New York boat? A—We usually pass close to the Whistle buoy off Minot Light.

Q—Are you familiar with the fog whistle of the New York boat? A—Yes, sir.

Q—When you heard the first blast of the New York's fog whistle, what time was it? A—7:04 p. m.

Q—Who was in the pilot house at that time? A—Mr. Brown, Mr. Robinson and myself.

PILOT AT WHEEL

Q—Who had the wheel? A—Mr. Brown.

Q—Did you have a lookout? A—Yes, sir. A man whose name I think is William Waldron.

Q—Was there fog at that time? A—Yes, sir.

Q—What did you do when you heard the New York fog whistle? A—I stopped the engine.

Q—Were you blowing your fog whistle all this time? A—Yes, I blew it myself.

(Capt. Wickens described the whistle as making a very loud noise. He said it was a steam whistle controlled by a lever.)

Q—What time did you stop your engine? A—7:04, sir.

Q—Did you anticipate meeting the New York in that vicinity? A—Yes, we were wondering where she was.

Q—Who is we? A—We in the pilot house.

QUIZZED ON PRECAUTIONS

Q—Had you taken any precautionary measures up to that time? A—No, sir, it had been clear up to a quarter of a mile.

Q—Where did the New York first come into your view? A—On the port bow.

Q—What action did you take? A—I swung hard right on the wheel and came about full ahead.

Q—What speed were you proceeding at this time? A—Three to three and a half knots.

Captain Wickens at this time testified he put three across the bow of the boat in order to keep passengers off the bow, according to law.

HEADING NORTHWEST

Q—In what direction were you heading at this time? A—Northwest.

Q—Is that your usual course? A—No, I was travelling west, northwest.

Q—What course was the New York proceeding on? A—She was heading east, northeast.

Captain Wickens then stepped off his chair and illustrated his course from Provincetown on charts of Massachusetts bay.

Captain Wickens testified he could not see Graves buoy and that the Romance sunk about 7:30.

He said the New York boat hit the Romance about 80 feet from the front of the vessel and the bow of the New York went into the bow of the Romance 10 or 12 feet.

SOUNDED GENERAL ALARM

Captain Wickens further testified he gave the signal for a general alarm summoning all hands to their posts and that he helped the passengers on with their life belts. He added that four lifeboats from the Romance were "immediately employed."

Before leaving the stand at recess, Captain Wickens denied there had been any fire on the Romance.

"The supposed fire was nothing but a torch carried by someone on the Romance. It was part of the ship's equipment," he concluded.

MASTER 20 YEARS

Captain Robinson's testimony:

Q—What licenses do you hold, captain? A—An ocean master.

Q—What harbors? A—Boston harbor, Cape Henry, the Kennebeck River. I have been a master for 20 years and a pilot on quite a few large steamers.

Q—Name some of the vessels. A—Well, I acted as pilot for the Savannah Line, the Clyde-Mallory Line, and I was captain of the Eastern Steamship boat the New York for three or four years.

Q—Have you ever been before a board of inquiry and had your license suspended? A—Yes, sir, on account of the Robert E. Lee in 1929.

Q—What instance? A—She ran ashore on route to the canal (Cape Cod).

Q—Do you recall the Romance leaving Edison wharf. A—Yes, sir.

'FITTED FOR WEATHER'

Q.—On leaving Boston and encountering the fog did you feel that the Romance was fitted and efficient for this type of weather and that your fog horn sounded loud enough? A—Yes, sir.

He then corroborated the previous testimony of Captain Wickens as to the number of passengers.

Q—What time did you leave Provincetown? A—Our sailing time was 4 p. m.

Q—How soon before the crash were you in the pilot house? A—Off Whistle buoy.

Q—Did you hear fog signals? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Did you recognize it as the New York? A—I took it for the New York.

Q—About what speed was the Romance proceeding? A—About 15 knots.

Q—Was there fog at any time? A—Yes, it shut in on us after we passed Boston lightship.

Q—When did you first sight the New York? A—To the port about 300 feet.

Q—What action was taken? A—Captain Wickens ordered full speed ahead and the wheel hard right.

Q—As a seaman do you consider that a proper manoeuver? A—Yes, sir.

"CRASH UNAVOIDABLE"

Q—Do you believe the collision could have been avoided by a different manoever? A—No.

Q—Do you feel that there was any loss of life? A—No, I don't see how there could be.

Q—Did you check the crew also? A—Yes, all heads were accounted for.

Q—Who counted the passengers on the New York? A—I told Capt. Wickens to check. He said everybody had been accounted for.

Q.—At the speed at which you were going, how long does it take to stop? A.—About 15 seconds.

Q.—How long did it take to stop on that day (referring to time of the collision)? A.—About one minute all told.

Q.—Was anybody injured? A.—The steward and the pilot.

Q.—Were any passengers injured? A.—No passengers to my knowledge.

He was immediately followed to the stand by Alton C. Brown, pilot of the Romance, and third man in the pilot house at the time of the crash.

His testimony follows:

Q—What was your position on the Romance? A—Pilot.

Q—How many passengers were aboard? A—214.

Q—How did you arrive at that number? A—It was in the log book.

Q—Who put it in? A—I do.

Q—Well, how did you get that figure? A—The watchman takes the count.

Q—How was the visibility? A—The fog was not thick.

Q—How soon did you hear the New York? A—We heard it when we were near Graves Light at 7:01 p. m .

Q—Did you talk over the report referring to the signal from the New York)? A—No, I was at the wheel.

RECALLS ALARM BELL

Q—Did you recall the alarm bell sounding throughout your vessel? A—Yes.

Q—How far off was the New York then? A—Right up against us.

—Did the passengers respond? A—Yes, they did.

Excursion Ship's Waitresses to Tell of Collision

Pictures from International News Photograph Service.

ATTY. TURNURE CAPT. WICKENS

These girls, waitresses on the ill-starred S. S. Romance, are shown entering Appraiser's Stores, Atlantic avenue, today, to hear testimony in the ship crash inquiry. They will soon be called to give their stories of the collision in which 265 lives were saved.

Captain Debert C. Wickens (hatless) of the ill-fated S. S. Romance is shown talking to J. Harvey Turnure, counsel for the S. S. Romance Company, at Appraiser's Stores, where inquiry into the ship crash last Tuesday is being held today.

Advertisement

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Billion Dollar Boys
OR
The Bosses of the New Deal

In 1929, James C. Peacock, director of the Shipping Board Bureau of the Department of Commerce and president of the Merchant Fleet Corporation, was practicing law.

Now he strives to carry out the President's instructions for a strong Merchant Marine under the American flag. He is 49 years old, a native Philadelphian and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania.

James C. Peacock

When Secretary Roper was Commissioner of Internal Revenue in 1917-18, he was an assistant under him. He returned to private practice in the latter year. When the organization over which he now presides were being discussed, he helped draft the laws creating them.

In 1932, the year of the last presidential election when men of importance throughout the country were giving their views on questions of paramount interest, his name does not appear in its news records, says the New York Evening Sun.

(Reprinted through the courtesy of the New York Evening Sun)

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Call Randy Moore In Oil Stock Quiz

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Ambrose V. McCall, head of the bureau of securities in the state attorney general's office, issued a subpoena today requiring Randy Moore, outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, to appear tomorrow and explain details of the sale of stock in an oil well which Moore's father-in-law is said to be drilling in Texas.

At the district attorney's office it was explained no irregularity is known to have existed in the sale of the stock which is understood to be distributed among members of the Dodgers and Boston Bees.

The subpoena was issued so McCall can ascertain if the stock was sold in New York state and if so whether the seller had filed the required certificate with the attorney general's office.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

N. U. S. J. LISTS CONTRIBUTIONS

Washington, Sept. 14 (INS)—The National Union for Social Justice, headed by Father Charles Coughlin, today reported it received contributions of $469,293 in the first eight months of 1936.

During this same period expenditures amounted to $473,280, including payment of $38,591 on a loan made by the Radio League of the Little Flower.

The National Union also reported contributions and expenditures for the quarterly period ending Sept. 1. Contributions amounted to $197,482 and expenditures $191,946 for the three-months period.

Largest contributions received in the past three months were reported from Congressional districts with the donors not named. They included: Massachusetts, Everett, $1248; New York, Buffalo, $3000.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

AUSTEN LAKE, the sports columnist who is on the inside of the real sports news and let you take a peek—read him every day in the Boston American.

"SALADA"

--The delicious TEA

SALADA TEA

306

Chesterfield wins

...for Standard Quality

Chesterfield has a standard for mild, ripe tobaccos ... a standard for pure cigarette paper ... a standard for blending and cross-blending that can't be copied ... and a standard for modern, up-to-date manufacturing methods.

Chesterfield wins because it has set a standard quality

© 1936, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Beginning Monday, September 14th, Store Closes at 5:30 P. M.

For the RETURN of the NATIVE

WHATEVER you buy at Paine's you can be sure is dependable. We have been in business in Boston one hundred and one years. We have a reputation for quality which we could not afford to jeopardize by handling unworthy merchandise. You share, too, the benefits of large-scale operating, values and variety possible only to leadership, a personnel specialized in every phase of furnishing.

BY every route the vacationist is returning home. Sun tanned, healthy and with a new viewpoint that bids for an improvement of the home that is to domicile him for the long Fall and Winter months.

PAINE is Ready

as never before to meet the needs of fine home furnishing in every department — furniture — rugs—curtains — draperies—lamps and decorations for the well appointed home. A visit to Paine's is the first step in the Autumn home re-newing and you are always welcome even if you only come to look.

Homecoming Needs for the Home Are Now At Their Best At Paine's!...

New Fall Models In UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

Two pieces pictured are typical of the season's smart innovations. The SOFA is covered in 100% Mohair Frieze (Mothproofed). ALL mahogany knuckle arms, soft, deep attached back pillows. The WING CHAIR is covered in a complementary color of damask and completes a group outstanding for comfort, good taste and value. The kind you'll enjoy for years because it is built to last.

2 Pieces (Club Chair in matching Frieze), $185

The SOFA $128
The CHAIR $63

ALL mahogany "open stock" COLONIAL DESIGN

BED $37.50---SALEM CHEST $42.50---MIRROR $12.75

(Full size bed delivery after Oct. 1)

The feature of a group like this is you can always add related pieces as your home and income grow. You get quality, yet cost is "within reach." Bed has beautifully carved pine apple tops, fluted rail and posts. Chest in an authentic reproduction. Seasoned mahogany, dauntless construction, craftsmanlike finish make a wonderful "buy."

September Value--Styled by Paine's

BOUDOIR CHAIRS

Irresistibly comfortable chair and chaise lounge any bedroom will be proud to own. Take your choice of chintz, homespun or rayon covers in every imaginable color and design, all tailored with contrast welts and pleated skirts. And priced so low the most modest income can enjoy them.

SPECIAL $13.50

The CHAIR

This medium size chair with tufted attached seat and back is covered in a new chrysanthemum pattern chintz in choice of black, green, rose, blue or eggplant. Hard wood frame, sturdily built.

The CHAISE LONGUE

Has tufted seat and back attached to frame. Covered in the new fabrics of part linen in colors of green, blue, brown, rust and plum.

SPECIAL $29.50

. . . and students' rooms

Here's a "layout" that will delight the heart of the young collegian. The comfort and dignity it provides will enhance enjoyment of his college days.

Leather covered arm-chair	$45.00	Twin studio couch	39.50
Foot rest to match	19.50	End Table, solid mahogany	7.50
Flat top mahogany & gumwood desk	29.50	Windsor armchair	15.75
Tole lamp, green, red or white, decorated in gold	11.50	Tartan Axminster rug 9x9 ft.	26.50
		Book case, 24 in. wide	11.00

PAINE Furniture Company

81 Arlington St.

Order by Mail with confidence

WORKERS MAY SEIZE FRENCH FACTORIES

By LINDESAY PARROTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

Paris, Sept. 14 (INS)—"Permanent occupation" of French factories as a means of forever preventing lockouts or undisputed possession of plants by their owners loomed today following Premier Leon Blum's failure to settle the strike of 25,000 textile workers at Lille.

Workers in Marseilles metal industries, it was learned, promised authorities they would evacuate the factories provided they were permitted permanently to maintain pickets inside the walls on nights and Sundays.

The offer was rejected, but while the strikes spreading, that form of employe control was seen the likely outcome of the government's taking sides of the workers.

Bringing the total of strikers in Marseilles to 23,000 in 83 factories, employes in eight additional plants there went on strike today.

Blum warned the employees they have 24 hours in which to accept arbitration, to accept a 15 per cent wage increase and recognize elections of workers' delegates.

French 'Regret' Attack On U. S. Ambassador

Paris, Sept. 14 (AP)—A fierce attack on William C. Bullitt, new United States ambassador to France, in the Royalist newspaper, Action Francaise, brought prompt "regrets" today from the foreign office.

The newspaper accused Bullitt of pro-Russian sympathies and charged he was acting as a "Soviet agent" to promote a Franco-German war which Dictator Joseph Stalin of Russia desires.

"It is a perfect shame and absolutely ridiculous when one knows the career of the new ambassador," a foreign office spokesman said.

The Action Francais recalled that Bullitt, who was transferred from Moscow to Paris to succeed Jesse Isidor Straus as ambassador, married the widow of John Reed, Harvard-educated Communist.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Teachers Missing, School Is Closed

New Shoreham, R. I., Sept. 14—This Block Island community's school did not open today because half of its six-member staff, including a superintendent, is lacking.

Last year's school head was not re-elected in June and two other instructors have gone on to other positions.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Dies From Oil Burns

Thompsonville, Ct., Sept. 14—Mrs. Andrew Muldoon, 55, of Thompsonville is dead today of burns she received from an oil burner in the cellar of her home.

Gibbons Saved Youth

48 Spanish Refugees Here Bare Horrors

Saw Reds Slain

MRS. AMELIA MONROIG JUANITA MONROIG

Philip Jordan, who found it necessary to hurry out of Barcelona, was aided by Floyd Gibbons, now in Spain covering the revolution for the Hearst papers.

Tales of horror, bombing and bloodshed in revolution-torn Spain came first-hand from the lips of a handful of refugees today as the American Export Liner Excalibur landed 48 of her 130 passengers at the Army Base.

One woman, who fled her native island of Palma, Majorca, with husband and two daughters and is now en route to Porto Rico, described the bombing of Palma and the ambushing of two truckloads of Red government soldiers.

An American youth, on his way to enroll at Madrid University, calmly told of being rescued by Floyd Gibbons, Hearst newspaper correspondent, from Barcelona, the autonomous Catalonian state, during the thick of the fighting there.

Another youth, a student at the University of Madrid, was one of the last to leave Spain's capital city as the Fascists' push towards it began.

Bushnells Home

There were other Spaniards on the Excalibur, but the majority of them continued to New York from there to travel to new homes with relatives or friends.

Among the American landing here were former District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell of Middlesex County, and his nine-year-old son, Frederick.

"We didn't see any of the fighting, but we heard a lot about it," Bushnell said. "As a matter of fact, we steered clear of spain.

"But there is intense interest, naturally, in Italy. We toured Naples, Venice and Rome and everyone was talking about the revolution. The same was true in France, where we visited several cities."

Saw Reds Slain

The bombing of Palma was described by Mrs. Amalia Monroig. Her husband, Valentin, and their young daughters, Consuela and Juanita, were all in the capital of the island at the time.

"The government landed two trainloads of Red soldiers in the city," she said, "and it wasn't very long before airplanes started flying overhead.

"The bombs fell like rain. I don't know how many were killed, but I was told that the greater losses were among the government soldiers.

"I know that almost all of the two trainloads we saw unloaded in the railroad station were dead soon afterwards."

Aided by Gibbons

The youth rescued by Floyd Gibbons was Philip Jordan, son of a wealthy family, who had been spending the summer in Barcelona.

"I had to take refuge with the American consul there," he said. "I was two days in the consulate while the war raged through the streets.

"It was only through the agency of Floyd Gibbons that I was able to get away. He got safe-conduct for an automobile for himself. Then he invited me to go along with him.

"We were able to get through to Gibraltar finally, and it was from there that I was able to get passage on the Excalibur.

Jordan said that while the auto trip avoided the battle area, he saw all sorts of devastation through lower Spain at points the Reds had to abandon in their retreat.

"I imagine Belgium might have looked like that in 1914," he remarked.

The University of Madrid student was Juan Homs, who has come to America to join his family.

He said Madrid was in terror when he left—as much from the fear of what the Reds would do if compelled to abdicate as from fear of the bombing and shelling by the Fascists.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

WEEK'S DEATHS BY AUTOS 29

Swelled by a record-breaking total of 29 deaths in the past week, the number of auto fatalities for 1936 in Massachusetts reached 586 today, only five less than the figure for the same period in 1935.

Registrar Frank A. Goodwin charged that practically every death last week was due to careless driving and predicted the slaughter would continue unless police in each city and town co-operated to halt the reckless driver.

PAID TO SHOOT KING, M'MAHON SAYS; JAILED

Continued from First Page

to send him to prison to protect him from those whom, he said, he had betrayed by failing to carry out the deed.

ASKS PRISON FOR SAFETY

"I want to go to prison," he cried, nervously fingering the rail of the dock. "I want you to give me the heaviest sentence you possibly can.

"It is only by remaining in prison that I can save my life from the people whom I have given away."

The prisoner said he had told the British War Office of the purported "Foreign Power" plot.

Sitting in the witness box, he wrote on a piece of paper, which was handed to the judge, jury and attorney-general, the name of the person "in the embassy of the foreign power" who, he said, approached him.

DROPS TWO CHARGES

After a dozen witnesses had taken the stand, most of them agreeing McMahon would have had time, had he so wanted, to fire his revolver at the King from the Constitution Hill sidelines, the trial judge instructed a verdict of acquittal on the two most grave charges against the defendant.

None of the witnesses said McMahon tried to aim the pistol.

McMahon, taking the witness stand after the noon recess, asserted he had kept in touch with the War Office, reported negotiations connected with the "plot," and accepted money from the "foreign power," giving the numbers of the notes to authorities.

The conspiracy, he related, called for nine persons to accompany him to the trooping of the colors, so he could escape.

With the failure of his attempt, King Edward was to have been shot down on his recent visit to France—a time during which McMahon was being held for the July pistol incident, he declared.

QUIZZED ABOUT "BARON"

The prisoner was asked if he was ever introduced to a "certain baron," evidently in the diplomatic service, whom he allegedly visited both at an embassy and in a private home.

Ask by his counsel if the "foreigners" gave him any reason why the king should be attacked, Mc-Mahon said:

"One of the reasons was that certain parts of the empire would be handed over to other countries."

Q—"And some colonies?" A—"Yes."

ONLY TO SAVE KING

Q—"Had you ever any intention at all to alarm his Majesty?" A—"No, sir, rather to save him."

Q—Was that the only way you could see whereby you could protect him? A—Yes, they might have carried out the act themselves.

Cross-examined by Attorney-General Sir Donald Somervell, Mc-Mahon explained:

"I am not here to crave for mercy. I don't care what you do with me. I am here merely to tell the truth."

Knickerbocker War Log:

French Planes Aid Spanish Reds

Following is the first of the war logs sent from the Spanish battlefront by H. R. Knickerbocker, famous racing correspondent of International News Service.

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1936, by International News Service.)

Lisbon, Sept. 14 (INS)—They shoot down airplanes every day in this Spanish civil war, but flying is safer than traveling by automobile. By now they have crashed about 50 airplanes, but there are certainly no fewer than 500 passenger cars and trucks careened on the roadsides of Spain with from one to 150 bullet holes in each.

Sometimes you see a car with one bullet hole through the wind shield smack over the driver's seat. That's all it took. On the other hand I saw one car still in use with one hundred and three machine gun bullets through its back and nobody hurt.

The Red machine-gunners were lying in the road, and their bullets caught the car on an upward slant so that they practically cut the roof off but missed the occupants.

This happens oftener than you would think, and there are scores of cars that got away, still running strong and the owners are proud of the scars. But mostly they don't get away.

This happens because there is no real front in the war. Only at places like the passes to the mountains at the Col De Leon on the Guadarrama or the Somosierra are there fixed positions.

SAFER BY AIR

Elsewhere the front is all mixed up with columns of whites penetrating far into Red territory while just a few hundred yards from the white column the land is no man's.

After the white column passes, little bands of Reds creep down near the road and especially at dusk take pot shots at passing cars.

Then too all day long on all the main roads leading to the front Madrid's airplanes patrol up and down looking for a chance to bomb or machinegun troop transports or passenger cars carrying officers.

So when we took off from the Burgos Airdrome to fly to Seville by way of Lisbon I felt actually safer than had we gone by road.

Any airplane flying over Spain today is liable to be shot at by both sides because both Reds and Whites are using every variety of commercial plane, and there has not been time to paint them with the all red insignia of Madrid or the orange and gold of the nationalists, their newly adopted black cross on a white background.

Our little plane, though, was a tiny Dutch civilian Leopard Moth, and it looked too innocent for anybody to shoot it. But it only cruises at 110 miles per hour and has a top speed of 127 so it would not stand much chance if one of Madrid's new pursuit planes wanted to chase us.

TAKING SIDES

The boys at the Burgos Airdrome told us by day clear of Valladolid, the new military headquarters of the white army in the north, and of Salamanca because in these places had new batteries of anti-aircraft guns and were anxious to try them out.

On the Burgos field they were drilling with just such a battery of 10 guns. On another corner of the field they were installing bomb racks in a brand new tri-motor Fokker, one of the four sent over from England.

It seems silly for the nations of Europe to go on pretending that they are not intervening in this war.

Every day you can see new French machines coming over from Madrid, of a type the reds did not have in the first weeks of the war, while the sight of German and Italian machines on this side has long since ceased to attract attention.

We took off into a strong north wind that promised to blow us down to Lisbon in fast time. For 10 minutes we climbed, spiralling up to 6000 feet, out of ordinary rifle fire. Then we levelled out for Lisbon.

Below us the fields were dotted every three or four miles with groups of peasants threshing and winnowing their grain. They do it exactly as they did 1000 years ago.

They lay the shocks of wheat on the ground and drive horses for miles around and around over them until the grains of wheat are loosened and the straw ground to chaff.

Then they toss the mixture in the air and let the wind blow themf chaff away while the wheat remains.

REDS SHOOT PRISONERS

The piles of pale yellow chaff and the mounds of golden red wheat and the black oxen and the harsh yellow ground looked peacefully beautiful.

Then we passed over a huge complex of buildings covering more than a city block. High walls surrounded the buildings, with turrets at the corners.

Flying directly overhead we could see two large courtyards filled with a throng of several thousand persons. It was a jail, one of many. In the Burgos jail are said to be 2700 civilian political prisoners.

There must be a minimum of ten times that number in the territory controlled by the whites and probably a considerably large number in that controlled by the Reds, although it is the firm conviction on this side that the Reds are holding very few prisoners but shooting them off hand.

Nevertheless, an estimate of 70,000 to 100,000 civilian political prisoners on both sides in this war would probably not be far wrong. This is a grown-up civil war.

(The second installment of H. R. Knickerbocker's war log will appear in these pages tomorrow.)

SINO-JAPANESE WAR LOOMS

Tokyo, Sept. 14 (INS)—A second Sino-Japanese "war" involving the famous Chinese Nineteenth Route Army, defenders of Shanghai in 1932, threatened today as Navy Minister Osami Nagai and other high officials of the admiralty debated sending more marines to Pakhoi, scene last week of a Japanese druggist's murder by a Chinese mob.

Angered by the refusal of the commanders of the Nineteenth Route Army to permit a Japanese force to land there, the Japanese government has sent a practical ultimatum to Marshal Chiang Kai-Shek to force the Nineteenth Army to leave Kwangsiang, according to Japanese news agencies.

If the order is not complied with immediately, more ships with a large force of marines will be dispatched to South China.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

"Thrill Arrest" Costs Woman $5

Worcester, Sept. 14—Mrs. Celia Wilder Greene, 30, Webster club waitress, who "tried" to get arrested for the thrill of it, today received a one-month suspended sentence in the House of Correction, and was placed on probation following arraignment on three automobile law charges.

On a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, Mrs. Greene was given the suspended jail sentence. She paid a $5 fine for driving without a license. The driving without registration charge was filed.

Mrs. Greene was arrester Tuesday night after she told police she had been driving around for two hours violating traffic regulations in an effort to "get myself arrested for the fun of it."

REBELS LAUNCH DRIVE ON PORTS, WARN SHIPS

Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press

San Sebastian, Spain, Sept. 14—Fascist warriors completed their occupation of San Sebastian today by setting up a civil administration headed by the governor of Pamplona, provincial capital of Navarre.

Strong lines of Fascist troops held the city from possible counter-attack by the defeated Socialists who fled before the insurgent advance yesterday with arms, ammunition and other war equipment.

Military and civil authorities began speedy rehabilitation of public services which had been paralyzed for days during the Fascist siege.

Water and electric service were re-established shortly after the invaders, accompanied by Moorish legionnaires, marched into the coastal city early yesterday. Supplies of food were rushed to the city from which officials estimated approximately 10,000 civilians and foreigners have fled.

KING'S FLAGS FLYING

Col. Jose Beorlegui, commander of the Fascist forces, claimed possession of the city formally at 6 p. m. yesterday as he rode into the community at the head of a procession of soldiers. Later he reviewed the insurgent troops and officials at ceremonies in which the red and gold monarchist banner was hoisted over the city.

The government defenders, meanwhile, retired to westward positions along the coast. Municipal Governor Antonio Ortega established new headquarters at Zumaya, 15 miles west, and the popular front war committee moved its headquarters to Motrico, a fishing village near Deva.

HALT REDS' TORCH

Basque nationalists, whose efforts to prevent destruction of the city halted an anarchist move to burn the provincial capital, gathered their forces together in Azpeitia, 15 miles away.

An insurgent broadcast from Corunna indicated future military moves by the Fascists in a warning to ships against approaching the ports of Bilbao and Santander after midnight. The Fascist radio announcement declared the insurrectionists had decided to lay mines in the harbor.

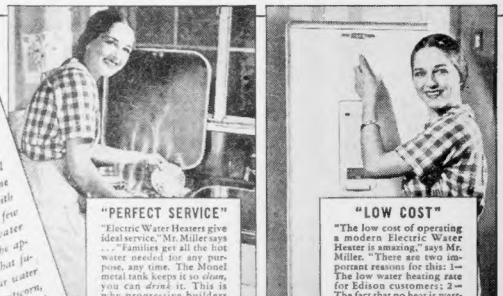
Political Advertisement

REPUBLICANS ! !
NOMINATE AND ELECT
Hon. JAMES G.
HARRIS
OF MEDFORD
TO THE
GOVERNOR'S COUNCIL
SIXTH DISTRICT
George Smith, 2 Cherry Ct., Malden

"Today WISE HOMEOWNERS ARE INSTALLING Electric Water Heaters"

says CLIFFORD V. MILLER
Home Building Expert
and Real Estate Operator

"WISE home owners, landlords, and builders today are installing Electric Water Heaters," says Mr. Miller, sole agent in charge of "College Heights, beautiful Newton development, every home of which will be equipped with Electric Water Heating. "A few years ago, the electric water heater was regarded as the appliance of the future. That future is now here! If your water heating equipment is outworn, my advice is buy nothing until you have seen the Electric Water Heater. For low cost of operation, constant dependability and long life, it can't be beaten."



"PERFECT SERVICE"
"Electric Water Heaters give ideal service," Mr. Miller says ... "Families get all the hot water needed for any purpose, any time. The Monel metal tank keeps it so clean, you can drink it. This is why progressive builders are choosing Electric Water Heaters for all new homes."

"LOW COST"
"The low cost of operating a modern Electric Water Heater is amazing," says Mr. Miller. "There are two important reasons for this: 1— The low water heating rate for Edison customers; 2— The fact that no heat is wasted, because the heating unit is immersed in the water."

"LONG LIFE"
"Electric Water Heaters have no moving parts. There is nothing to wear out, burn, or corrode. Once installed, there are no repairs to make. Unlike other heaters, the tank does not need replacement every few years. It is built to give lifetime service. This fact, naturally, makes Electric Water Heating equipment much cheaper in the long run."

NO DOWN PAYMENT
Liberal allowance on your old heater—3 years to pay and free installation to Edison Service Customers, except in a few cases due to location.
IF YOU ACT QUICKLY — Edison Shops, plumbers, and all electrical contractors and dealers will make good on this offer.

MODERNIZE ELECTRIFY YOUR KITCHEN

THE EDISON COMPANY OF BOSTON

Why Gulf is the gas for September

BACK TO SCHOOL they go. Summer is officially over in September. And that's why you need a gasoline made with an eye on September weather—or pars of your fuel goes out the exhaust unburned, wasted. Get That Good Gulf—its formula suits the season—it's "Kept in Step with the Calendar"—so that all of it goes to work, none of it goes to waste. Stop at the Sign of the Orange Disc, fill up—and save money in September!

"Kept in Step with the Calendar" THAT GOOD GULF GASOLINE
GULF

Pontiff on Radio

Pope Warns Reds Menace World

Continued from First Page

you have suffered in the name of Jesus. You have been unjustly covered with reproaches because you were Christians.

"What we can say to comfort you is to extol your long splendor of Christian and priestly virtue, of heroism, of sacrifice, of the unflagging faith of those innocent, those venerable with age, those in the youth of first flower.

Their Arch Sins

"All that is most humanly human and most divinely divine, consecrated persons, sacred things in holy institutions, inestimable and irreplaceable treasures of faith and culture and art, the most precious of antiquities and the holiest relics—

"The highest members of the hierarchy, bishops and priests, consecrated virgins—

"Every class and condition of venerable age and inviolable youth, the very silence of the tomb—

"All of these have been assaulted, violated and destroyed in the most ruthless and barbarous manner in an unbridled and unparalleled confusion of thoughts so savage and cruel as to have been brought utterly impossible for human dignity let alone for human nature, even the most miserable and debased.

"Loathsome all this confusion of unrestrained violence, burnings and massacres, is a voice heard proclaiming the truly horrifying story.

"Brothers have murdered brothers, renewing the maledictions of the first fratricide. God knows war is always inhuman, but what is to be said when war is fratricidal? What is to be said when we are face to face with the killing of brother by brother?

Satanic Fury

"All this can only be said to result from a Satanic preparation which has relighted the flame of hatred and savage persecution preserved for the Catholic church and religion, which has been the only real obstacle in the war of those forces which hate already given sample and measure of themselves in attacks upon every kind of order in Russia, China, Mexico and South America.

"Such trials and persecutions have been preceded and unfailingly accompanied by persistent and universally active propaganda, intent upon subjecting the whole world to these absurd and disastrous ideologies which, having once seduced the masses, have aimed and armed them to throw themselves madly against every form of institution, both human and divine.

"How can an awful consummation fail to be inevitable if out of false calculation, self-interest and the animosities arising from pursuit of self-supremacy, those responsible do not hasten to repair the breach, if indeed it is not already too late?

"This we must give expression once more to the anguish the spread of such doctrines has brought to the Father's heart. We must bewail, particularly in such fratricidal carnage, so many offenses to Christian life and dignity, to a people so singularly dear to us.

Threat to World

"But these disasters are a school in which most serious lessons are being taught to Europe and a whole world steeped in, snared by and threatened with subversive propaganda.

"These tragic happenings in Spain bespeak to the world once more the extent to which the foundations of culture and civilization are menaced.

"The menace is all the more serious because of the profound ignorance existing of the truly Satanic hatred being brought to bear against God and humanity, against all religion as well as the Catholic church.

"It is our duty to warn all against the insidious manner with which the forces of subversion are seeking to find a common ground for possible collaboration with Catholics.

"This insidiousness, dangerous in its purpose, is purely and simply to deceive and disarm Europe and the world in favor of an unchanging program of hate, subversion and destruction.

"This point has been so often admitted and openly confessed it is superfluous to discuss the matter further, but it is not superfluous, rather it is opportune and for us a duty, to voice our warning.

Church Only Hope

"It has become certain and manifestly obvious that the one real obstacle in the way of these forces of subversion is Christian teaching and the consistent practise of Christian living as taught and enjoined by the Catholic religion and the Catholic Church.

"It is certain and evident also that wherever war is made on religion and the Catholic Church, the war is in alliance with the forces of subversion for the same disastrous purpose.

"This is not the first time we have set forth these very grave considerations and recommended them to all, particularly to those in positions of responsibility. We wish to renew these recommendations in a moment so critical in the history of Europe and the world, a moment so near to the day of reckoning.

Extols Priests

"In this matter there is no testimony so eloquent as ours, for in your persons and what you hold most dear you have experienced the evils and disasters threatening us all.

"It has been asserted the Catholic church has shown itself unprepared and ineffective in the face of such evils and the example of Spain has been cited as proof.

"There is no need to have recourse to example to justify the church. It is enough to look at her teachings. . . . Give us a society in which there is a genuinely free and untrammeled opportunity for teachings of the church . . . As a guide to individual conduct and dignity, teachings on the obligations of mutual charity . . . and we ask how and by what means the church and the Catholic religion can make a greater or better contribution to the awakening . . . of individual family and society?

"The Catholic press is persistently suspected and increasingly hampered, while complete toleration, if not freedom and favor, is granted to that press whose mission and purpose would seem to be to spread confusion and . . . dissolution, to bring the church into suspicion. . . .

Misery of Sin

"The dizzying swell of contemporary life has carried away into the turmoil of exterior and material things the youth of today. . . . A general wave of immorality is more and more breaking down every restraint of law and quenched in so many souls every sense of modesty and dignity, of conscience and responsibility. . . .

"But sin maketh nations miserable, and a heavy and formidable responsibility lies upon all those who by reason or neglect in public office fail to oppose these evils by every remedy and barrier that is possible."

The Pontiff concluded with a fatherly and apostolic benediction to the martyrs of Spain, and assured he would devote himself daily to prayer until "fair peace wholly and finally returns."

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Tropical Storm Warning Issued

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 14 (INS)—Caution was advised all vessels in the path of the tropical disturbance, reported to be the most severe of the year, announced by the weather bureau to be about 200 miles southeast of San Juan and moving westward about ten miles per hour.

Skin Troubles
Come from Constipation

Constipation is the cause of most complexion troubles. Poisons from the waste matter are picked up by the blood and carried to all parts of the body, especially the skin.

No one needs to have a sallow, muddy complexion. Proper diet, exercise, surface cleanliness and above all—internal cleanliness. Nujol prevents intestinal poisons that ruin your health and complexion.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

Nujol
FOR CONSTIPATION

When Children get Out-of-Sorts

Frothy, "peevish" young-ones who at too much sweets or rich food often develop round worms and constipation.

Dr. True's Elixir
Laxative Round Worm Expeller

Mrs. Connelley's Daughter

"My neighborhood druggist recommended Dr. True's Elixir to me. . . . I purchased a bottle and gave some to my little girl. . . .

I consider it unequaled as a children's laxative, regulator and worm expeller, and recommend it to all mothers."—Mrs. R. W. Connelley, 18 Prentiss St., Malden

Signs of Round Worms . . . Constipation, deranged stomach, swollen upper lip, offensive breath, hard and full stomach.

Successfully used for 84 years

ESCORT SOUGHT IN DROWNING

Continued from First Page

one even recalled the auto registration.

Yesterday the coupe arrived at the beach at 3 p. m. with the same man at the wheel, police were told. The girl got out, raced into the water and swam towards the opposite bank of the river.

At 4:30 p. m. the car was seen to return. The girl apparently was not on the beach. The car drove away. The girl's body was found floating just off the Cambridge bank at 5:20 p. m.

Two things puzzled authorities. One was the cause of death. They believe the girl might have suffered a heart attack while swimming. Of these was a bruise under both her eyes.

It was this bruise that caused Medical Examiner David C. Dow to decline making any tentative ruling as to the cause of death prior to the autopsy.

The second was the fact that witnesses related the man in the brown coupe had driven the girl to the beach nearly every night during the summer, appearing about 6 p. m., always driving away by 9 o'clock.

Police cannot understand why he did not wait yesterday when the girl was not on the beach and why he has not given an alarm or come forward with information as to her identity.

Much of the delay in the investigation, however, has been attributed to Cambridge police, who used to broadcast the finding of a body or to enlist help of other police departments in seeking identification.

Discovery of the young woman's body was made by George Smith, motorist. His home is in Brookline. Brighton. He towed the car to shore and notified police. The girl is described as about 18 years old, of light complexion, 5 feet four inches tall and weighing 129 pounds. She was unclothed.

The girl's bathing suit was of white crepe make, according to police. It is a one-piece affair, with tie trunks and white top.

Police Seek Jail-Breaker In Boston "Crime Wave"

THOMAS A. CALLAHAN

A $3000 safe robbery, another of $6000, the kidnaping of a watchman, the $1450 holdup of a theater and a stolen car crash that ended with two youths in a dying condition from police bullets and injuries combined to make this "crime day" in Greater Boston.

Police intensified the search for Thomas A. Callahan, East Cambridge jail breaker and raided an apartment house in Ivy street, Back Bay. There was a suspicion that he participated in one or more of the crimes.

Investigators endeavored to connect Callahan with the holdup of the Rivoli Theater in Dudley street, Roxbury, and with the kidnaping of the night watchman at Johnson's ice cream stand on the Providence highway in Dedham, from which a 200-pound safe containing $3000 week-end receipts was taken.

Three known "pals" of the fugitive Callahan were also under suspicion and being sought by the special service squad. One resides in South Boston, one in South End and one in Dorchester, and none has been seen since Callahan's break from jail September 6. Two of these men are believed to have aided in the escape.

Chester Smith, 21, of Cambridge, watchman at the Johnson stand in Dedham, was picked up by a cruising car patrol today at St. Mary's street and Commonwealth avenue, after being kidnaped by the trio of yeggs who stole the safe.

He told police he was making his usual rounds when the three confronted him with guns and forced him into the rear of a sedan, driving him to Boston, where they pushed him into Commonwealth avenue at St. Mary's street.

The second safe robbery was from the office of a shoe company plant in Washington street, Roxbury. Police discovered the break and the yeggs were not seen. A 150-pound safe containing $600 was taken.

The Roxbury theater holdup, staged by two masked bandits, was followed a short time later by pursuit of an allegedly stolen car which crashed against a safety island in Edward Everett square, Dorchester, after police had fired nine shots at its youthful occupants.

James Spaulding, 17, of Buttonwood street, Dorchester, was shot in the head and suffered a fractured neck in the crack-up. John Gorham, 26, of Carson street, Dorchester, was shot in the right ear and suffered fractures of hip, pelvis and left leg in the crash. Both are dying at City Hospital.

John Fozzi, 19, of Albion street, and Joseph di Gennaro, 21, of Marshfield street, both Roxbury, arrested later, were arraigned in Roxbury court on charges of possession of a pistol, using an auto without authority and larceny of an auto.

They waived examination and were held for the grand jury. Fozzi in $10,000 bail and di Gennaro in $7500. Police said similar charges were lodge dagainst the boys in the hospital. The auto involved was that of Ethel Smith.

BISHOP FROWNS ON COUGHLIN

Detroit, Sept. 14 (INS)—For the second time within a month, some phases of Reverend Charles E. Coughlin's political activities today have the publicly expressed disapproval of the radio priest's ecclesiastical superior — Bishop Michael J. Gallagher of the Detroit diocese.

Branding the Lemke Union party's monetary platform as "dangerous," Bishop Gallagher unexpectedly attacked Father Coughlin's support of the party, during a banquet here Sunday night.

"Father Coughlin probably thinks that if Lemke got in as President, he could control him," said the Bishop. "Well, he couldn't control Roosevelt.

"President Roosevelt to my mind has a much better background for working out these monetary problems than this man from the Dakotas."

He explained that this last remark was not to be interpreted as an endorsement of the President.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Magnolia Engineer Races With Death

Called to the bedside of a dying relative in Pelham, N. Y., Alfred D. Turner, of Magnolia, chief engineer and vice-president of the Hammond Research Corporation, drove his car over Massachusetts roads at racing speed today, escorted by two state police motorcycle officers.

The start was made from Gloucester, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York state police were to provide additional escort along the route.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

R. I. Man Dies

North Scituate, R. I., Sept. 14—Israel H. Smith Steere, 60, 40 years an ammonia manufacturer here, is dead today.

Constitution Day

Boston to Observe Historic Date

The Constitution of the United States, recognized today more than ever before as the bulwark against infringement of American liberty, will be 149 years old Thursday.

Observance of Constitution Day here in Boston will be celebrated in historic Faneuil Hall Thursday afternoon.

Edward J. Walsh

Speakers of national recognition, including Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., of New York, and former Governor Joseph B. Ely, will address the meeting.

Archibald R. Giroux, chairman of National Constitution Day Committee in charge of the Faneuil Hall exercises, announced that the observance would start promptly at 1:15 p. m., thus allowing downtown business men to attend.

The entire program will be broadcast over a nation-wide hookup of the National Broadcasting Company.

William Cardinal O'Connell has accepted an invitation to deliver the invocation.

Among the many patriotic, civil and veteran organizations that will attend, there will be a delegation of members from the Disabled American Veterans of the World War.

State Commander Edward J. Walsh of the Disabled American Veterans, in a statement issued at the State House today, praised the Constitution Day exercises.

He said:

"One hundred and forty-nine years ago a group of valiant souls, the stalwarts of Colonial America, met in Philadelphia and formally formulated and adopted the Constitution of the United States.

"Since that day this instrument has stood as probably the most noble work of civilization, for upon it has been erected a nation which has provided more of life's benefits to more people than has any other government.

"Take away the guarantee and protection that the Constitution gives to American citizens and thus subject the business and industry of this country to the whims of the mob led by the demagogue, then you destroy the essential condition of social progress.

"And let us remember, as one of our great statesman has said, that 'The Constitution is the final refuge for every right enjoyed by any American citizen.'

"Therefore, every loyal and patriotic citizen should join in on Constitution Day and pay his respects not only to the Constitution but to those great men who penned the wonderful document."

Political Advertisement

The Record Counts

The political needs of Eugene A. F. Burnham of Somerville, candidate for the nomination for Governor's Council from the Sixth District, contain these words: "His Experience and Record is your background."

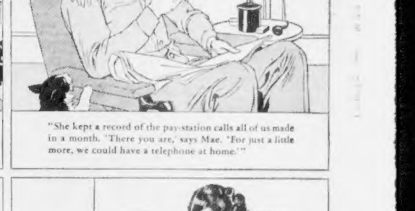
A part of Mr. Burnham's record may be found at the State House in the office of Administration and Finance. The record shows that Eugene A. Burnham received $20 per day and $10 per diem and mileage for his services at the Suffolk Downs Race Track.

Does not an opposition under these conditions make the choice of the man from whom the appointment was received?

George Smith,
7 Cherry St., Melrose

Simple Arithmetic convinced me!

"The family kept telling me—'we ought to have a telephone . . . we ought to have a telephone'—but I was lukewarm until my daughter Mae had a bright idea."



"She kept a record of the pay-station calls all of us made in a month. 'There you are, says Mae. "For just a little more, we could have a telephone at home.'"

"'You lost overtime work twice because we had no telephone—remember? And it's no fun to tell friends . . . 'call me at our next door neighbor's.'"

"Well, Mae was right. Nowadays you need a telephone. It keeps a family together and it's a blessing when there's sickness. I'm losing no overtime now."

How much are You missing for want of a Telephone?

Put a telephone in your house now! Let it run your errands, make appointments, connect you with friends and relatives, provide protection in case of emergencies, save money on bargains at stores you haven't time to visit, help to get work for members of your family.

A telephone is the quickest, least expensive servant any family can have. Decide today to put back your telephone. Application may be made at any Telephone Business Office.

IT PAYS TO HAVE A TELEPHONE IN THE HOUSE

$1000 PRIZE FOR LANDON LYRICS

With the initial announcement made yesterday, the competition of the Hearst newspapers for lyrics for a Landon campaign song got off to a flying start today.

A First National prize of $1000, a second of $500, and 25 additional prizes of $20 each are being offered for the best words to be set to the music of "Oh! Susanna," one of Stephen Collins Foster's most debonair songs.

A daily prize of $10 will be paid by the Boston Evening American for every set of verses it publishes during the duration of the competition.

The rules of the competition and the original words of "Oh! Susanna" are being republished today for the guidance of persons taking part in this national song journal.

TEST OPEN TO ALL

With the all-inclusive knowledge of music per necessary to compete for the prizes.

Winners of any of the daily prizes are eligible to compete for all the national prizes. These national prizes will be determined by a jury of awards to be announced later. The judges will include some of the December song and verse writers in the country.

You don't have to be a practiced writer of lyrics to compete. It you have a catchy, melodic quality that permits you to paraphrase the printed phrases and refrain of "Oh! Susanna" you may win the $1000 or one of the other prizes.

EQUAL FOOTING

Everyone is placed on an equal footing in this competition, understanding of the rules. None can be misled. They form a complete outline of the scope of the competition and should be read carefully.

Once the rules are understood you are ready to write. Everything else is not necessary. Simple style is urged on you. Your verses must be original and not infringe upon any copyrighted material. Judges will be urged not to consider any lyrics that are not in keeping with the spirit of the contest.

Address Campaign Song, Boston American, Winthrop Square, Boston, Mass.

The mailmen should be starting with their sacks of entries tomorrow.

"There's Music in the Air!"

Mabel Ellis, at New York headquarters of Republican national committee, gets ready to swing into buoyant rhythm of the Landon campaign song, "Oh, Susanna," which is sweeping the nation.

OH! SUSANNA

By STEPHEN COLLINS FOSTER

These are the original words of "Oh! Susanna," which started Stephen Collins Foster on his career as a troubadour and gave the world "My Old Kentucky Home," "Suwanee River," "Old Black Joe" and a long line of imperishable American folk songs.

1

I came from Alabama, wid my banjo on my knee.
I'm gwine to Louisiana, my true love for to see.
It rain'd all night de day I left, de weather it was dry.
De sun so hot I froze to death, Susanna don't you cry.

Refrain

Oh! Susanna, Oh, don't you cry for me,
I've come from Alabama wid my banjo on my knee.

2

I jumped aboard de telegraph, and trabbled down de ribber,
De lectric fluid magnified, and killed five hundred nigger.
De bullgine bust, de hoss run off, I really thought I'd die;
I shut my eyes to hold my breath, Susanna, don't you cry.

3

I had a dream de other night, when ebry ting was still;
I thought I saw Susanna a-coming down de hill;
De buckwheat cake was in her mouth, de tear was in her eye,
Says I, "I'm coming from de South, Susanna, don't you cry."

4

I soon will be in New Orleans, and den I'll look all round,
And when I find Susanna I will lall upon de ground.
And if I do not find her, dis darkey'll surely die;
And when I'm dead and buried, Susanna, don't you cry.

Rules of the Contest

The Hearst Newspapers are inviting the best entry received daily during the duration of the competition. The publication of this entry in the Boston Evening American, together with the name of the person submitting it, shall serve as notification of each daily award.

Number of syllables in each line of the song should be the same as in the original "Oh! Susanna," secrets of the syllabication should likewise conform to the original so as to fit the air of the song. This detail being taken into account by the jury of awards in making entries for prizes.

All songs submitted as entries should be addressed as follows:

Landon Campaign Song,
Boston Evening American or Boston Sunday Advertiser,
3 Winthrop Square,
Boston, Mass.

THE HOUSE of LIEDERMAN INC.
The Sign of Value

NEW GARMENTS for OLD by Our Expert Dyeing
If your new garment does not please after you have worn it, bring it to either one of our stores and have it dyed to another color by us.
DRESSES COATS Plain Tailored 99c
Dyed Navy, Blue or Black Coat Colors Guaranteed
BLANKETS Single and double—just like new... 35c
CURTAINS Cleaned and Hand Finished 45c
RUGS 9x12 Domestic cleaned and shampooed $2.98
WEEKLY MONEY-SAVING CASH-AND-CARRY SPECIALS
LIEDERMAN'S
8 WINTER ST. Cor. 11th
151 SUMMER STREET
EQUITABLE BUILDING
NORTH STATION TERMINAL
101 STUART STREET
FOR QUICK AUTO SERVICE CALL HIGHLANDS 4000

TRUE BRED—TRUE BLOOD
A REAL CHAMPION

"I have always taken great care in breeding my dogs, and I assure the same care in choosing the medium through which to advertise them for sale. The Sunday Advertiser has always brought me customers of the finest type."

Choose your pet through the Sunday Advertiser Want Ads for an excellent selection of pedigreed values. If you don't see what you want, phone Miss Lee at LIBerty 4000.

PLEDGE AMERICANISM

Catholics Warned of Red Threat

Sharply condemning Communism and all subversive elements, 2000 Catholics had today rededicated themselves to American principles and ideals as they commemorated the founding of the Holy Name Society and the 350th anniversary of the San Gabriel Mission.

In the hushed atmosphere, Thomas Hearn, of Beverly Hills, newly elected president of the Western Notre Dame University alumni, declared:

"The best description of Communism has been written by itself on the bloody pages of history in Russia, Spain and Mexico.

"The churches and civilization in those countries are now only smouldering ruins.

"Communism would take from you the things for which Christianity has struggled for 1900 years. I plead of you, do not be deceived into a policy of inaction.

"What has happened in Russia, Spain and Mexico can happen here unless we are vigilant and militant.

"Let us seize this auspicious moment to dedicate ourselves to a relentless fight against this force of hell which would destroy our God, our church and our country."

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Symphony Player Weds at Newport

Newport, R. I., Sept. 14—F. Hazen Carr, Newport violinist and member of the People's Symphony of Boston, and Miss Frances Graham of Woodmere, L. I., were married Friday at Woodmere, it was learned here today.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

$5 Stolen at Home of John W. Davis

Locust Valley, N. Y., Sept. 14 (INS)—Police today launched a hunt for burglars who broke into the home of John W. Davis, former Democratic presidential nominee, and stole $5 in cash.

Labor Split

HAS JOHN LEWIS GONE LEFT?

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has placed himself at the head of wo significant—or ominous—movements.

As the head of the Committee for Industrial Organization—supporting the "industrial union" idea as opposed "craft unions"—he has defied the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor.

As leader of the Labor-Non-Partisan Legue, he is supporting President Roosevelt and the New Deal in the national election campaign.

In a series of illuminating articles, of which this is the fifth, an outstanding authority on radical movements discusses Mr. Lewis and tells who some of his followers are in both of his new ventures.

By HAROLD LORD VARNEY

THE most significant fact about the Labor Non-Partisan League is its complete independence from both the Democratic Party and the American Federation of Labor.

It is a Lewis political machine, purund simple.

For the purposes of this campaign it is hysterically and belligerently pitching its tent with Fraklin D. Roosevelt.

But it will not dissolve with Roosvelt's re-election, as previous Democratic labor committees he always done.

It will remain intact as an autonomous labor political party.

It will thus hold Mr. Roosevelt as its political prisoner, if he is re-elected, for any deviationy the next administration from the program of the League w punished by speedy political reprisals.

Even more precarious will be the position of Congressmen who must run the gauntlet of the League's blacklist at the end of two years.

By 1940, if we may take seriously the talk which is heard in all League circles, Mr. Lewis will be prepared to turn the organization into a Farmer-Labor Third Party unless, in the meantime, he will have succeeded in taking over the Democratic Party from Mr. Roosevelt.

Such a Farmer-Labor Party will undoubtedly be an organization frankly Socialist in its program, and patterning itself generally on the model of the British Labor Party or of Monsieur Blum's United Front in France.

* * *

MR. LEWIS presents sound trade union reasons to justify his foray in politics.

There is talk of the old Gompers fear of Government gifthorses in his labor philosophy.

His experience under Mr. Roosevelt has confirmed him in the belief that, in a pressure government like our own, a politically organized trade union movement can coerce the government into taking sides against the employers and assisting the unions to establish the closed shop.

Not only Mr. Roosevelt, but state authorities such as Governor Earle and Governor Davey have demonstrated to Mr. Lewis that they can be propositioned by a politically potent labor group.

Accordingly, he sees the Labor Non-Partisan League as a natural political complement to the Labor Committee for Industrial Organization.

While outwardly the two organizations are kept scrupulously separate, the same trade union officials double in brass in the work of both organizations.

In Mr. Lewis' organizing plans, the power of the league will be used everywhere to frighten politicians into aiding the C. I. O. to in painless victories.

However, the fact that the League has already become a catch-all for practically every Socialist and Communist borer-from-within in the A. F. of L. throws a different light upon its probable future.

An analysis of the groups which are flocking into the League shows that Mr. Lewis is playing with political dynamite unless, as many suspect, his own sympathies have already gone over to the Leftists.

While the front of the organization is the undeniably conservative George L. Berry, his presence is explained as a probable political move on the part of the White House to assure the continued Roosevelt loyalty of the League.

However, as long ago as the Seattle A. F. of L. convention of 1513, Berry himself was championing an independent labor political party.

* * *

A MUCH more important figure in the League, however, is Sidney Hillman who, since they came together in National Recovery Administration days, has become a sort of Siamese twin of Lewis both in politics and in the C. I. O.

Hillman's union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, probably contains the largest Socialist membership of any international in the A. F. of L.

MOREOVER, IN HIS TRADE UNION CAREER, HILLMAN HAS DEMONSTRATED REPEATEDLY THAT HE HAS NOT THE SLIGHTEST COMPUNCTION ABOUT CO-OPERATING EVEN WITH THE COMMUNISTS WHEN HE DEEMS IT EXPEDIENT.

He was one of the original trustees of Roger N. Baldwin's Garland Fund during a period when it allocated thousands of dollars to COMUNIST and REVOLUTIONARY causes.

In 1922, when public opinion in America was strongly against Soviet Russia, Mr. Hillman made his contribution to the success of the Russian Communist experiment by organizing and heading the "Russian American Industrial Corporation" whose purpose was to raise one million dollars of American capital to aid in "the rehabilitation of Russia."

Stock was sold by Hillman in this enterprise to 5350 American investors.

In Gompers' day, Hillman and his Amalgamated Clothing Workers were never permitted to join the A. F. of L.

On April 13, 1923, Gompers issued a statement, CLASSIFYING HILLMAN WITH THE PRO-COMMUNIST ELEMENTS and denouncing his R. A. I. C. as a "Soviet scheme."

TODAY, HOWEVER, HILLMAN IS SECOND ONLY TO JOHN L. LEWIS IN HIS INTIMACY WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

(The final article in this series by Harold Lord Varney will appear in tomorrow's Boston Evening American.)

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Car Door Opens, Woman Injured

Mrs. Ida Rabinowitz of Edgewood street, Roxbury, was recovering today from cuts and bruises sustained when she fell out of an automobile which stopped abruptly for a red light at Beacon and Charles street.

Asks Fair Play

JUDGE JENNIE LOITMAN BARRON

ORDER 112 CARS 'OUT' IN DRIVE

Registrar Frank A. Goodwin announced today suspension of 112 automobile registrations in the first three days of his current state-wide safety drive against defective equipment on automobiles.

"On September 10, the first day of the drive, 41 registrations were revoked for faulty brakes or headlights," said Registrar Goodwin.

Friday's total of suspensions was 40 and Saturday's 21. In each case the plates were taken for a three-day period, or until such time as the owned obtain a sticker certifying that his car has been restored to perfect running order.

Every car owner in the State must have an O. K. sticker on his windshield before October 1, or his registration will be suspended indefinitely.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Hoffman Flies to Texas

Newark, N. J., Sept. 14 (INS)—Governor Harold Hoffman of New Jersey was en route to Texas aboard an American Air Lines ship today to attend the centennial celebration.

Jewish Congress

Prepared to Fight After Hitler Ban

This is the seventh in a series of articles written by prominent Jews on the world Jewish Congress held last month in Geneva, Switzerland.

By JUDGE JENNIE LOITMAN BARRON OF BRIGHTON

"When the persecution of the Jews began in Germany with Hitler's accession to the Chancellorship of the Reich, the Jews of the world once again found themselves face to face with their old problem.

"Whither, where is salvation? Should we fight? How should we fight?

"These questions—fierce, fearful and cruel—arose before the Jews, as they have arisen time and time again for 2000 years. At first a tremendous, unified move for defense seemed to spring up in all Jewry.

"The cause of the trampled and oppressed, of those expelled from the German people as a foreign body, the cause of the trembling Ahasuerus within Germany and beyond its borders was supported by the liberal minded of the world.

"A humanitarian wave, an uprising of humanity, indignant and militant, horror seized those persons who were not prepared to allow the equality of all men before the law—this achievement guaranteed by law and in the Constitution—to be swept away."

So states Alfons Goldschmidt in his book, "Whither Israel?" with a foreword by Professor Albert Einstein.

TO PROTECT RIGHTS

All liberal minded people have an interest in preserving liberalism and fair play, but, inasmuch as the attack was almost entirely against the Jews, it fell for the work of not such an organization as the World Jewish Congress.

The purpose of the congress is to protect the rights of the Jews in all countries where they are threatened or endangered.

The congress seeks to secure and safeguard the civil and political economic and religious rights of Jews.

It seeks to ameliorate conditions manifested by unfair discriminations against Jewish applicants for employment in commercial, industrial and professional fields.

It disseminates accurate information, in order to arouse enlightened and tolerant men and women to the menace of Hitlerism at home and abroad.

Louis Lipsky, vice-president of the American Jewish Congress, made the following comment anent the fate of the Jews:

"Our public identification with the lot of our wronged brethren in many lands, our locking hands with them to form a shield of defense, our moving forward without fear to a joint defense, is in tune with the higher mood and aspiration of the emerging liberal, American.

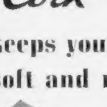
"It fuses with that larger American ideal which seeks the peace and welfare of all nations—which sincerely believes in equality of opportunity, which appreciates the meaning of humanitarianism welcoming with deep satisfaction all manifestations of brotherhood.

ORGANIZATION

"Not merely as members of world-wide religious faith; but as altruists concerned with the victims of accident, hate or intolerance; and as superiors bending down to inferiors—do we desire to appear in the eyes of the world or in the eyes of those who now bear the brunt of anti-Semitic attack.

"From the land at whose gate the symbol of liberty still raises its light-spreading torch, we free American citizens, all members of an ancient race, carriers of an ancient culture, stand with them in the dark days they are passing through, bringing the light of our freedom into the darkness of their days, covering their nakedness with our opulence of rights."

Guide to Boston



Harvard University-1636
13 "college generations" of Harvard men know
THOMPSON'S SPA—1882
Where Boston Business Men "Know" to Lunch

IT IS no blotter

...that is why a TAREYTON Cork tip keeps your lips soft and moist

● Nobody has to tell a woman that soft lips are thrilling lips! So when you smoke—remember—cigarette paper acts like a blotter—it robs your lips of vital moisture. If you want to keep your lips soft, moist, alluring—smoke Tareyton! There's something about them you'll like! The Tareyton cork tip resists moisture. It doesn't smear your lipstick. Never gets soggy. Prevents loose ends. Doesn't taste papery. The Tareyton Cork Tip adds the dainty, finishing touch to Tareyton's finer, milder tobaccos—quality that ordinary cigarettes cannot afford.

Now only 15¢

● Never dry—in this cellophane tin-foil humidor.

HERBERT Tareyton CIGARETTES

"There's something about them you'll like"

Copyright 1936, The American Tobacco Company

Betty Alden on 'Beacon Hill'

Torchlight Parade to Precede Pop Concert Dance

By BETTY ALDEN

THE SPIRIT of Harvard's Tercentenary Celebration and revelry is most infectious . . . to scientists, old grads and undergrads . . . and even to John Harvard himself, who has sat in his great stone chair in front of University Hall for so many years, casting an august glance upon the doings in the Yard . . .

Next Thursday evening, John will lay aside his time-honored dignity to join in the celebration, and — of all things — to lead a torchlight parade . . .

SHAUN KELLY, JR.

After the undergraduates' dinner in the houses . . . (to which, by the way, debs may be invited) . . . the students and their guests will assemble on the banks of the Charles near the Weld Boathouse . . .

The whole river front will be illuminated and there will be a display of fireworks . . .

As soon as the glow of set pieces has flickered out, burning torches will be distributed and the students will fall into columns of four to march behind the Harvard band and a group of marshals carrying a plaster-cast statue of John Harvard . . .

John's escapade will be short, however, for the procession will march up Boylston street, through the square, into the Yard, and will end up in front of his usual place in the big stone chair in front of University Hall . . .

Leaving John to his own resources, the undergraduates will continue on to Memorial Hall on the other side of the Yard, for the Pop Concert Dance which will be the social highlight of their Tercentenary celebrating . . . It will also be the first large dance on the debutantes' autumn calendar, when they will not only have the opportunity to renew their acquaintances with the Harvardians who will be their dancing partners throughout the debutante season, but they will have a chance to dance with the student guests, who have come from colleges all over the world as undergraduate delegates to the Tercentenary celebration . . .

Shaun Kelly, Jr., of Richmond, Mass., and John B. Bowditch of Concord are members of the committee of Harvard undergraduates planning this dance . . . and working with them are Francis Koppel of Montrose, New York, chairman; Thomas H. Quinn of West Warwick, R. I.; C. Colmery Gibson of Atlanta, Ga.; Caleb Foote of Belmont, George Cunningham of Chicago, Herbert Irwin of Port Washington, N. Y., and Lemoyne White of Pasadena, California.

Mrs. Frederick P. Koppel, mother of the committee chairman, is one of the patronesses, as are Mrs. David M. Little of Cambridge, Mrs. George D. Birkhoff, Mrs. Alfred C. Hanford and Mrs. W. K. Jordan . . .

• • •

Representatives From Other Universities

THE DANCE will last from 10 till 2, and will be open to all undergraduates of Harvard and their guests . . . Some two thousand strong merrymakers will dance about and sing "Fair Harvard," and all join in the choruses when Ruby Newman and his bandmen play the song hits from last year's Hasty Pudding show . . . Outside the hall there will be a refreshment room, hung with Japanese lanterns . .

Some of the young men representing other universities and colleges attending the Tercentenary events, and above all the dance, are John W. Field of Yale who will be entertained by Samuel Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Boylston Adams of Brookline . . . H. R. N. D'Arch of Cambridge, England, guest of William J. Clothier, 2d, of Valley Forge, Pa. . . .

Robert Hallowell Gardiner, Jr., of Brookline will have another Englishman, Arnold W. G. Kean of Cambridge University, as his guest . . . and Curtis Prout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Prout of Chestnut Hill, will entertain Ian Harvey of Oxford University . . .

A. Wilson Footer, who is coming from Leland Stanford, will be guided about by Charles W. Hubbard, 3d, of Wellesley Farms, while James B. Hallett of Boston will have a good opportunity to learn all about Oxford from his guest, Fenton A. S. Gentry . . . Charles Hughes, 3d, of Brown, will be the guest of Perry Culver of Exeter, N. H., and there are many more, about sixty in all . . .

• • •

Matron of Honor at Wedding

MRS. WILLIAM TAYLOR of Dedham was matron of honor in the wedding Saturday afternoon in Rye, New York, of Anne Allen Knapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Knapp of Rye and Millbrook, New York . . . Miss Knapp became the bride of Frederick G. Chapman, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Chapman of San Fernando, California . . .

Since the bride has just recovered from an illness, the wedding was very small, and only relatives and very intimate friends attended the ceremony and the wedding supper which followed immediately . . . the bride and groom plan to have a fruit farm of their own in Santa Barbara, California . . .

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. E. Preble Motley, Jr., of Hamilton have changed the date of the dance they are giving for their debutante daughter, Marjorie, from October 14 to October 17.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

(Membership open to all boys and girls 10 to 21)

I wish to join the Junior Birdmen of America. I enclose a dime (well wrapped) for my gold wings and other membership materials.

Print Name .....

Street Address .....

City ..... State .....

My Age Is Now ..... (Give Your CORRECT Age)

Mail to Junior Birdmen, Boston American Wing, 100 Summer St., Boston, Mass.

DEBS Prepare for Busy Season

(Picture from International News Photograph Service)

NOEL SMYTH MARION B. BRIDGEWATER

THESE TWO GIRLS endured their baptism of the photographer's fire at a recent party for one of the new season's debutantes. They will meet the cameraman again and again before the social season is over. Miss Noel Smyth is the daughter of Mrs. Somers Smyth of Brookline, and her companion, Miss Marion B. Bridgewater, is the daughter of the John P. Bridgewaters of Melrose.

JUNIOR BIRDMEN OF AMERICA

DEVOTED TO THE INTEREST OF THE YOUTH OF THE AMERICAS IN AVIATION — TODAY'S PILOTS OF MODELS —TOMORROW'S MODEL PILOTS!

Expected to draw a record number of contestants, the annual Junior Model Airplane competition in connection with the Essex County Fair at Topsfield will be held on Wednesday and Saturday of this week.

Activity on Wednesday will be limited to a scale model event in which non-flying scale models will be judged. All models must be on hand for exhibition before 10 a. m. Wednesday and remain in place until 9 p. m. Saturday. The winning model will be that which comes nearest to being an exact reproduction of a real plane.

All Junior Birdmen and all other boys and girls who have not reached their 21st birthday anniversary are eligible to enter each of the five events. There is no age limit in the novelty event for planes of original design. These models may be smoke screen models, parachute droppers, autogyros, acrobatic and other stunt planes.

The other three events will be for hand-launched or towline gliders with no limitation on size or construction, hand-launched stick models with minimum weight of two ounces and a total distance around the stick of less than four inches and R. O. G. cabin models weighing more than two ounces and measuring not less than eight inches around the fuselage at the widest point. These three events will be for endurance.

Kits will be awarded as prizes, and contestants will be divided into two classes, a junior class up to and including 16 years of age and a senior class 17 and over.

All entries in this contest must be mailed and postmarked not later than midnight Friday. Entries should be sent to Howard Martin, Model Airplane Contest, Essex County Fair, Topsfield, Mass.

The management has named L. F. Rust, wing commander of the Junior Birdmen, as honorary director.

Junior Birdmen and other model builders are invited to compete tomorrow at the Brockton Fair Grounds in a tournament featuring "Children's Day". There will be six events, three for juniors (15 years and under) and three for seniors (16 and over). In addition there will be a special power event for all model builders.

Endurance events and a scale event will be the same for juniors and seniors. The endurance events will be for hand-launched stick models and hand-launched fuselage models with overall dimensions not exceeding 48 inches.

Milk Producers Delay N. Y. Strike

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP)—For the second time in two weeks Stanley Piseck, president of the New York Milk Producers' Federation, postponed a threatened strike call today as the "deadline" he had set for state revision of milk prices passed without action by state milk officials.

'COUNTESS OLIVER' KNOCK TEST CLOSES

"Knock, Knock!" "Who's there?" "The Countess." "The Countess who?" So sorry folks, all over.

And this, dear readers, is your slightly bewildered knock-knock editor knocking back at you in self defense with the announcement that the Knock-Knock contest finished Saturday at midnight.

The final 32 cash prizes have been awarded today to five clever knock-knocks while 10 of the runners-up will receive two tickets for the current attraction at the Loew's Orpheum and State theaters.

Miss Rita Lynch, Monument square, Charlestown. "Mosquitoes." "Mosquitoes who?" "Mosquitoes like to play marbles, but I'd rather play ball."

David Berkman, Winchester street, Brookline. "Hollywood." "Hollywood who?" "Hollywood do was read this paper."

Lillian B. Goss, Wilgus road, Quincy. "Orange juice." "Orange juice who?" "Orange juice sick of of these knock-knocks?"

Olive E. MacDonald, Garfield street, Quincy. "Agatha." "Agatha who?" "Agatha mad at you, I could sock you."

Richard Barry, Garfield street, Cambridge. "Oliver." "Oliver who?" "Oliver now and still no prize."

David Cohen, Shore drive, Winthrop. "Wednesday." "Wednesday who?" "Wednesday the ball game start?"

Palmyra Venditti, Otis street, East Cambridge. "Des Moines." "Des Moines who?" "Des Moines colder than last Moines."

Myna Rosen, 16 Glenway street, Dorchester. "Minna." "Minna who?" "Don't bother me, Minna hurry."

Ruth Mahoney, Aspinwall road, Dorchester. "Henry." "Henry who?" "Henry rags, Henry bottles today?"

George Driscoll, Greenwood avenue, Hyde Park. "Yukon." "Yukon who?" "Yukon pull the wool over my eyes."

Mary Rust, Jenkins street, South Boston. "Theodore." "Theodore who?" "Theodore is locked, let me in."

Florence Freeman, Quincy. "Freman." "Freman who?" "Freeman on a dead man's chest."

George H. Polk, Poplar street, Roslindale. "Terra Haute." "Terra Haute who?" "Terra Haute to be a law against such contests."

Russell J. Bowen, Huntington avenue, Boston. "Mandy." "Mandy who? "Mandy life boats, the ship is sinking."

Amelia Pearl, North Anderson street, Boston. "Minerva." "Minerva who?" "Minerva's wreck."

Cast of 100 In Show At Brockton

With scores of pretty girls and a cast of 100 actors, Hollywood Revue will be presented tonight to open officially the Brockton Fair, one of the oldest and the greatest of New England's fairs.

Hollywood Revue will feature Lolita Bertling, former prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera Company. Others include the Hudson Wonders, dancers, who formerly were in Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book."

The revue has five major numbers—"Modern Age," "Opera," "The Circus," "The Follies," and "A Naval Holiday." Its climax is startling, with a pretty girl shot from the mouth of a cannon. Following the performance of the revue, fireworks will be shown nightly.

Edith M. Powers to Wed In West Roxbury

By DOROTHY W. CRANNELL

EDITH MARIE POWERS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Powers of West Roxbury and Falmouth, will become the bride of Robert F. Riley at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in St. Theresa's Church, West Roxbury.

Rev. Peter McDonough of East Jaffrey, N. H., a cousin of the bridegroom, will officiate. Attending the bride will be Virginia Sisey of Dorchester, as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids will be Rosemary McEnaney of Dorchester, Helene Cahill and Louise Casey . . . classmates of Miss Powers at Regis . . . and Elizabeth MacDonald of Radcliffe.

Charles Curtis of Holy Cross will be best man. Ushers include John Ahearn, William Egan, John McMann and Charles Colbert, all of Boston College. Also Donald McCullough of M. I. T., and Timothy Feeny of Holy Cross.

After the ceremony a reception will be held at Hotel Sheraton. Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, Mr. Riley and his bride will make their home in West Roxbury.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Regis College. Mr. Riley, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Cassidy of Dorchester and Nantucket, is a Boston College graduate.

• • •

Junior Philomatheia Club Plans Bridge

Katherine Eagan, vice-president of the Junior Philomatheia Club, was hostess to the Junior Philomatheia Club at a luncheon Saturday afternoon at the University Club. Officers of the club attending were: Virginia Grimes, president; Frances O'Halloran, treasurer; Rosamond Adams, secretary; Dorothy W. Crannell, chairman of membership committee, and Ruth Murphy, chairman of publicity.

Plans for the first social attraction of the club this season, which will be a bridge and fashion show to be held in October, were discussed. Katherine Curley of Dorchester was appointed chairman and will name her committees within the next week.

Next Monday evening, the board of directors of the club will meet at the clubhouse on Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill. A light buffet supper will be served. The senior advisors, Mrs. Vincent P. Roberts, Mrs. M. J. McCarthy, Mrs. Charles McCarthy and Mrs. William Fouhy together with chairmen of committees will be guests on this occasion in order to have full co-operation in planning the many events for the coming social season.

• • •

Troy-Burns Bridal in Malden

In Sacred Heart Church in Malden, Saturday morning, Winifred Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Burns, became the bride of Joseph Troy of Melrose.

Bridesmaids were Eleanor Burns, sister of the bride, Frances Cronin and Alice Burke, classmates of the bride.

Valentine Troy, brother of the groom, was best man. Two brothers of the bride, Edward and Charles Burns, and two brothers of the groom, Paul and Thomas Troy, with Horace Smith, classmate of the groom at Dartmouth, acted as ushers.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The couple left on an extended honeymoon.

• • •

Plan Bridge In Wakefield

Through all seasons of the year, Senior Philomatheia members continue their benefit affairs to swell the organization's scholarship fund. Tomorrow afternoon, Mrs. Charles N. Winship will play hostess to a large gathering at her home The Pines, in Wakefield.

The afternoon of bridge and tea will officially close a series of summer parties which aided the fund and will launch the new season's round of interesting affairs.

Mrs. M. J. McCarthy of Belmont is directing the day's activities, assisted by the executive board.

Anne Gregory, Alice Stone Join Bridal Ranks

THE AFTER-LABOR DAY calm which has settled upon Oyster Harbors and surrounding resorts on Cape Cod was broken Saturday afternoon by the unusual occurrence of two weddings taking place within an hour of each other, in the little town.

At three o'clock, Miss Anne Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Edward Gregory of Winchester, became the bride of Lindsey Howard Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice of Arlington. The wedding took place at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory at Oyster Harbors and was followed by a wedding reception on the lawns.

Reception at Club

An hour later some of the guests from this wedding were in the gathering at St. Peter's Church at Wianno to witness the marriage of Alice Tufts Stone to John Newlin Trainer, Jr. This ceremony was followed by a reception at the Oyster Harbors Club. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carleton Stone of Lexington.

The first bride, Miss Gregory, wore an heirloom gown of ivory satin with a cap of old lace and tulle veil. She was attended by Miss Marjory Danforth and Miss Barbara Fulton of Oyster Harbors and Miss Lucile Brown of West Barnstable. The former was gowned in green moire with a matching hat and arm bouquet of pastel summer flowers, and the other two wore similar outfits of yellow.

The bride graduated from the Misses Allen School in 1932 and Mr. Rice attended Hebron Academy and Boston University. They will make their home in Boston.

Duchess Satin

Miss Stone, who was given in marriage by her father, wore Duchess satin trimmed with rose point lace and carried a prayer book belonging to the bridegroom's family, and marked with tuberoses and long satin streamers.

Mrs. Joseph W. Ayers of Easton, Pa., and Miss Katherine Stone of Lexington, sisters of the bride, were the honor attendants and wore gowns of parchment colored satin with wreaths of small bronze and red chrysanthemums in their hair, and carried crescent shaped bouquets of the same flowers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Caroline Formosa of Scarsdale, N. Y., Miss Sara Louise Snell of Washington, D. C., and Miss Helen Jerome of Westwood, wore similar satin gowns of wine red, with red and bronze chrysanthemums also.

The church was lavishly decorated with oak, Woodwardia ferns and white gladioli in tall urns, and the Rev. Dana McLean Greeley performed the ceremony. As she departed for her honeymoon the bride wore a dress and cape of green wool with a matching hat and dark brown accessories.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Ossip Gabrilowitsch Dies

Detroit, Sept. 14 (INS)—Ossip Gabrilowitsch, director of the Detroit symphony orchestra, died at his home here today. Gabrilowitsch, born in 1878, had been ill for a year.

Miss Smith, Post-Deb, Weds

CHARLOTTE BYRON SMITH, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Linsley Johnson of Colorado Springs, Colorado, became the bride of George Heime Marston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Marston of Colorado Springs in the Grace Episcopal Church, that city, Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. George Turney performed the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. H. Donald Smith, Jr.

The bride is well known in Boston society, for though her home is in the west, she came east to spend last winter with Mr. and Mrs. Byam Whitney of Milton, and made her debut at a dance at The Country Club. She was elected a provisional member of the Junior League but has since transferred her membership to the Colorado Springs Junior League. She attended Milton Academy and graduated from the Spence School in New York. Her mother, who is the former Pauline MacKay of Boston, was national women's golf champion in 1905.

Mrs. B. Donald Smith, of Greeley, Colorado, was matron of honor and Miss Pauline H. B. Smith was the maid of honor. The six bridesmaids were, Miss Elizabeth Froelicher and Miss Antoinette Dazgler of Colorado Springs, Miss Joan B. Smith of Chicago, Miss Margaret Peerry, Miss Jane Whitney and Miss Anne Gallagher, Boston post-debutantes.

Mr. Marston attended Brown University in Providence, R. I. Following an automobile trip through the west, he and Mrs. Marston will be at home in Colorado Springs.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Escort of Police At Murray Rites

An honor detail of 40 police officers attended funeral services today for Patrolman John J. Murray, of Everett street, Dorchester, in St. Ambrose's Church, Dorchester.

Celebrant of the mass was Rev. Edmund Lord; deacon, Rev. William Grosz, sub-deacon; Rev. John Wall and master of ceremonies, Rev. John A. Harrigan.

Among the throng attending the services were Police Commissioner Eugene M. McSweeney, Acting-Superintendent Edward N. Fallon and Senator Joseph Donahue.

Patrolman Murray is survived by a widow and four children.

Burial was in New Calvary Cemetery.

ISN'T IT TOO BAD, MORTIMER . . . . . , that Mrs. Van Van insists upon living in this large dreary house when there are so many cozy apartments available in the Boston American under "CERTIFIED RENTALS?"

Regulations For "Certified Rentals"

CERTIFIED RENTALS

1. All vacancies listed under "Certified Rentals" bearing the asterisk (*) are personally inspected by representatives of the Barbara Holmes Free Rental Bureau, and are as stated in the advertisement.
2. All rentals over stores and offices must be stated as such.
3. All rentals listed under houses for rent must be single dwelling units unless listed as duplexes or bungalows.
4. If the words garage, telephone, gas, lights, refrigeration, etc., are mentioned in the ad, these items are included in the rent unless clearly specified otherwise.

Read the "Certified Rental" Ads in the American-Sunday Advertiser Classified Columns. For additional information, consult Barbara Holmes at the Free Rental Bureau—fourth floor of the R. H. White Co.

TO ORDER AN AD TELEPHONE LIBERTY 4000

"GIVE ME YOUR HEART"

A NEW SERIAL

By Lewis Allen Browne

A COSMOPOLITAN PRODUCTION TO BE RELEASED SOON BY WARNER BROTHERS

CHAPTER 12

"Good enough. My dear, I may ask you to prove it to me."

Linda was startled at this.

"Prove it? Really, I fail to understand."

She was so nervous that she got up and crossed to the decanter.

"It is not difficult to understand, when I explain," Lord Farrington replied.

"I suppose—I mean, will you have some more of your port?"

She managed to smile as she spoke.

"No, thank you; will you?"

"No, thank you."

She came back and sat down again.

"You know, naturally, that this is really more than an informal call—that I have an object in view, Miss Warren?"

"Yes, naturally."

"There is so much that is understood, without discussion, isn't there?"

A Proposition

"I believe so."

"Well then, I have a proposition to make."

"Robert has been most kind, Lord Farrington. I shall not be in need. And I want you to know that Robert is entirely blameless."

"You are a remarkable young lady, Miss Warren."

"Lady?" Linda had to say it, although she knew that her cheeks were flaming.

"I regard you as a lady, Miss Warren."

Tears of gratitude came to her eyes. She managed to blink them back.

"Now as to the proposition. I want you to go away from here, naturally. I want you, preferably, to go to London until the Spring. Early in May I suggest that you sail for America. You lived there once, with your father, I believe."

"Yes, sir, in Cambridge—near Boston, with my father."

"With your qualifications, and some influence I chance to have over there, you could soon find quite suitable and profitable employment."

"I don't, think it possible, Lord Farrington—"

"From the moment you leave this house," he went on, unheeding her interruption, "and until you are securely established in America, you become my own responsibility."

"Oh! I begin to see. If I am being bought off, I am sure you do not realize everything."

"But I am sure that I do, my dear. You are not being bought off—well, in a way I suppose you are, for you have it in your power to give me something I want more than anything else in the world."

Linda felt faint. However, she managed to say, as she looked directly at him:

"What is that, Lord Farrington?"

"My grandchild!"

"No, Lord Farrington! Oh no, no!" Linda cried when Robert's father had her so abruptly that he worried her child.

"My dear—my dear—it is your impulsive heart, not your understanding mind, that is speaking now," Lord Farrington said, softly. Secretly, his admiration for this girl was growing.

Linda stopped, frightened at her own vehemence. She saw genuine admiration and tenderness in Lord Farrington's still youthful eyes.

"I suppose you are right, Lord Farrington. Linda had control of herself again and spoke softly. "You are a fine and an understanding man. If you say these things, they must be true. I realize now that Oliver would have said the same."

"Oliver?"

"My father."

"I knew him. A man of rare intelligence. Now, my dear, we know that broken rules carry their own penalty, and even if the whole world is none the wiser, YOU will suffer your penalties in your heart all the days of your life."

"Then do you think I would suffer any less if I gave up—Oh, no, you cannot ask that of me."

Lord Farrington sighed.

"May I tell you how much this means to me?" Linda nodded. "You know those rows of dingy little tumble-down cottages along the railroad track of almost any town?" Again Linda nodded. "My grandfather was born in one of those houses."

"Your grandfather, Lord Farrington?" Linda did not believe it.

(Continued Tomorrow)

Afternoon in Reed-Slim Black Crepe

THIS RETURN to the completely feminine is responsible for an exquisiteness of detail in afternoon frocks that leaves one a bit breathless. Nothing obtrusive or heavily done. Just—as in this Fashion Congress selection winner modeled by Miss Carolyn Pierce of Milton—sheer, firm crepe on long lines that have a blessed lack of the bias-bound effect, a breath of scalloping on hem and on high neckline, small rhinestone fasteners that outline the diagonal bodice seam, and a miraculous belt, whose buckle will adjust to the smallest waist measure!

The black felt hat—shirred velvet flowers in three shades of blue piled in front, after Reboux—deserves a paragraph of its own. Skull-cap tight, it concentrates its true milliner detail in such a becoming-ness right over the eyes!

For shopping information on frock or hat, phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, Liberty 4000, or write her at the Boston Evening American.

Pattern

For a Clever Hostess

MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN 9932

Swing gaily along the road to Fashion with Pattern 9932. For Marian Martin has incorporated her most successful ideas in this easily made young frock.

School bound misses or smart matrons hostessing at an impromptu tea will find its trim lines and dainty accents the center of admiration.

This charming frock is easily stitched up, and aided by the directions of the complete diagrammed sew chart, you'll have a bright addition to your wardrobe in no time at all!

The raglan sleeves may be either long or three-quarter length, while the diverting yoke is topped by an unusual contrasting collar. Good in wool, silk, satin or synthetic.

Pattern 9932 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 39-inch fabric and ¾-yard contrasting.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and style number.

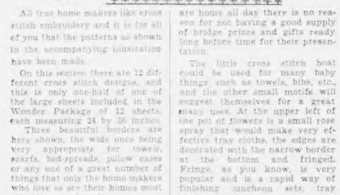
Be sure to state size.

Be sure to order the new issue of our Marian Martin Pattern Book! Be the first to wear the latest fall models that it shows —for home, business, shopping, sports, parties.

See the thrilling pages of special slenderizing designs . . . the clever models for children, grown-up girls, debs . . . the latest fabrics and costumes accessories. Book 15 cents. Pattern 15 cents. Twenty-five cents for both when ordered together.

Send your order to Boston Evening American Pattern Department, 232 Fourth street, New York, N. Y.

Gay Cross Stitch Motifs Delight to Home-Makers



All true home makers like cross-stitch embroidery and it is for all of you that the patterns as shown in the accompanying illustration have been made.

On this section there are 12 different cross stitch designs, and this is only one-half of one of the large sheets included in the Wonder Package of 12 sheets, each measuring 24 by 36 inches.

These beautiful borders are here shown, the wide ones being very appropriate for towels, scarfs, bed-spreads, pillow cases or any one of a great number of things that only the home makers who love to see their homes most attractive can imagine.

To give you some idea of the size of these motifs, for example the pot of flowers measures seven and one-half inches over all. This is good attraction in the corners of a bridge table cover or breakfast cloth. The roses could be made first of red with green leaves and pot of either black or brown. The narrow border at bottom is just the right size for guest towels while the large borders are three inches wide.

You might beautify by hand a narrow hem across each end of towel and then in the center of one and near the border you could have a cross stitch rose bud such as is shown near lower part of flower pot. Two of these could be worked in an evening and if you are home all day there is no reason for not having a good supply of bridge prizes and gifts ready long before time for their presentation.

The little cross stitch boat could be used for many baby things such as bibs, bibs, etc., and the other small motifs will suggest themselves for a great many uses. At the upper left of the pot of flowers is a small rose spray that would make very effective tray cloths, the edges are decorated with the narrow border at the bottom and fringed. Fringe, as you know, is very popular and is a rapid way of finishing luncheon sets, tray cloths, towels, etc.

These patterns are the easiest to transfer of any you have ever heard of, only requiring a little water and slight rubbing with a silver spoon.

Just think of all you get for 15c if you mail the coupon for the Wonder Package. You have over 400 transfer patterns which can be used many times, 473 motifs of many styles and kinds. You cannot afford to be without this Wonder Package, for in it you get a life-time supply of patterns for sewing and painting. Watch this column for notes of the many uses of these motifs. If you wish to call for the Wonder Package, it may be had at the circulation office, Boston Evening American, for 39 cents.

The Boston Evening American, Boston, Mass.: Inclosed please find 40 cents for which I wish you would send me the Wonder Package of over 400 transfer patterns.

Name .....

Street and Number .....

City .....

State .....

Married Comrades

By Adele Garrison

MADGE TO EAT WITH FATHER AT LAST DINNER

CHAPTER 98

MY FATHER smiled up at me fondly as I bent over him, requesting that he come away from the nursery with me, back to his room, adding that I had a surprise planned for him which I was sure he would like.

"Always my thoughtful darling," he said. With my hand still on his, I moved away from the chair, so that he might rise.

We got out of the nursery without hearing even a whimper from Faith, although I fairly held my breath as we went past the door into the inner room where Mary was keeping watch over our baby, who, I fervently hoped, was asleep.

I did so want my father to be able to carry with him upon his dangerous journey the memory he was so tenderly cherishing—that of his idolized baby granddaughter cuddling down in his arms and going blissfully to sleep. When the nursery door closed upon silence, my mental thermometer rose perceptibly.

FATHER LIKES IDEA

Neither of us spoke again until we were inside my father's room with the door closed upon the corridor outside. I knew that he was absorbed in his memories, and I was loath to disturb him. But when my father had drawn a big chair out for me and put me into it, he said suddenly:

"Well! darling, what is my surprise?"

"It isn't much," I replied depreciatingly. "But you said you wished your dinner served upstairs—and—I thought, perhaps, you would like me to dine up here, too, alone with you—a little farewell party, a deux."

I tried to make my voice brave and steady, but I am afraid there was a distinct quaver in it as I finished. But it was lost against my father's coat as he bent over me and, with his hand against my cheek, embraced me tenderly.

"My darling!" he breathed. "There is nothing in the world I would like so well. But—will you not be missed?"

"Not tonight," I answered. "Mother Graham is in such high dudgeon over an unfortunate incident in the nursery that she undoubtedly will ask for a dinner tray in her room. Dicky, Mary and Katherine will understand perfectly. As for the small boys, they will be so absorbed in the lists of pets and toys they mean to take to the mountains tomorrow that they will not know whether anyone beside themselves is at the dinner table.

"I shall ask Katherine to oversee their dinner, so that they do not overeat on the eve of their journey. In that way I shall be free to be with you for dinner."

"That will be perfect," my father said with such evident sincere delight that I was thankful I had thought of the plan.

"I'm so glad you're not too busy to have me," I answered, and rose upon the word to leave him to the work which I guessed was waiting for him.

"Unless there's something more I can do for you," I said, "I'll run along and look over these lists which I am sure the boys have ready by now. I have told them that when they are ready for bed, about nine o'clock, they may come and say goodby to you. They will be starting early in the morning, and I do not want them to disturb you.

MADGE IS WORRIED

"They do not dream that you are going away. I am glad this plan of going to the mountains intervened, so that they will not have to be told of your absence, or of your twin brother's coming substitution for you. They would have kept the secret loyally, I am sure, but it would have been a great strain upon them."

My father was looking at me oddly, a bit absently, and I wondered if he had heard anything that I had been saying. But the next instant he had put his hands upon my shoulders and was looking down at me intently.

"How you attend to everything!" he said. "You are furnishing steam for this whole household. You must let up a bit; you must take better care of yourself."

"You forget," I said smiling, "that for an indefinite time more than half of the family will be up in the mountains."

"But you will have the journey up there and back."

"Delightful interludes." I interrupted.

"But fatiguing," he insisted. "And then, when you return, there will be this miserable business of my brother's impersonation of me—"

"I cannot imagine anything more exciting or thrilling," I said firmly. "No, Father, I refuse to be a martyr. I shall get along beautifully. Now I really am going to run away."

And with his solicitous eyes following me and his tender kiss upon my cheek, I went in search of the two small boys and their lists.

(CONTINUED TOMORROW)

(Copyright, 1936, N. E. F., Inc.)

Good Manners

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—Please tell me if it is proper to give a miscellaneous anniversary party for my sister who is to celebrate her second wedding anniversary?

2—How should the invitations be worded?

3—I would like to know if it is correct to have a cake with candles? If not, please advise me what would be better for the occasion.

4—Is it proper to serve drinks as the guests arrive?

GERTRUDE.

1—It is correct for you to plan a party for your sister's wedding anniversary. Some authorities give cotton as the symbol for the second anniversary, and some give paper as the symbol. I am not sure what you mean by a "miscellaneous" anniversary party.

But nowadays most people don't pay much attention to the symbols given for wedding anniversaries, especially for the earlier ones.

If they give presents for the occasion, they give something for the home, not things of the given symbols. (Perhaps that is what you mean by "miscellaneous"?)

2—Your invitations might be notes worded:

DEAR MARY:

I am planning to have a little party to celebrate my sister Jane's second wedding anniversary, on Tuesday, the first of September, at my home, at eight o'clock. And I very much want to have you and Jack come. You will—won't you? I think we'll have a happy time.

Cordially,

3—You might have a cake, with two candles on it, or you might have a cake that is very gaily decorated, to imitate in a way, a wedding cake.

4—Yes.

"Your Figure, Mister!"

By IDA JEAN KAIN

(Author of "Your Figure, Madame!")

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

STATISTICS prove that over 25,000,000 people in the United States are overweight . . . figures lead us to believe that a large number of these are men.

You men are opposed to dieting on several scores—mainly hunger. If you prefer to keep the waistline down by exercise, that's your privilege, but it must be a daily dozen.

For it takes regular exercise to keep the belt line in check. Babe Ruth holds the record for waistline reduction. In a three months' period he reduced his waist from forty-nine and three-fourths inches to thirty-eight inches—a mere eleven and three-fourths inches!

The belt line is your weight barometer, for calories accumulate first around the midsection from lack of exercise. As we slip into the comfortable forties, it becomes all too easy to abbreviate exercise, despite the fact that this is the time when it is essential to physical fitness.

Work for Muscles

Exercise is most popularly known as a muscle builder, but a more significant fact is that exercise develops the vital organs and keeps them in excellent functional condition. The stomach, intestines and heart itself are muscles, and all need the help which exercise gives. Moreover when the muscular system is in good working order the nervous system works more effectively.

Muscles grow soft and lose tone from inactivity, and "that tired feeling" may be due to lack of proper exercise. However, before jumping into an arduous program, consult your doctor as to the amount of exercise needed and the kind best suited to you. If you are a bit ready on exercise, ease into your program gradually to avoid stiffness.

As the average person gets plenty of arm and leg motion, the following movements concentrate on the abdomen and waistline.

EXERCISE I

POSITION: Lying on back, hands clasped back of neck, knees flexed, feet flat on floor.

MOVEMENT: Pull abdomen in hard. Now, touch right knee to left elbow, left knee to right elbow. Repeat ten times. Relax. The goal is 20 times.

EXERCISE II

POSITION: Sit on floor, legs extended, knees straight, lean slightly backward, bracing weight on hands at sides and back.

MOVEMENT: Lift the entire body off the floor in a straight line with the weight resting on the palms of hands and the heels. Return to position and repeat six times.

EXERCISE III

POSITION: Lie on the right side, head resting on the outstretched right arm, left hand placed on the floor in front of the chest for support.

MOVEMENT: Kick the legs in a vigorous, scissors movement, concentrating the action in the hips. Repeat 20 to 30 times, resting after each 10 counts.

Send for the sets of abdominal and waistline exercises.

See that you get some kind of regular exercise. Outdoor activity is a health investment and vigorous walking for an hour a day is excellent. A bi-weekly workout at a gymnasium of 15 minutes' daily exercise should supplement the reducer's activity.

MAN SIZE REDUCING MENU

BREAKFAST
Tomato juice, 1 glass	50
Scrambled egg, 1½	150
Toast, 1 slice	75
Butter, ½ pat	50
Coffee, 1 tsp. cream
1 rounded tsp. sugar	50
	375
LUNCHEON
Vegetable soup, 1 bowl	150
Celery	10
Crackers, 2 double	50
Pumpkin pie	200
Coffee, 1 tsp. cream
1 rounded tsp sugar	50
	460
DINNER
Steak, broiled (trim off fat)	300
String beans,	30
Carrots	40
Butter, ½ tsp.	27
Chopped vegetable salad (vinegar)	99
Roll	100
Butter, ½ pat	50
Buttermilk or skimmed milk	80
	650
TOTAL CALORIES FOR DAY	1485

Get your exercise and you will not only cut down on your waistline inches, but you will keep fit.

You can obtain the Ida Jean Kain leaflets entitled, "Stretch the Fat From Your Waistline, Ribs an Wishbone" and "Abdominal Exercises" if you will send large, stamped, addressed envelope with your request.

Fashion Flash

Not only in millinery is the influence of the little emperor seen. Evening gowns are branching out into a new formal elegance, in silhouettes designed after the court gowns of the Empress Josephine and other beauties of the Napoleonic era.

Home Institute

Tips on Popularity

POOR GERTRUDE! She wasn't asked to Alice's party. She's left out of things generally, a wallflower at dances, a dateless little nonentity.

She's telling herself all this out under the apple tree. Feeling hurt and resentful and bitter and more and more afraid of people.

All wrong, Gertrude. Turn around and face your problem. Save up your money right now and buy the smartest fall outfit o. clothes you possibly can. Adopt a new hair style just to make yourself feel made over into somebody different. Take some dancing lessons. Or learn to golf o' swim or play a guitar. Keep working away until you do one thing well, if it's only baking potatoes. That is your best weapon against shyness, inferiority.

The next time you're out among people, pick out the shyest, most awkward-looking soul in the lot and start right in drawing him, or her, out.

With a new self-respect you can face people without the old timidity. That's why you're unpopular, Gertrude. You are so shy that you make everybody else ill at ease—uncomfortable as you do. Don't think of how you are appearing. Try to contribute something.

Our 40-page booklet, YOU CAN BE POPULAR, is full of sound, practical advice. Shows you how to play up a good point and make it win. How to root out your defects, turns them into assets.

Send 15c for our booklet, YOU CAN BE POPULAR, to the Boston Evening American Home Institute, 109 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

ADVICE on LOVE and MARRIAGE -:- By Beatrice Fairfax

Boy Explains Loss of Job

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Does Professor Smith's declaration, that a perfect secretary' would never lose her job if she finds love springing up between herself and her boss, apply equally when the terms of the equation are reversed? When the boss is an amorous elderly woman and her secretary a good-looking young...

Whatever...

Beauty Tips

Glamorous Movie Stars Give Hints for Loveliness

By DONNA GRACE

...I know you might tell you... and the...

KEEPS COMPLEXION

END OF DAY TREATMENT

EIGHT TROUBLE REMOVED

WAYS TO AVOID HALO

A GLEAMING END

SKIN SMOOTH

I Always Say— (Sez Gracie Allen)

THE SECRET HAS SET IDEA

T...

Health

A Daily Bath Necessary

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

DAILY BATHING is popular during warm and sticky weather. Everyone is anxious to get into a pool, a tub or under a shower for a refreshing bath.

Unfortunately, this enthusiasm wanes as the fall and winter months appear. This is too bad because I cannot overstate the value, the real importance, of a daily bath.

For centuries, hydro-therapy, the water cure, has been used in the treatment of certain ailments. In fact, the employment of various types of waters for the control of disease is a practice which actually dates back to the ancient Romans.

They considered bathing almost as important as eating. Lack of body cleanliness was unheard of in those days. Perhaps this accounts for the marvelous physique and endurance of that ancient people.

In addition to cleaning the skin and removing accumulated dirt, the daily bath keeps open the pores of the skin. We must not forget the necessity of this because the sweat serves to remove from the body certain poisons. Unless this important function is properly performed, the health is bound to suffer.

Moreover the daily bath is soothing and relaxing. When fatigued from a hard day's work, try a warm tub bath. You will be amazed at the comforting sense of relaxation and well-being it gives. In many instances, such a bath is an excellent cure for insomnia. One who has tossed in his bed for hours may be quieted and sent to sleep by this simple procedure. Usually the use of warm water is relaxing, while cold water is stimulating in its effect. To promote sleep, the former is better. For this reason it is best to enjoy a warm tub in the evening and a cold shower or bath in the morning upon arising.

Bridge

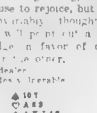
Two Chances In One

By JOSEPHINE CULBERTSON

A declarer may consider himself fortunate when, instead of a certain line of play being thrust upon him "on a take it or leave it basis," he can do his own choosing.

Of course if it is simply a question of guessing, there is no cause to rejoice, but almost invariably thoughtful analysis will point out a definite line in favor of one [illegible] over...

North dealer. Both sides vulnerable.



North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2♠	Pass
2♡	Pass	3NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

...

REMEMBER the paper cocked hats you used to make in your childhood to wear when you played soldier?

You may now have the same shape in felt, announced as the last word from London in Fall hats. It's called the "Paperboat" hat, and is taken to reach to satisfy the current flair for adventurous headgear. The "Paperboat" hat comes in black and the deep, rich colors of Fall—purplish wine, hunter's green and of course coronation red. It's new for early Autumn wear to pep up your fading winter wardrobe. Also spotted at Fall are matching sets of fine woolen sports turbans, scarfs and head bits decorated with [illegible] gleam in Morse code (dots and dashes to you).

Velvet cups studded with gold [illegible] ever-new nailheads will be worn about town for daylight dining, or to set the new black satin day-time frocks of the moment.

Napoleon — the glamour boy of [illegible] History lived in the pictorial effects of the present time and the old masters last season, the couturiers have seized on the Napoleon era as inspiration for new [illegible] and hats.

The Napoleon [illegible] one of the big names [illegible] ton hats, being p[illegible] "romantic headgear to [illegible] Either [illegible] Fifth [illegible] proper dressing and [illegible] panna velvet [illegible] ...erably black.

SHOPPING WITH PRISCILLA PRICE

Dearest Anne:

The tempting things in the shops and this brisk Fall weather make you want to spend just weeks doing nothing but shopping to your heart's content (Would that we all had budgets that would allow it, too!) I know you'll be excited about these new sales afoot so I want to tell you about

New Suedes in New Colors, $2

Dunn's would be first with these simple stunning suede pumps in all the newest colors. They're rich and expensive looking in Green, Burgundy Rose brown and of course, Black! I've sketched just one of these Dunne smart styles in Suede—but there's also good looking, in Pumps, Sandals and Oxfords—you'll love 'em. You can get them in both low and high heel styles! All sizes. Mail Orders, 10c Extra. Dunn's is at 85 Summer Street.

Coats Relined, $4!

Lining Material Included

Canny Bostonians eager for value-wise shopping [illegible] Fall [illegible] ...ive advantage of this [illegible] ...ecialists in [illegible] ...ercoats from Of course [illegible] ...ew about their [illegible] ...Silhouettes. Some [illegible] ...colors for dusk evening gowns and [illegible] ...A wards of practical [illegible] ...ing. Prices [illegible] ...special. Inspect [illegible] ...ing. Open [illegible] ...Telephone [illegible] ...Street. Limited [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible] ...12 Winter [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible]

Both Feet Treated, $1.00

Isn't it ridiculous to cause you...self [illegible] ...when [illegible] ...Paul F. [illegible] ...are the [illegible] ...foot specialists [illegible] ...keep your feet [illegible] ...good health [illegible] ...Dr. [illegible] ...Arch Supports [illegible] ...Paul F. [illegible] ...453 Washington [illegible] ...the Dexter Bldg. Tel. [illegible]

Individual Bobs Cut and Set, $1

It's simply fascinating to watch Harvey curl, snip and mould a girl's hair—and then design a wave that will bring out the very best in her. [illegible] ...a world [illegible] ...create him a [illegible] ...your hair look [illegible] ...beyond compare. [illegible] ...to the [illegible] ...and. He is now [illegible] ...ment [illegible] ...for a [illegible] ...ing appointment [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible] ...keys a beauty [illegible] ...shop [illegible] ...Dexter Bldg. and Washington St. Tel. [illegible]

More News From Your Priscilla's "Quick Change Artist" Department!

Here's the newest and cutest addition to your ever-on a wardrobe. It's Eugene Rogers' Topper that goes with every frock you love. Wear it as a bolero with a sport frock or dress and it will take a smart chic dress or suit to know...as it! I'm always watching for [illegible] bright ideas to fill your [illegible] because I know how you love to have changes rung on [illegible] things are new and as smart as these. By the way, I meant to tell you the price of the Topper is very moderate, only $1 per [illegible] Another thing you'll like about the Eugene Topper is that there's no measuring to [illegible] it on at the [illegible] ...around it will [illegible] ...New [illegible] ...the [illegible] ...ly the way [illegible] ...the [illegible] ...to take about [illegible] ...a smile [illegible] ...or White and red [illegible] ...green [illegible] ...Eugene. See this Topper in Eugene Neckwear Shop, street floor.

If Your Tan Is Fading—

...and [illegible] ...must [illegible] ...ner [illegible] ...and [illegible] ...Wave [illegible] ...Hair [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible]

I'm So Used to Thinking of Yvonne's As Unusual, I take it for Granted

They're [illegible] ...Alert [illegible] ...and [illegible] ...$1 [illegible] ...Manicure [illegible] ...recommended for [illegible] ...Inecto Rax Shampoo [illegible] ...Yvonne [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible]

Those Knockout "Fleecy" Sport Coats Are $15 Monday and Tuesday at Leeds!

They [illegible] ...a warm [illegible] ...comfort [illegible] ...and the very [illegible] ...ments that [illegible] ...here and [illegible] ...and a [illegible] ...Leeds [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible]

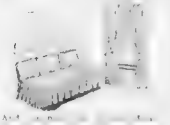
Inexpensive Permanent Wave $4.95

...Tel. [illegible]

Superfluous Hair

...Tel. [illegible]

The Cleaning 'Dearn't' at Lowest



...Tel. [illegible]

With This Clipping—Sweaters Cleaned, 5c—At Coolidge Cleansers

What a [illegible] ...Fall [illegible] ...cleaning [illegible] ...at [illegible] ...Tel. [illegible]

New England's Greatest Evening Newspaper

"Brush your teeth, Sonny"

A SIMPLE COMMAND THAT MEANS MILLIONS OF DOLLARS TO THE SOCIAL REGISTER OF AMERICAN BUSINESS

70% OF THE NATION'S TOOTHPASTE* IS SOLD BY ADVERTISERS IN THE AMERICAN WEEKLY!

T[illegible]

[illegible] to other advertisers? Just [illegible] of American business (see [illegible] at right) [illegible] they ALL [illegible] advertising effective [illegible] The American Weekly.

[illegible] these two vital [illegible] ONE market [illegible] the one all-power- [illegible] this market [illegible] at minimum [illegible]

Dentifrices—and Automobiles

70 of all Retail Sales

[illegible] you [illegible] countries buy [illegible] Take the United States by towns and cities and you find that one quarter of them, with 10,000 population and over, [illegible] The American Weekly [illegible] than 5,500,000 [illegible] two-thirds to fifty per [illegible] in 627 of the [illegible] cities where people BUY

No other national magazine has ever [illegible] vast and varied an audience. Social [illegible] stenographers, bankers and bookkeepers [illegible] spond to an editorial appeal which [illegible] six million families, living and spending in the world's richest market.

Where this magazine goes

The American Weekly [illegible] the largest [illegible] world. It is distributed through [illegible] newspapers. In [illegible] of America's 965 [illegible] of 10,000 population and over, The American Weekly [illegible] rates for [illegible] lines.

In each of 171 cities, it reaches better than one out of every two families
In 111 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families
In an additional 144 cities, 30 to 40%
In another 155 cities, 20 to 30%

[illegible] and in a [illegible] than 2,000,000 families in those [illegible] other communities [illegible] and read The American Weekly.

Note: [illegible]

Cock-A-Doodle-Doo!

August was the eighth consecutive [illegible] in 1936 that The American Weekly [illegible] its record [illegible] circulation and [illegible]

THE AMERICAN WEEKLY

Greatest Circulation in the World

"The National Magazine with Local Influence"

Main Offices: 959 Eighth Avenue, New York City

[illegible] Boston . . . Arcade Bldg., St. Louis . . . Edison Bldg., Los Angeles [illegible] . . . Hanna Bldg., Cleveland . . . 101 Marietta St., Atlanta

The SOCIAL REGISTER of AMERICAN BUSINESS

A partial list of important Advertisers in The American Weekly during 1934, 1935 and 1936

Adams [illegible] Laboratories, Inc.
Associated [illegible]
[illegible] Wallace Hopper
[illegible]
American Can Co.
American Chicle Co.
American [illegible] Products Co.
American [illegible]
American [illegible] Wood Corp.
American [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible] Tobacco Co.
Associated [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
Atlantic Refining Co.
[illegible]
Bauer & Black
[illegible]
Bon Ami Co., The Boston Varnish Co.
Brown Co., The A. S.
[illegible]
Bromo-Seltzer
Bulova Watch Co., Inc.
Burma-Vita Co.
Calox
Campbell Soup Co.
Carter Medicine Co., The
Chesebrough Mfg. Co., Consd'd
Chevrolet Motor Co.
Chrysler Corporation
[illegible]
Coca-Cola Co.
Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co.
Consolidated Cigar Co.
Continental Baking Corp.
Continental Can Co.
Corning Glass Works
Cream of Wheat Corp., The Crosley Radio Corp.
[illegible]
Cudahy Packing Co.
Cuticura
Dodge Brothers
Doubleday, Doran & Co., Inc.
Dr. Pepper Co.
Eastman Kodak Co.
Electric Auto-Lite Co., The Electric Refrigerator Corp.
Emerson Drug Co.
Ethyl Gasoline Corp.
Fels & Co.
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.
Ford Motor Co.
Forhan Co.
Frigidaire Corp.
Gardner-Richardson
General Baking Co.
General Cigar Co., Inc.
General Electric Co.
General Foods Corp.
General Mills, Inc.
General Motors Corp.
Gillette Safety Razor Co.
Gimbel Bros.
Goodrich Co., B. F.
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.
Grape-Nuts
Gruen Watch Co.
Hall Bros.
Hamilton Watch Co.
Hartford Fire Insurance Co.
Heinz Co., H. J.
Hires Co., Charles E.
Hoover Co., The Household Finance Corp.
Hudson Motor Car Co.
Hupp Motor Car Corp.
Ingersoll Watch Co.
Insurance Co. of North America
International Harvester Co.
Jergens Co., Andrew
Jewel Tea Co., Inc.
Johnson & Johnson
Kellogg Co.
Kelvinator Corp.
Kendall Refining Co.
Kleenex
Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corp.
Lambert Co., The
Lehn & Fink, Inc.
Lever Brothers Co.
Life Savers Corp.
Lifebuoy
Lifebuoy Health Soap
Lipton, Inc., Thomas J.
Listerine
Lorillard Co., P.
Lucky Strike
Maltex
Manufacturers Trust Co.
Marmon Motor Car Co.
Mars, Inc.
Mennen Co., The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.
Miles Laboratories, Inc.
Minute Tapioca Co.
Mobilgas
Mobiloil
Nash Motors
National Biscuit Co.
National Carbon Co., Inc.
National Dairy Products Corp.
National Distillers Products Corp.
National Lead Co.
Nestlé's Milk Products, Inc.
Nujol
Oldsmobile
Owens-Illinois Glass Co.
Packard Motor Car Co.
Palmolive Soap
Pepsodent Co., The Pet Milk Sales Corp.
Pharmaceutical Extract Co., The
Philco Radio & Television Corp.
Phillips Chemical Co., The Pillsbury Flour Mills Co., Inc.
Pinaud, Inc.
Pond's Extract Co.
Procter & Gamble Co., The Prudential Insurance Co. of America
Quaker Oats Company, The Radio Corporation of America
Remington Rand, Inc.
Revere Copper & Brass, Inc.
Reynolds Tobacco Co., R. J.
Rinso
Ritz Carlton Hotel Co., The
Rockwell Co., Fred W.
Royal Typewriter Co., Inc.
Sal Hepatica
Schaefer Brewing Co., F. & M.
Schlitz Brewing Co., The Jos.
Scott Paper Co.
Seagram-Distillers Corp.
Sealy Mattress Co.
Sears, Roebuck & Co.
Shell Union Oil Corp.
Simmons Co.
Singer Sewing Machine Co.
Sloan's Liniment
Smith Bros.
Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc.
Spiegel, May, Stern Co.
Standard Brands, Inc.
Standard Oil Co. (Indiana)
Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey)
Standard Oil Co. of California
Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky
Standard Oil Co. of Minnesota
Stanley Home Products, Inc.
Stewart-Warner Corp.
Studebaker Corp., The Sun Oil Co.
Sunkist
Swift & Co.
Swift International, Ltd.
Texas Co., The
Timken Roller Bearing Co.
Tums
Union Carbide & Carbon Corp.
United Air Lines Transport Corp.
United Drug Co.
United Fruit Co.
United States Rubber Co.
United States Steel Corporation
Vick Chemical Co.
Vitalis
Wander Co., The Warner-Hudnut, Inc.
Waterman Co., L. E.
Wesson Oil
Western Electric Co.
Western Union Telegraph Co.
Westinghouse Electric & Mfg. Co.
White Motor Co.
Wilson & Co., Inc.
Wrigley Jr. Co., Wm.
Yeast Foam
Yeast Foam Tablets
Yeast Vitamin Tablets
Zonite Products Corp.

What $18,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world. Over [illegible] families at a cost of about ½ cent per family. [illegible] at the same time [illegible] instead of [illegible]

BILL GRIMES FOLLOWS BAY STATE GOLFERS IN U. S. AMATEUR

Turn to Page 14, Sports Section

THIS IS LIFE

By Robert E. Rogers

When I Call Come in Boy

Delayed by Wet With Proper Inquiries

From Such an Acorn Grew Harvard Oak

Sports BOSTON AMERICAN Comics

SEVEN DAYS A WEEK — EVENING NEWSPAPER

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER

VITAMIN BALLYHOO DERIDED

Food Unit Juggling Advised

SAVANT BARES HANGOVER AID

For [illegible] she's a tube cap [illegible] stuffed [illegible] and marked [illegible] on the face of a dead [illegible] were [illegible] demonstrated by Dr. [illegible] Medical Director of Toronto's Memorial Laboratory, as Harvard's all important med[illegible] conference got under way at the tercentenary today.

[illegible]

Hits Vitamins

No advantage to the public health will be gained by any boast on the increased amounts in which vitamins occur in ordinary foodstuffs. There is only intelligent understanding of the facts.

To detect diet deficiencies and to remedy them by urging supplements of manufactured concentrates will not solve the problem.

Experience tells us that a balanced diet of natural foodstuffs like milk, fish, fresh vegetables, fruit, butter, eggs and with ample protein of good quality, gives the best results.

Juggle Units

[illegible] energy.

Said Dr. Minot:

"The addition of vitamins and minerals does not explain cures. The desire to be a slim young lady may lead to results but not necessarily to a diet disease.

[illegible]

"In the case of the alcohol addict there is reason to believe that the large number of calories ingested as alcohol lead to an increased requirement for accessory food factors."

Hangover Cure

Alcohol in itself has no direct poisonous effect on peripheral nerve tissue.

Scientist From India Parries Weird Questions of Reporters

Humanity's Problems Fails to Concern Mathematician

By ANN MARSTERS

[illegible]

Reporter Trouble

(Picture from International News Photos to Boston Evening American)

T. VIJAYARAGHAVAN ANN MARSTERS

T. Vijayaraghavan, Bengal, India, mathematical scientist, who is attending Harvard Tercentenary conference, and Ann Marsters, Boston Evening American feature writer.

Too Complicated

[illegible]

Fascinating Study

[illegible]

Bengal Teacher Visits Harvard

GREEN MILLIONS

Widow, Sister Vie for Fortune

Elizabethtown, N. Y., Sept. 14 (AP) — Two women [illegible] Mabel Harlow Green, of S[illegible]

[illegible]

Traffic Tangles At Police Station

A serious traffic jam developed [illegible]

[illegible]

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Count Covadonga "Slightly Better"

[illegible]

Drops Dead in Street

[illegible]

Henry Fonda Weds Wednesday

New York, Sept. 14 (AP) — Mr[illegible] will marry Henry Fonda the actor, Wednesday afternoon in Christ [illegible]

[illegible]

The couple will leave immediately [illegible]

[illegible]

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Commuters' Train Held Up by Bridge

Beverly, Sept. 14 — Hundreds of North Shore commuters were late [illegible]

SITTING SIZE, SIR?

Harvard Says 33 Inches Per Man

Sitting on a chair, how much [illegible] chanel, the engineers went to Harvard square and asked for the [illegible] Today, they will go to work on [illegible]

Mr. Average Person [illegible]

[illegible]

Women Do All Work When They Marry

[illegible]

All the time the women work, no play. The men play all the time after marriage. Man marries a girl when he becomes 17. Then she does all the work. He just goes out, drinks and smokes and looks for booze when we pass. Women do everything else.

Women watch to see that the girls not go out after sunset. All right for the boys but the law of the tribe says that girls stay at home after sundown. We teach girls to read fortunes. When they grow up they read like this:

[illegible]

Monkey Competes With Harvard Conference

[illegible]

ANN MARSTERS

GIRL ABOUT TOWN

By Ann Marsters

Have your fortune told by scientific way. Past, present and future.

[illegible]

PHONE YOUR NEWS TIPS TO THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN AND SHARE IN $50 CASH AWARDS THAT ARE OFFERED EACH WEEK

Do you want to make some money for spending a few [illegible] Boston American and the Sunday [illegible] Advertisers are presenting the opportunity. Every week a total of $50 in prizes will be given for news tips telephoned in to the News Tip Editor at Liberty 4000. There will be given $25 weekly for the best first exclusive news tip received, $10 for the next best, $5 for the next best and $1 prizes for each of the 10 next most valuable tips.

GUILFORD WINS OPENER BY ONE UP

SIEGE GUN TAKES EIGHTEENTH WITH BIRDIE

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS
NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER
BOSTON, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1931

AUSTEN LAKE

Tears for Harlow, Experts Weep for Harvard's 'Martyr'

THE FOOTBALL EXPERTS ARE UNANIMOUSLY picking Harvard to lose its big football games again this fall, gallantly of course, but indubitably. The experts are weeping little editorial ink jets for Dick Harlow, the gridiron martyr and oology professor, who is holding his inaugural practice at Soldiers Field tomorrow.

Austen Lake

(Later Sections only.)

PRINCETON'S PLAN

THIS MAKES IT GENERALLY SAFER FOR the football writer to poke up the Harvards about their various failings. Dick Harlow, poke up the old situation of the natives getting restless and make he ever stand views of other methods. Watch the press prompt to set down and write [illegible] Harvard's first practice as they newspapers [illegible] as a sweetheart valentine, trounced with paper lace and hearts entwined.

THEY DID IT WITHOUT MIRRORS

MY PRINCETON FRIENDS ASSURE ME that these incidents were obtained by legitimate means and that when Crisler came to reorganize the football department, he made a tactful and persuasive tour of the chain of Princeton alumni clubs across the country. Very soon thereafter the shooters, each and all, dropped using Princeton as their springboard to [illegible] and became respectable contenders in their respective conferences. Princeton's performance and record today [illegible] each constitute the keynote of the balance of sports drama and personality.

THERE IS NOTHING SINISTER OR DAMNABLE [illegible]

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1931

RECORD CROWD SEEN AT GOLF CARNIVAL

BAY STATE STARS IN CHASE FOR AMATEUR CROWN

CHARITY Match on SUNDAY

BASKET FUND BENEFITS

By WALTER KILEY

Lawson Little and slugging Jimmy Thomson have served notice on Francis Ouimet and Jesse Guilford of what the latter might expect when they clash in the feature of the New England golf carnival at Belmont Country Club next Sunday afternoon.

FRED WRIGHT, Massachusetts golf champion for many years, is one of the many well-heeled stars from this section who has hopes of bringing the U. S. amateur golf championship back to Boston.

Finishes 2nd

Hole-in-One Tourney Nears

ABOVE, IN CENTER, we have Joe Lynch, first winner of the Hearst Annual Junior New England golf championship back in 1928, who has won many tournaments since and is certain to be a factor in the title play which gets underway today. Below us none other than Francis Ouimet.

Supervises Work

[illegible] Cubs Officially Out of League

[illegible] was today without a representative in the Canadian-American [illegible] after formal [illegible] from the [illegible] at a New York [illegible] Ross, general manager of the [illegible] of Boston Garden [illegible] Cubs management.

Still Head Will Aid Golfers

By LAWSON LITTLE

[illegible] Amateur titles for two years [illegible]

[illegible] body should revolve around the head and backbone. The backswing is made by a turn-

Continued on Page 15, Column 5

Hole-in-One Entry Blank

Here you are, scers! Here's your entry blank for the Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser [illegible] be held beginning Monday, September 21. [illegible] eligible. Send your entry blank to the Golf Editor, Boston Evening American-Sunday Advertiser, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston.

Name .....

Home Club .....

Home Address .....

Home Telephone .....

Have you ever made a hole in one? .....

Time Preference (Between what hours?) .....

—VOTE AMERICAN—

WRIGHT Has Soft MATCH

GOODMAN IN EASY VICTORY

By BILL GRIMES

Garden City, L. I., N. Y., Sept 14—After a nip and tuck match from start to finish, during which neither contender was more than one hole up, Jesse P. Guilford of Woodland canned a 14-foot putt for a deuce on the home green to eliminate Chris Reinke, Oak[illegible]

Jesse Victor

WILFRED CROSSLEY of Norfolk, long prominent in leading amateur golf tournaments throughout New England is after National recognition at Garden City, Long Island.

Hard Fight

Amateur Tally

Ray Billows, Poughkeepsie N. Y. defeated Philip Simms, Long Meadow, Mass., 1 and [illegible]

Horace H. Day, Hartford, defeated John [illegible] Woodland, N. J., 3 and 1.

Charles Whitehead, Jamesburg, N. J., defeated Lew Byrne, Hartford, by one up.

Jess W. Sweetser, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., defeated Lewis Wright, King[illegible] Jersey, 3 and 2.

John Goodman, Omaha, Neb., defeated Hunter Hess, Chicago, 1 and 0.

Carl Dyer, Oxford, Pa., defeated W. B. Dowman, Jr., Richmond, Va., 2 up.

Walter Reeves, Kansas City, Mo., defeated H. G. Bowles, Southport, England, 2 up and 1.

Roger Kirk, Los Angeles, defeated William Chalmers, Chicago, one up.

Jesse P. Guilford, Boston, defeated Chris Reinke, Delray, one up.

THE AMERICAN New England's Greatest Evening Newspaper MONDAY

DISCOVERY DUE FOR EASY WIN, SAYS RIDER

Mr. Boston

Berger Goes on Block

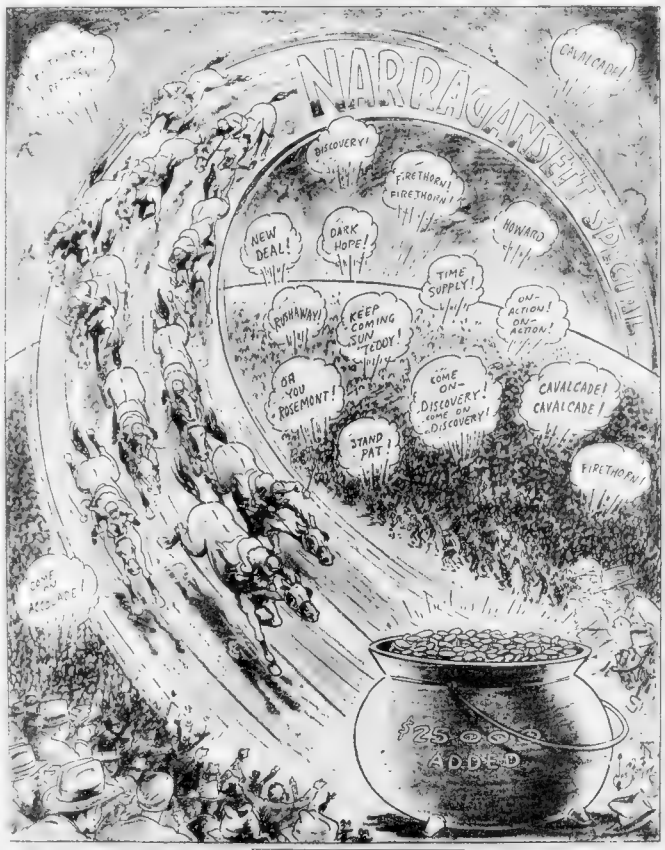
By A. KENNAN

$100.00 Profit

READY For 'Gansett SPECIAL

ACTION FACES BIG TEST

'Gansett Dream Comes True---Les Stout



CHAPLIN Hurls Red FINAL

McKECHNIE IS REAL PROPHET

By JOE CASHMAN

Season's happenings prove Bill McKechnie as clever a prophet as he is a pilot, which means he's the tops in both lines

Best Pitcher

Hitting Slump

CRUCIAL Test for CARDS

MEET GIANTS IN FINALE

Entering the third and final game of their crucial series in New York this afternoon, the Giants and St. Louis Cardinals are no worse off than when they started

Record

RED SOX Face Bridges IN DETROIT

Composite Averages

RED SOX

Players	G.	AB.	R.	BH.	2B.	3B.	HR.	RBI.	SB.	Pct.	PO.	A.	E.	Pct.
[illegible]	111	376	175	104	20	7	18	128	12	.277	1120	46	12	.951
R. Berger, p.	38	102	85	123	24	6	5	54	0	.375	563	53	11	.965
[illegible]	32	274	35	84	17	3	4	43	0	.307	141	149	15	.952
[illegible]	29	47	10	14	2	1	1	4	0	.298	18	1	0	1.000
Gannon, cf.	86	316	45	92	14	6	0	45	1	.291	111	5	3	.974
Cramer, cf.	12	50	10	18	6	0	0	10	4	.360	23	1	0	1.000
[illegible]	77	281	39	80	21	3	6	37	4	.285	150	24	5	.973
Russell, ss.	31	7	2	2	0	0	0	0	0	.286	6	10	2	.889
Merritt, rf.-2b.-ss.	123	427	67	130	16	1	11	71	2	.304	212	120	7	.979
Warner, ss.-2b.-cf.	117	502	86	141	20	4	10	66	22	.281	188	337	29	.945
[illegible]	3	12	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	.167	5	8	1	.929
Cissell, ss.	104	338	45	95	20	3	0	43	4	.281	208	4	6	.973
Bridges, p.	33	103	9	29	5	0	1	15	0	.282	9	29	3	.926
[illegible]	87	319	39	88	14	1	1	29	4	.276	188	18	2	.987
[illegible]	35	74	7	20	4	1	0	13	0	.270	31	0	0	1.000
Marberry, p.	84	236	26	63	8	0	0	27	0	.267	267	20	10	.975
[illegible]	41	83	7	22	3	0	0	7	0	.265	16	1	1	.944
Wilson, p.	45	42	4	11	2	0	0	4	0	.262	9	55	1	.984
[illegible]	41	42	4	11	3	0	0	4	0	.262	3	7	0	1.000
Mahaffey, p.	4	3	0	1	1	0	0	1	0	.333	0	2	0	1.000
Mann, p.	3	3	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	.333	0	0	0	.000
[illegible]	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	.000	0	0	0	.000
[illegible]	3	3	0	1	1	0	0	1	0	.333	8	0	0	1.000

BEES

Players	G.	AB.	R.	BH.	2B.	3B.	HR.	RBI.	SB.	Pct.	PO.	A.	E.	Pct.
[illegible]	155	592	77	161	36	5	5	59	1	.272	1128	83	5	.993
[illegible]	154	551	107	155	34	3	7	58	3	.281	309	399	24	.967
Manush, rf.	139	564	87	183	32	10	11	91	1	.325	283	26	19	.941
[illegible]	154	573	104	169	24	4	21	60	2	.295	335	15	7	.980
Frisch, 3b.	75	35	15	15	0	0	0	2	0	.283	47	12	1	.983
[illegible]	90	324	46	100	20	3	2	52	0	.309	221	331	26	.955
Hurst, c.	37	101	10	28	1	2	2	8	0	.277	209	38	4	.984
Lamanno, c.	135	353	40	102	20	3	5	55	0	.289	582	98	7	.979
[illegible]	108	353	48	108	18	2	2	42	0	.282	87	147	18	.928
[illegible]	111	411	61	124	30	2	8	73	0	.302	222	248	20	.959
[illegible]	3	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	.000	1	10	0	1.000
[illegible]	172	640	68	188	31	6	7	68	2	.294	415	45	11	.976
[illegible]	3	12	1	3	0	0	0	1	0	.250	2	1	0	1.000
[illegible]	83	83	5	17	2	0	0	4	0	.205	18	64	1	.988
[illegible]	89	303	33	85	6	0	0	32	0	.281	178	273	18	.961
[illegible]	18	47	1	8	2	0	0	4	0	.204	8	33	0	1.000
Cantrell, p.	31	59	4	15	1	0	0	5	0	.254	3	9	0	1.000
Chagnon, p.	56	74	8	15	1	1	0	5	0	.203	10	34	4	.914
[illegible]	56	64	3	13	1	0	0	5	0	.203	7	31	4	.911
Bush, p.	11	20	2	3	0	0	0	0	0	.150	4	11	0	1.000
McFayden, p.	35	76	4	14	3	0	0	8	0	.184	5	33	2	.952
[illegible]	1	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	.000	0	1	0	1.000

PITCHERS RECORDS

RED SOX

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Weiland	3	1	.625
Ferrell	12	11	.607
W. Ferrell	18	15	.545
Welch	16	7	.842
Marberry	13	15	.464
Hemsley-spelled	10	16	.385
Russell	0	1	.000
Mewa	0	2	.000

BEES

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Mark-spelled	16	12	.571
Reis	6	5	.545
Cantrell	6	8	.429
Smith	5	8	.385
Lanning	10	6	.625
Chaplin	5	9	.357
Weir	1	3	.250
Bush	2	3	.375

SHAMROCK Team Shows POWER

By MURRAY KRAMER

Redskins Scalped By Pirates

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Frasers Capture Baseball Title

All-Stars of Lynn today

TABLE OF RUNS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Club.	Batting.	Run.	Total.
Boston	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Brooklyn	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Philadelphia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Pittsburgh	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cincinnati	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
St. Louis	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Clubs—New York	Batting.	Run.	Total.
Clubs—Detroit.	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
BOSTON	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
New York	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Washington	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Philadelphia	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Cleveland	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Detroit	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Chicago	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
St. Louis	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

Today in Sport

GOLF

Lady-Pro Scotch foursomes at Weston Gc, 2 p. m.

TENNIS

Massachusetts public parks tournament at Franklin field, 10 a. m.

HORSES

Brockton Fair show, 2:30 p. m.; Narragansett park race meet at Lawtucket, R. I., 2:15 p. m.

FOOTBALL

Meeting N. E. F. B. officials at Hotel Lenox, 8 p. m.

BASEBALL

Cincinnati vs. Boston Bees at National League field, 3 p. m.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Burke Again

Greenwich, Ct., Sept. 13—John Burke of Providence paired with Charles G. Pettijohn, Jr., to win the John D. Chapman memorial four-ball golf tournament at the Greenwich Country Club.

Riggs Advances

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Partridge Wins

—VOTE AMERICAN—

BASEBALL

NATIONAL LEAGUE

AMERICAN LEAGUE

RESULTS YESTERDAY

GAMES TODAY

NATIONAL LEAGUE FIELD
TODAY AT 3:00
BEES vs. CINCINNATI

PREFERS THIS TOBACCO FOR SHEER, SOLID COMFORT

CHARLES WILKINSON is one of several Tennessee mountaineers who boarded a Chesapeake & Northern Diesel. "I'm a P. A. booster from 'way back," he says. "That 'bite' proves extra tast and flavor." "Try Prince Albert entirely at our risk. Read our money-back offer.

Smoke 20 fragrant pipefuls of Prince Albert. If you don't find the mellowest, tastiest pipe tobacco you ever smoked, return the pocket tin with the rest of the tobacco in it to us at any time within a month from the date, and we will refund full purchase price, plus postage. (Signed) R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Regarding "tongue bite" cigarettes: Real cool is Prince Albert and enjoy a better cigarette!

© 1935, R. J. Reynolds Tob. Co.

PRINCE ALBERT
THE NATIONAL JOY SMOKE

PRAIRIE DOG WILSON'S BEST BET

Revised Line, Jockeys at 'Gansett

Sailing, Sailing Over the Water Jump

(Picture from International News Pictures, Inc.)

Nu Sensation, a clean leap over Lucky Hour, second race on program at the Rockaway Steeplechase Association meet Blackcock won this race, David Snoot was second.

SCRATCHES

AT NARRAGANSETT

AT BELMONT PARK

AT LINCOLN FIELDS

AT DETROIT

AT HAVRE DE GRACE

Program Selections At 'Gansett

BIG SIX

TAP'S TIPS

—NATIONAL LEAGUE—

Home Run Standing

By the Associated Press

YESTERDAY'S HOMERUNS

DiMaggio, Yankees, 31; Gehrig, Yankees, 29; Powell, Yankees, 27; Ott, Giants, 27; Foxx, Red Sox, 25; Kreevich, Red Sox, 25; Hayes, Indians, 24; Averill, Indians, 23; Bell, Cardinals, 23; Berger, Braves, 23; Medwick, Cardinals, 23; Camilli, Dodgers, 22; Demaree, Cubs, 22; Lombardi, Reds, 22; Vaughan, Pirates, 22; Ripple, Braves, 21; Lavagetto, Dodgers, 21; Mancuso, Giants, 21; Mize, Cardinals, 21; Ruffing, Yankees, 21; Slaughter, Cardinals, 21; Suhr, Pirates, 21; Walker, Cardinals, 21; Whitehead, Cubs, 21; Leiber, Cubs, 20; Lopez, Braves, 20; Manush, Braves, 20; Ott, Giants, 20; Waner, Pirates, 20; Wilson, Cubs, 20; Lewis, Braves, 19; Moore, Cardinals, 19; Ripple, Braves, 19; Vaughan, Pirates, 19; Walker, Cardinals, 19; Whitehead, Cubs, 19; Leiber, Cubs, 18; Lopez, Braves, 18; Manush, Braves, 18; Ott, Giants, 18; Waner, Pirates, 18; Wilson, Cubs, 18; Lewis, Braves, 17; Moore, Cardinals, 17; Ripple, Braves, 17; Vaughan, Pirates, 17; Walker, Cardinals, 17; Whitehead, Cubs, 17; Leiber, Cubs, 16; Lopez, Braves, 16; Manush, Braves, 16; Ott, Giants, 16; Waner, Pirates, 16; Wilson, Cubs, 16; Lewis, Braves, 15; Moore, Cardinals, 15; Ripple, Braves, 15; Vaughan, Pirates, 15; Walker, Cardinals, 15; Whitehead, Cubs, 15; Leiber, Cubs, 14; Lopez, Braves, 14; Manush, Braves, 14; Ott, Giants, 14; Waner, Pirates, 14; Wilson, Cubs, 14; Lewis, Braves, 13; Moore, Cardinals, 13; Ripple, Braves, 13; Vaughan, Pirates, 13; Walker, Cardinals, 13; Whitehead, Cubs, 13; Leiber, Cubs, 12; Lopez, Braves, 12; Manush, Braves, 12; Ott, Giants, 12; Waner, Pirates, 12; Wilson, Cubs, 12; Lewis, Braves, 11; Moore, Cardinals, 11; Ripple, Braves, 11; Vaughan, Pirates, 11; Walker, Cardinals, 11; Whitehead, Cubs, 11; Leiber, Cubs, 10; Lopez, Braves, 10; Manush, Braves, 10; Ott, Giants, 10; Waner, Pirates, 10; Wilson, Cubs, 10; Lewis, Braves, 9; Moore, Cardinals, 9; Ripple, Braves, 9; Vaughan, Pirates, 9; Walker, Cardinals, 9; Whitehead, Cubs, 9; Leiber, Cubs, 8; Lopez, Braves, 8; Manush, Braves, 8; Ott, Giants, 8; Waner, Pirates, 8; Wilson, Cubs, 8; Lewis, Braves, 7; Moore, Cardinals, 7; Ripple, Braves, 7; Vaughan, Pirates, 7; Walker, Cardinals, 7; Whitehead, Cubs, 7; Leiber, Cubs, 6; Lopez, Braves, 6; Manush, Braves, 6; Ott, Giants, 6; Waner, Pirates, 6; Wilson, Cubs, 6; Lewis, Braves, 5; Moore, Cardinals, 5; Ripple, Braves, 5; Vaughan, Pirates, 5; Walker, Cardinals, 5; Whitehead, Cubs, 5; Leiber, Cubs, 4; Lopez, Braves, 4; Manush, Braves, 4; Ott, Giants, 4; Waner, Pirates, 4; Wilson, Cubs, 4; Lewis, Braves, 3; Moore, Cardinals, 3; Ripple, Braves, 3; Vaughan, Pirates, 3; Walker, Cardinals, 3; Whitehead, Cubs, 3; Leiber, Cubs, 2; Lopez, Braves, 2; Manush, Braves, 2; Ott, Giants, 2; Waner, Pirates, 2; Wilson, Cubs, 2; Lewis, Braves, 1; Moore, Cardinals, 1; Ripple, Braves, 1; Vaughan, Pirates, 1; Walker, Cardinals, 1; Whitehead, Cubs, 1; Leiber, Cubs, 0; Lopez, Braves, 0; Manush, Braves, 0; Ott, Giants, 0; Waner, Pirates, 0; Wilson, Cubs, 0

—AMERICAN LEAGUE—

Net Titlist

GIANTS ARE IN, SAYS BILL CORUM

YANKS TO TAKE SERIES

By BILL CORUM

New York, Sept. 14—Some 30,000 persons, turned away from the Polo Grounds yesterday after 64,417 had got in, still think baseball is the national pastime.

in fact, they can't lose, simply by matching strides with the Cards and Cubs. There doesn't seem to be a winning streak left in any one of the three teams.

Yesterday's divided double-header with the Giants. They can win,

Narragansett Race Entries

FOR TUESDAY, SEPT. 15

FIRST RACE—$1000, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles

Pinto Pony 105 Bea Queen
Pay Check 115
Peppers 112
Grog Mist 115
Quiet Lass 112
The Work 112
SECOND RACE—
year-olds, maiden
Grand Sir 107
Arrived Pearl 112
Dr. Fell 112
Julius Relief 112
THIRD RACE—$1000, claiming, 3-year-olds and up, 1 1-16 miles
Irradiated 106
FOURTH RACE—
Lady Higloss 112
Sandy Bee 112
Rolling Tracks 112
FIFTH RACE—
Where Marie 105
Mario Play 105
Whynwick 109
Believe Prod 109
House Maid 109

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Pitching Choices

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Pittsburgh at Philadelphia (2)—Lucas and Swift vs. Johnson and Bence.

St. Louis at New York—Dean vs Hubbell.

Cincinnati at BOSTON—Derringer vs. Chaplin.

Chicago at Brooklyn—Henshaw vs. Mungo.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Washington at Chicago (2)—Newsom and Appleton vs. Lyons and Kennedy.

BOSTON at Detroit—Wilson or Henry vs. Bridges.

(Only games scheduled)

Judge Puffle :: Gene Ahearn

BUT, JUTCH—WRITING NAMES UND ADDRESSES ON LEDDERS SHOULDNT BE SO HART VORK!— UND ONLY TOR SIX VEEKS—ACH, DOT ISS A SKINCH!—VY, SINCE SEFEN YEAR OLT I HAF VORK LIKE A CLOCK, ONLY VUNCE STOPPING FOR REMOOF, DER AXPENDER CITJS. YAH!
BUT YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND! IT ISN'T THAT I OBJECT TO WORK —ITS THE KIND! —ADDRESSING ENVELOPES FOR A POLITICAL LITERATURE CAMPAIGN!
YOU CAN'T
AND YOU HAVE WRITTEN BOOKS ON TRAVEL, SCIENCE, ARCHAEOLOGY, EMPIRE-BUILDING, KIPLING OR SHAW.
YOUR HOBBY WILL BE GOLF! JUDGE!
BOOKS LIKE YOUR RECORD

CHOICE Goes in FIRST

LADY HIGLOSS IN FOURTH

By DAVE WILSON

Selections made for fast track.

BEST BET—PRAIRIE DOG, 1st

Narragansett Park, Sept. 14—E. D. Shaffer's Prairie Dog, on the strength of a recent bangup second to Rebecca Lee, merits standout figures over indifferent maiden juveniles opposing him in the six furlongs of the first number here today.

Prairie Dog will be ridden by the capable Danny Bennett and is easily the outstanding wagering proposition on the eight race card.

FIRST RACE

Prairie Dog, Rather, High Velocity

SECOND RACE

Bull Market, Vemour, Bay Hero

THIRD RACE

Merovech, Zulu Lad, Dark War

FOURTH RACE

Lady Higloss, Happy Knot, Bill Farnsworth

FIFTH RACE

Crow's Flight, Lady Bewithus

SIXTH RACE

Rock Point, Kingsbridge Sand

SEVENTH RACE

Scotch Soldier, Unlawful, Thisway

EIGHTH RACE

The Triumvir, Blandishment, Claimant

SUBSTITUTE

Jackfull, Nurse, Choice Goods

COLLYER'S SPORT OF KINGS COMMENT

By BERT E. COLLYER

Detroit

Still Head Means Good Golf

Continued from Page 14

Wentworth Coach Greets Team

Sports Mirror

By the Associated Press

'Gansett Mutuels

BROCKTON FAIR
OPENS TONIGHT for the First of the Week
Tonight's the night—get the dishes done and start. The gates swing open at 5 P.M. to HAPPYLAND
First performance of the premier show
"HOLLYWOODS NUTSHOW"
a dashing, dazzling light opera, vaudeville and [illegible] with 100 artists
GENERAL ADMISSION 50¢ Same Your Car in Our Grounds

EVERETT HIGH HAS WEALTH OF MATERIAL

Birthday Greetings

To Jim O'Leary At 75

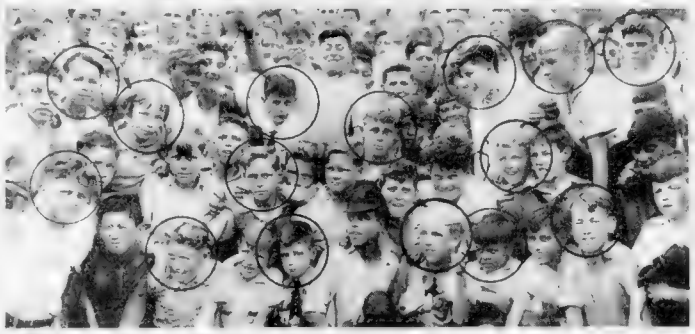
By DAVE EGAN

GILDEA Has Title CHANCE

STAR STUDDED LINEUP

Coach Denny Gildea of Everett High school, poor fellow, is in a quandary — he has so many good football players he doesn't know what to do. A quandary severa other schoolboy football coaches would like to find themselves in.

Prizes Ahead for Circled X-9 Members



THESE HAPPY YOUNG people represent only a small part of the record crowd of Boston Evening American Secret Agent X-9 members who attended Saturday's game between the Bees and the Pittsburgh Pirates as guests of President Bob Quinn. Just look at those rings. Are you inside of one? If so just bring your Secret Agent's Badge and official membership card to the Big Chief's office, Boston American, Winthrop square, and receive a valuable prize consisting of either roller skates, baseball or football equipment.

(Story on page 2)

McCOY Ready for STAHL

PAIR MEET FOR CHARITY

Bob "Bibber" McCoy, breaking away from the Paul Bowser troupe and starting a Boston wrestling war by the move, meets Dick Stahl in the main bout of the Boston Arena show tomorrow night for the benefit of the Boston Evening American Christmas Basket Fund.

Radio Flashes

Role for Ruth Chatterton On Air Tonight

By N. E. T.

Harvard Football Hopes Run High

By WALTER KILEY

Harvard's hopes run high but its possibilities appear limited on the eve of the opening of Richard C. Harlow's second season at the Crimson football helm tomorrow.

Prizes for X-9 Members

Several hundreds of Boston American Secret Agents flocked to the Fenway yesterday to witness the game between the Bees and the Pittsburgh Pirates as guests of President Bob Quinn.

A [illegible] the special [illegible] the largest Agents attendance [illegible] the annual [illegible] members who are now [illegible] stronger than ever.

And the Big Chief of the X-9 members was on hand to [illegible] sentiments shown at [illegible] that [illegible] prizes really are.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

26 Sophomores On Tufts Squad

Eager for Game

I spent the summer with Capt [illegible] ey at the Harvard military [illegible] e camp at Fort Ethan Allen and the latter asserts that Adils' attitude is changed and that he is eager to get back to the game.

Charlie Considine, of Newton High is one who looks for great things from Alex Kevorkian, the tackle who was ineligible a year ago. The Newton boy is big, fast and rugged. Considine, who coached him as a schoolboy and followed his spring practice fortunes, claims that he will be a standout. Charlie is seldom wrong.

[illegible] Harvard's smartest end [illegible] has a pair of veteran wings [illegible] Kennedy and Peter Knapp [illegible] ing Jones, a sharp star [illegible] freshman team and brother [illegible] Hal, Class of '32, great end, [illegible] a fine runner [illegible] e Bowser and Pete Allen [illegible] Bob Jones at the [illegible] ex-record center. Jeff Tarr [illegible] of Hyde Park High a [illegible] e waterfront during spring [illegible] had high hopes [illegible] [illegible] Tarpey [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] who saw Yale [illegible]

Sport Stamp

Sport Stamp

Gilmour Dobie [illegible] fall was an [illegible] at Montana where he graduated in [illegible] coach there to [illegible] Washington where he served as an assistant [illegible] he went to [illegible] Dobie [illegible] Agriculture [illegible] year where he produced [illegible] [illegible] Cal Hubbard [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

FLOYD GIBBONS' PAGE OF THRILLS AND MYSTERY

A Wail in the Closet

Elsie Parker of South Boston Tells Her Tale of the Baby's Ghost

By FLOYD GIBBONS

Floyd Gibbons will pay good money for good TRUE adventure stories. Hundreds of people in Boston and nearby towns have received ten-dollar and hundred-dollar bills for their yarns, and there's no reason why you can't do the same, for, as Floyd says, everybody has had at least one adventure. Fred A. Carlson of 52 Dearness road, Boston, won one hundred and ten dollars for the story of his life's biggest moment, and you can do the same. For further details, see the box at the right side of the page.

HOW TO WIN
$100.00
And Membership in The Floyd Gibbons Adventurers' Club

LESSON FOR MOTHER!

EASY to keep children's hands and knees CLEAN
Lava . . . a remarkable pumice soap . . . works like magic
LAVA Soap

SECRET AGENT X9 — The G-Man Reads Between the Lines

HERE'S AN "O AND G" ADVERTISEMENT. IT MAY CONTAIN INSTRUCTIONS FROM WASHINGTON! GET OUT THE CODE-BOOK AND LETS SEE.
HERE'S AN ITEM: NEW SHIPMENT OF GROCERIES DIRECT FROM LITTLE ROCK—SPECIAL LOW PRICES—LOOK INTO OUR PRICES BEFORE SHOPPING WAIT!
HERE'S THE ANSWER! 320 IN CHARGE OF HIGHWAY GANG—640 HAS TWENTY MEN AT CCC CAMP!
OLD TRUSTY MEANS PLENTO SHE MUST BE SOMEBODY IMPORTANT THAT JOB! LETS GO!

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK — "Two Is Company"

MR LOWRY IS AN OLD FRIEND OF THE FAMILY, CAPT CLARK
AND AN EXTRA GOOD FRIEND OF MISS LACEY'S, I PRESUME?
I WOULDN'T BE HERE IF I DIDN'T THINK SO, CAPTAIN
BUT I DON'T UNDERSTAND WHY LORA SECRETLY RAN AWAY FROM ME! SHE KNEW I'D FIND HER SOONER OR LATER—NO MATTER WHERE SHE'D GO
YOU DON'T ACT LIKE YOU'RE VERY HAPPY TO SEE ME, LORA
I'M NOT, GREGORY, AND I KNOW UNCLE AND AUNT E WILL BE FURIOUS BECAUSE YOU'RE HERE
GOSH—TIM—CAPT CLARK LOOKS LIKE HE'S LOST HIS LAST FRIEND
I GUESS THAT GREGORY LOWRY FELLOW'S SORT OF A PAIN IN THE NECK TO HIM, SPUD—

RED BARRY — An Amateur Gets the Gong!

...SO YOU GUYS THOUGHT I WASN'T GOOD ENOUGH FOR YOUR GLEE CLUB, HEY? WELL, GET A LOAD OF YOUR PALSY-WALSY, TOMMY GRAY, THE SUNNYDALE THRUSH...
FROM THE LOUDSPEAKER'S IN THE RADIO CARS!
WHEN THE BLOO-MOO OF THE NA-HIGHT MEETS THE —
BACK TO HEADQUARTERS, MIKE!!
GRAY, TAKE YOUR UNIFORM OFF AND GET OUT OF HERE— YOU'RE THRU!!

MANDRAKE, THE MAGICIAN — His Master's Voice

ONLY A FLESH WOUND, EMIR KRIM. THE FALL STUNNED HIM. HE'S COMING TO!
BLINDFOLD HIM! QUICK! HIS POWER IS IN HIS EYES!
I'LL WAIT UNTIL HE COMES TO BEFORE I FINISH HIM. I WANT HIM TO KNOW WHAT IT MEANS TO TRIFLE WITH ME!
FEIGNING UNCONSCIOUSNESS, BUT HELPLESS, THE MAGICIAN THINKS QUICKLY—MASTER!
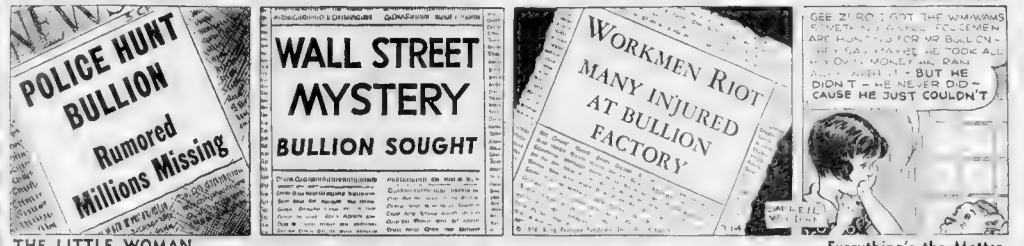
LOTHAR—COME TO THE SPHINX—HURRY—MY LIFE HANGS BY A THREAD!
—AND MANDRAKE'S FIGURE-IMAGE SUDDENLY APPEARS BEFORE LOTHAR WHO WAITS AT GIZEH!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY — A Staunch Friend



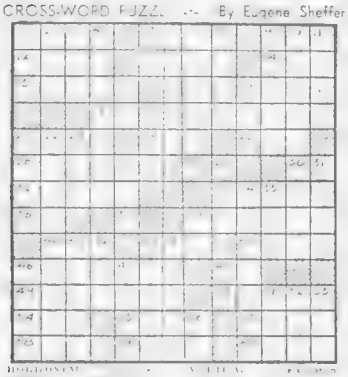
POLICE HUNT BULLION
Rumored Millions Missing
WALL STREET MYSTERY
BULLION SOUGHT
WORKMEN RIOT
MANY INJURED AT BULLION FACTORY
GEE ZERO! I GOT THE WIM-WAMS BECAUSE ALL THE POLICEMEN ARE HUNTING FOR MR BULLION—BUT SAY, MAYBE HE TOOK ALL HIS OUT MONEY AN' RAN AWAY!! - BUT HE DIDN'T - HE NEVER DID - CAUSE HE JUST COULDN'T

THE LITTLE WOMAN — Everything's the Matter

COMES MONDAY, AND JIMMY IS IN A VILE FLUTTER AS A RESULT OF THE TIGER HUSTLING A KNUCKLE IN ONE OF HIS TRAINING BOUTS - BUT THE TIGER IS QUITE CALM AND FULL OF CONFIDENCE!
AN' YOU REALLY FEEL ALL RIGHT? YOU DON'T THINK THIS "SOCKER" CAN PARK HIS RIGHT ON YOU?
JIM, I FEEL FINE! IF HE CAN BEAT MY LEFT WITH A RIGHT I'LL GO BACK AND PUNCH COWS!
JIMMY - SOME MAN WANTS TO TALK TO YOU -
ME?
LISTEN, JIM - I NEED MONEY BADLY - I'LL BET YOU THREE TO ONE TIGER DON'T ANSWER THE BELL FOR THE THIRD ROUND!
NO! HE'S GOT A HURT HAND!!
THEN I'LL MAKE IT TEN TO ONE!!
NO!
WHAT'S THE MATTER NOW?

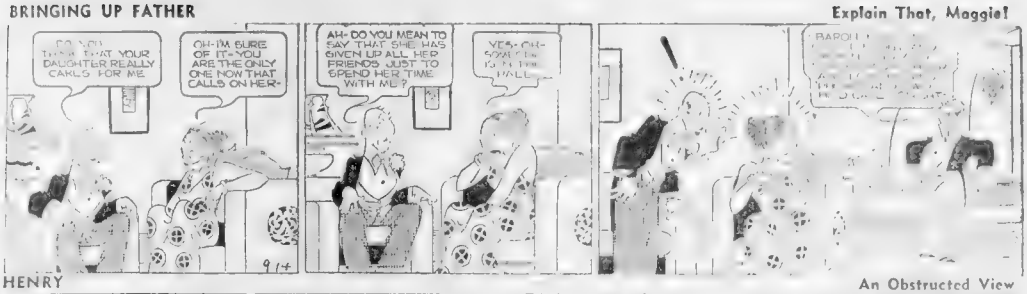
THIMBLE THEATRE, Starring POPEYE

CROSS-WORD FUZZ. -- By Eugene Sheffer



BRINGING UP FATHER

Explain That, Maggie!



DO YOU THINK THAT YOUR DAUGHTER REALLY CARES FOR ME
OH-I'M SURE OF IT-YOU ARE THE ONLY ONE NOW THAT CALLS ON HER.
AH-DO YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT SHE HAS GIVEN UP ALL HER FRIENDS JUST TO SPEND HER TIME WITH ME?
YES-OH-SOME OF THE FRIENDS CALL

HENRY

An Obstructed View

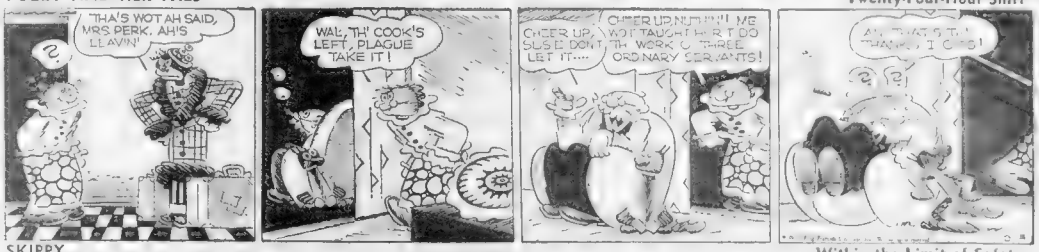
JUST KIDS

On a Commission Basis

THE BOARDER STAYING AT THE STEBBINS HOUSE, HAS BEEN A GOD-SEND AT THIS TIME OF THEIR FINANCIAL TROUBLE!
YOUNG MAN-I UNDERSTAND THE STEBBINS FAMILY TAKES BOARDERS-COULD YOU SHOW ME WHERE THEY LIVE?
OH-YES, SIR! YES, SIR!
JES' WAIT HERE, MR. WINSTON, WHILE I TELL MRS. STEBBINS YOU'RE HERE!
ALL RIGHT, YOUNGSTER!
YES-MR. WINSTON-I HAVE ONE MORE ROOM AND I'D BE VERY GLAD TO HAVE YOU STAY WITH US!
THANK YOU
WELL-WELL-MRS STEBBINS BUSINESS SURE PICKIN' UP-HOW ABOUT A PIECE OF APPLE PIE?

POLLY AND HER PALS

Twenty-Four-Hour Shift



THA'S WOT AH SAID, MRS PERK. AH'IS LEAVIN'
WAL, TH' COOK'S LEFT, PLAGUE TAKE IT!
CHEER UP, SUSIE DON'T LET IT....
CHEER UP-NUTTIN'! WOT TAUGHT HER T' DO TH' WORK O' THREE ORDINARY SERVANTS!
AH, THAT'S TH' THANKS I GITS!

SKIPPY

Within the Limit of Safety

I NEVER HIT KIDS SMALLER THAN MYSELF, NO MATTER WHAT THEY DO TO ME.
HOW TALL ARE YA?
Percy L. Crosby. World rights reserved. © 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
THREE FEET, SIX INCHES. WHY?
OW!!
I'M THREE FEET FIVE AN' A HALF.

LITTLE JIMMY

Curing the Medicine Man

THE MEDICINE MAN IS ALL TIRED AN' SICK FROM DANCING TO GET THE OLD MAN AN' THE GOAT WELL!
"THE OLD MAN SEEMS TO BE SORRY FOR THE MEDICINE MAN"

BLONDIE

A Warm Berth

BOSTON after DARK

By George Holland

Scan Do Nowers

GEORGE RAFT

Fact's

... time her ... because of ... the engine was rebuilt in part. The ... smoothed out to increase the tank ... of Pauline Hartis's return ... not long ... who knew the ... was fooled. The ping pellets re... the plane.

Staccato

Hear That

... Gateway are best suburbed at a ... O E ... announcing a ... heir ... retirements than feature the ... are linked ... cheap in Americana ... That Rembrandt of the Racetracks, the M. Barry, who painted a horse named Shem at Mars. Its seasons last was sighted by admirers ... A horseman stopping off in Canada gave M. Barry a passage to Boston in his car.

Thanks And Thanks

Welcome Stranger

Lee Allen arrives in town today. He will visit with cousins. Mrs. Allen (Portland Hetta) continues to New York. They left on Saturday at Old Orchard, their summer home when they said goodbye. Mrs. Allen has been entertaining a house guest named Sarah this summer. The gal has a record breaking appetite. When a soda visited at once last week a city friend of Fred's ... the ... in amazement.

What ... Understand Mrs. Allen replied. I resembles ... appearance.

Buy American

Hollywood | FILMS — PLAYS — MUSIC | Boston

Comfort for Juliet

LUISA MAY OLIVER NORMA SHEARER

Hollywood's best known stars, Norma Shearer and ... shown in the above scene from "Romeo ... third week at the Colonial.

Movie Clock

HOWDOIN — ... 15, 7, 9:15

FENWAY — "Road To Glory"; ... 9:40

KEITH'S (RKO) — Walking On ... 15, 7:35, 10:10

KEITH'S — MEMORIAL — "Swing Time"; 10:00, 12:25, 2:50, 5:15, 7:40, 10:05

METROPOLITAN — "Stage Struck"; 10:15, 1:45, 4:30, 7:00, 9:30

GAIETY — "Bride Walks Out"

WASH. ST. OLYMPIA — "Stage ... 10:45, 1:30, 4:20, 7:10, 9:58

LOEW'S ORPHEUM — "The Gorgeous Hussy"; 9:15, 12:00, 2:50, 5:40, 8:30, 11:20

LOEW'S STATE — "The Gorgeous Hussy"; 10:00, 2:40, 5:40, 8:40, 11:40

PARAMOUNT — "Road To Glory"; ... 10, 6:15, 9:20

UNIT — "Dancing Co-Ed"; 10:35, 1:20, 4:06, 6:55, 9:49

HOWARD — "Pirates of Melody"; ... Comedy Time

SCOLLAY — "Stage Struck"; ... 9:30

FREMONT — "Chinatown"; 11:00, ... 9:30

MODERN — "Stage Struck"; ... 1:40

New Air Ace On Screen

... famous ... and ... Los Angeles air classic, cracking the former American record wide open with an average speed of 264 miles an ... for the 1936 season and Metrotone cameramen ... gridiron at Dartmouth, Fordham and the United States Naval Academy to ...

—VOTE AMERICAN—

'Ecstasy' in Final Week

At Howard

One of the most appealing of ...

Simone Simon's Illness Costs Her Film Lead

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor Universal Service
Copyright, 1936, Universal Service

Los Angeles, Sept. 14—Unlucky fate seems to follow Simone Simon who was taken out of the "White Hunter" cast and ordered to bed by her physician. The tempestuous little French actress is suffering with intestinal flu and a bad appendix.

Louella O. Parsons returned from ... Few days ago ... Not bad for ... Read it ... Warner Baxter.

Part ... Rome ... School of ... By ... The total ... has set to get ... New York and ... But to call ... Rome a day ... of New York ... Works before ... You ... Crawford ... Rudolph ... Hudson Opera ... Gable ... Thompson ... Jack ... Mrs. ... Adams.

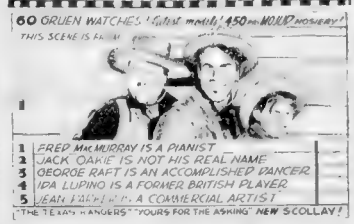
... Snapshots of Hollywood

... Bureau Days Gene Raymond ... Jean ... Amusements

... Amusements

BEHIND the SCENES

By ART MOGER



60 GRUEN WATCHES 'Guest match' 450 on HOUR hosiery!
THIS SCENE IS FROM
1 FRED MacMURRAY IS A PIANIST
2 JACK OAKIE IS NOT HIS REAL NAME
3 GEORGE RAFT IS AN ACCOMPLISHED DANCER
4 IDA LUPINO IS A FORMER BRITISH PLAYER
5 JEAN PARKER IS A COMMERCIAL ARTIST
"THE TEXAS RANGERS" YOURS FOR THE ASKING NEW SCOLLAY!

Adele Blood Hope, Actress, Suicide

... Your Figure? Let Ida ... Kann help you with your diet problems ... of the women's pages every day ... the Boston American.

Amusements

2nd BIG WEEK KEITH MEMORIAL
Their Greatest Triumph!
FRED ASTAIRE-ROGERS GINGER in SWING TIME
EXTRA!—Latest Issue "MARCH OF TIME"

HELD OVER! RKO BOSTON 2nd BIG WEEK
ON THE STAGE
The Greatest of All Folies Bergeres Shows!
The ALL NEW FOLIC PARISIENNE
Direct From New York's French Casino
60 GORGEOUS GIRLS
Sparkling Continental Entertainment
SCREEN
A Merry Mad Musical Romance
GENE RAYMOND WALKING ON AIR with ANN SOTHERN

3rd RECORD-BREAKING WEEK
NEVER Was There a Love Story so Exciting!
NEVER Was There an Adventure so Thrilling!
NEVER Was There a Motion Picture so Magnificent!
NORMA SHEARER as JULIET
LESLIE HOWARD as ROMEO
in William Shakespeare's ROMEO and JULIET with JOHN BARRYMORE and a Brilliant Cast
Boston's Entertainment Event of The Decade
COLONIAL
MATS. 1000 500 50c-75c
EVES. 50c to $1.50
LIMITED TIME ONLY OWING TO OTHER BOOKINGS

PARAMOUNT FENWAY 2 MAJOR ATTRACTIONS
"Road To Glory" • "PEPPER"
STARTS "General Died At Dawn"
THURS. MODERN
WASH. ST. OLYMPIA
SCOLLAY NOW
Metropolitan STAGE STRUCK STAGE
Complete "Stars Over Broadway"
JOHN STEEL
WINDSOR

Today at YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD THEATER

ARLINGTON and WATERTOWN
ARLINGTON REGENT
MALDEN
GRANADA
BROOKLINE
CHESTNUT HILL
STRAND ORPHEUM
REVERE
BOULEVARD and REVERE
"DEVIL DOLL"
"We Want To College"
CAMBRIDGE
REGENT DAYS
UNIVERSITY KIR. 4580 HARVARD SQ
"ALL THE KING'S MEN"
"MAGNIFICENT OBSESSION"
"BUCCANEER"
SOMERVILLE
CAPITOL ALLSTON CENTRAL CHARLESTOWN
THOMPSON SQUARE THEATRE
"Crime of Dr. Forbes"
"PAROLE"
FEELESS SOMERVILLE BROADWAY
Frankie & Johnnie
"You May Be Next"
NORTH STA.—SOUTH END
"High School Girl"
DORCHESTER and SOMERVILLE
DORCHESTER LOCAL
"NAVY BORN"
"Small Town Girl"
"More Than a Trouble"

THE OLD HOWARD
Pirates of Melody
Burlesque
RENEE ALMA MABEN MAX FUHRMAN
DIRECT FROM CALIFORNIA
A BOSTON FAVORITE
KING PIN OF BURLESQUE FUNSTERS
COMING WEEK OF SEPT. 21—ANN CORIO

LOEW'S STATE—ORPHEUM
CRAWFORD TAYLOR in THE GORGEOUS HUSSY with LIONEL BARRYMORE
JANICE LOGAN
The GREAT ZIEGFELD

21st WEEK ECSTASY PARK

FREMONT
JEAN HARLOW GABLE & LOY 15 RAY MILAND CLAUDE RAINS
MORE AT SECRETARY TILLOTSON THE CLAIRVOYANT

NEW GAYETY
15th BARBARA STANWYCK
THE BRIDE WALKS OUT
DOROTHY LAMOUR JOEL McCREA
CONRAD NAGEL
COOKIE RUNNING AROUND THE MOON

MP Community THEATRES

ALLSTON
CALIFORNIA
"SUZY"
ALLSTON-BRIGHTON
ALLSTON Sta. 4410 EGYPTIAN Sta. 6900
CAMBRIDGE
CENTRAL SQ HARVARD
CHELSEA
OLYMPIA
DORCHESTER
CODMAN SQ.
"SAN FRANCISCO"
"RHYTHM RANGE"
DORCHESTER AND ROXBURY LIBERTY MAIN
JAM. PLAIN-ROXBURY CROSSING
DORCHESTER and MATTAPAN
ORIENTAL STRAND
ROSLINDALE
RIALTO DRIVE
"SAN FRANCISCO"
DUDLEY
SHAWMUT-CARLTON
SOMERVILLE
STRAND
"SHOW BOAT" SPEED
WALTHAM
EMBASSY CENTRAL SQ
WOLLASTON-NORFOLK DOWNS
WOLLASTON QUINCY

BUSINESS BOSTON AMERICAN FINANCE

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1936 21

LEWIS HANEY ON FINANCE

Stock Market Fears

NEW DEAL WASTE

And European War

By LEWIS HANEY
(Professor of Economics, New York University)

New York, Sept. 14—The Stock Market, last week, closed practically unchanged. If anything, there was a slight fractional gain left at the end. The general picture was one of irregularity, reflecting uncertainty—uncertainty concerning the possibility of four more years of New Deal waste and demagogy, and uncertainty concerning European war.

The market was evidently consolidating previous gains, and waiting for such light as the Maine election may shed.

When one goes into the performance more analytically, however, signs of an underlying tendency to rise become apparent.

The corporation bond market was strong and fairly active, and Saturday brought a new high average for the year.

The 12 stocks that were most active during the week all made gains but one, and that was unchanged. Four of them were up more than a point—including two steels, International Nickel and Canada Dry. Steels, motors and movies were the leaders. If one had been able to have traded in and out of the 20 stocks that were most active each day, an average gain of two points would have resulted.

Another point to note is the continued trend toward a showing of many new highs in individual stocks. On Friday there were 46 new highs for the year, and on Saturday, 21. New lows were inconsequential.

Accordingly, despite the fact that there is ground for uncertainty at home and abroad, and a good deal of bearishness is to be found in Wall street, it is reasonably clear that the tendency of the market is upward. Consider the drawbacks, the action has been rather good.

Incidentally, London seems to have made considerable purchases of our stocks, chiefly steels and rails. Although the high level of the pound sterling encourages English buying here, these purchases seem to be a favorable indication.

Turning to the charts, my first observation is that the general formation of the market curve does not resemble a "top." There has been no sharp runup, nor any large volume. The public has not been participating to any large extent, and brokers' loans are relatively low.

In fact, the general market chart rather suggests a continuation of the gradual series of upward steps (with the possibility that evidence of a swing to London might touch off a sharper jump).

(1)—The reaction in late August did not fall below the lower line of the long upward path which the market has been following.

(2)—It did not break below the preceding high mark made in April.

Now, last week's performance has the earmarks of a consolidation of preceding gains, with no reason to expect more of a reaction than would carry to the level that existed at the end of August and beginning of September.

All this fits in with the idea that since the Supreme Court decided the chief New Deal alphabetical organizations to be unconstitutional, and Roosevelt decided that the people are in favor of the Constitution, there has been occurring a gradual accumulation of stocks for the long pull.

Some shifting occurs, but stocks backed by earnings or definite prospects of earnings, are being bought outright and held, partly for appreciation—partly for dividend yield.

Thus, with some policing by the Securities Exchange Commission, the market rises step by step, as an expression of the administration's "easy money" policy. The government borrows from the banks by selling bonds and notes. Its spending creates private bank deposits that are not offset by loans and discounts. Since these deposits draw little if any interest, they go into stocks as fast as corporate earnings and yields justify.

Signs of continued upward trends seem especially clear in steels, metals, railway equipments, merchandising, building, utility and electrical equipment groups.

TEST Holding Co. ACT

ELECTRIC BOND AND SHARE

New York, Sept. 14 (AP) — The first major test to determine the constitutionality of the Holding Company Act got underway today as the Securities and Exchange Commission filed its brief against the Electric Bond and Share Company in the southern district federal court in New York.

This company, which serves 10 per cent of the total electric customers in the United States, was one of the firms which declined to register under the holding company act, declaring the statute unconstitutional.

Suit to compel it to register was brought by the commission last November.

The company based its refusal to register on the ground it would be irreparably injured. This the commission denied in its brief today, and asked the court to recommence because it was violating commerce because it was violated the law in refusing to register.

* * *

The commission's brief, prepared by John J. Burns, general counsel; Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney-general; John J. Abt, special counsel, and Benjamin V. Cohen and Thomas G. Corcoran, special assistants to the attorney-general, together with nine other counsel, charged the Electric Bond & Share Co. with "unclean hands."

"Defendants have unclean hands, because their prayer for affirmative relief is predicated on the fact that they have refused, without legal justification, to register," one section of the brief stated.

"Defendants have unclean hands because of their representations to the Congress," another section read, referring to the testimony before the House committee by S. S. Inch, president of Electric Bond and Share, when, the brief alleged, he declared "we are not opposed to any proper regulation which may be necessary for the protection of either investors or rate payers."

Finally, the brief declared the defendants "have failed to prove that they have been damaged, irreparably or otherwise, either by the act or 'by any action or threat of action by the plaintiff or by any cross-defendant and, therefore, are not entitled to relief in equity."

25 Years Ago

New York, Sept. 14 (INS)—Conference of state governors urged uniform workmen's compensation laws.

Corn shorts were reported at mercy of James A. Patten as rains hampered grain deliveries.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul reported year's gross of $64,975,999, net of $12,922,276.

COUNSEL From Abroad SOUGHT

BY UTILITY MEN

By GENE ROBB
Special to American Newspapers, Inc.

Washington, Sept. 14—American delegates to the world power conference here are seeking private counsel of foreign representatives on how to keep politicians out of the electrical industry.

Development of electrical power by New Deal agencies in direct competition with private utilities serving the same territory came in for polite but critical comment.

Frowning on the administration's war on holding companies, delegates from other nations revelled.

One—The English government is recommending an extension of the holding company system on an efficient and economic way to distribute electricity. Holding companies in the United States, confronted with the death sentence clause in the utility act of 1935, are fighting for their lives.

Two — Scandinavian countries, where the co-operative movement has reached its zenith, require municipally owned electric plants to operate on the same footing and under the same installations as govern privately owned utilities. In the United States Municipal ownership is encouraged by special laws, federal loans and tax exemptions.

Three—Only in the United States has the power industry been turning into a political football.

The Federal Trade Commission has had news for new business ventures. According to its decision in the Blackwell, Okla., Journal case, new businesses cannot take temporary losses to get started and then charge off to permanent losses. They also must refrain from selling at prices their competitors are unable to meet if a profit.

This is the broad view of the commission's latest ruling. It will be carried to the U. S. Court of Appeals immediately.

Specifically, the commission ordered the Blackwell Journal, three-year-old Republican newspaper in an Oklahoma town of 10,001, to raise rates and to refrain from giving away any of the papers it prints.

The commission order included the fact that the Journal's Democratic competitor, the Blackwell Tribune, had not made a profit since the Journal began publishing.

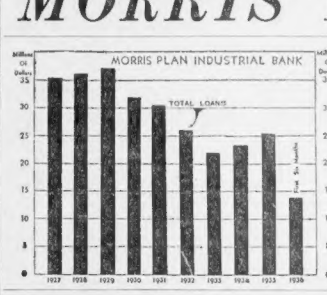
How far into the field of small enterprise the commission believes it can go is demonstrated in this case. It is not limited to over any merchant who ships to customers outside the state or who receives his wares from an outstate jobber or manufacturer.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Bar Gold

London, Sept. 14 (AP)—Bar gold declined 1 penny to 137s 5d. (Sterling price equivalent to $34.77.)

MORRIS PLAN



Wall Street Sidelights

New York, Sept. 14—Plans for liquidating unpaid accumulated dividends on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock of Revere Copper & Brass in all probability will be announced by the company early next month, it was learned in reliable quarters recently.

However, while a number of proposals have been under discussion, it is understood no definite program has yet received any general approval and none has been presented for official consideration by directors. A proposal said in the Street to be getting favorable attention is that involving refunding of the preferred by issuance of 133 1-3 shares of 5¼ per cent preferred for each 100 shares to current holders who do not wish to have their shares called. The shares of those accepting the call would be redeemed at $7.50 plus cash of $33.25, the latter sum being the amount of the back dividends as of August 1 last.

* * *

Rise in Railway Income Forecast

Continued gains in railway income are forecast by Holt, Rose & Troster in a new study of the railroad situation. The firm says: "For the first half of 1936, net railway operating income of $238,000,000 was about $44,000,000 ahead of the same period of 1935. This increase of about 23 per cent in net operating income was in turn less than one-third of the increase in gross revenues. Results for the third quarters may be expected to show very wide gains over the same quarter of 1935, and a 40 per cent to 45 per cent over the third quarter of 1935. September and October are normally the best months of the year for the rails, and last year were the best in five years. Aggregate earnings for the final half of this year should show about $400,000,000, against $302,000,000 reported for the same period of 1935."

* * *

Merchandise Share Price vs. Earnings

An interesting compilation of the number of times probable 1936 earnings leading merchandise shares are currently selling has been prepared by Weingarten & Co., Stock Exchange members. The study has calculated 1936 per share net on the basis of the first six months' actual results. It estimates higher earnings than in 1935 for every one of the issues reviewed and lists Lerner Stores, McCrory, McLellan and J. J. Newberry in a group selling at approximately 10 times projected share profits for the full year. Issues selling at approximately 12 times projected earnings, according to the compilation, are Chicago Mail Order, S. S. Kresge, G. C. Murphy, Neisner Bros. and J. C. Penney; 15 times: W. T. Grant, S. H. Kress and Montgomery Ward, and more than 15 times: Best & Co., Federated Department Stores, Sears Roebuck and Woolworth.

* * *

New Rules Simplify Utility Accounting

Scant effect exerted on utility stocks by the new Securities Exchange Commission requirements for "Uniform System of Accounts for Public Utility Holding Companies" reflects belief that the rules will simplify existing auditing practices. The regulations apply only to strictly holding companies which do not own and operate utility properties. Best posted opinion expects the uniform accounting practice will make easier the now difficult task of analyzing holding company financial statements, as it is expected these companies will support greater detailed audits than heretofore. For one thing, application of the rule is expected to lead to more conservative statements since writing up the value of investments is barred. The regulations become effective January 1 next.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

GREATER POTATO Crop Expected

The New England potato crop will be about 8 per cent greater than last year on basis of conditions September 1, the New England Crop Reporting Service estimated. The harvest is expected to total 51,283,000 bushels, against 49,396,000 expected a month ago and 47,278,000 last year. The five-year average is 51,586,000.

Weather conditions during August were moderately favorable in New England, and rainfall has been sufficient in most areas for the crop to continue satisfactory growth.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Utah Copper

Utah Copper Co. declared a dividend of 75 cents, payable September 30 to stock of record September 18. On June 30 the company paid a dividend of 65 cents and on March 31 this year, a dividend of 50 cents.

PIONEER In Field of Personal Credit

A pioneer in the field of personal credit, the Morris Plan Industrial Bank of New York is the largest bank of its kind in the country.

The bulk of its loans are made to business men, merchants and salaried workers. Generally, the loans obtained are used to pay off household debts, doctors' bills and cover personal needs, according to the Morris Plan. Loans average about $350 per person.

Loans are made with or without collateral. Where no collateral is available the signatures of one or more co-makers is sufficient. Co-makers loans average 65 per cent of the total loans made.

In more recent years Morris Plan has gone into the field of retail automobile financing and also through the Federal Housing Administration is making loans for property repairs and improvements.

Since the Federal Housing Administration was created, Morris Plan has made 32,900 loans for home modernization, totaling $10,000,000.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Central Illinois Losses Disclosed

Washington, Sept. 14 (INS)—Disclosure of large losses by the Central Illinois Securities Corp. through the purchase of bank stock was made before the SEC today by Commission Counsel David Schenker.

Resuming the broad inquiry into investment trusts, Schenker showed that to facilitate the merger in June, 1931, of the Central Trust Co. of Illinois and the National Bank of the Republic, Central Illinois Securities Corp. purchased 5,000,000 of stock of the two banks, largely farm benefit checks, and federal spending should be properly evaluated.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

Bank Statement

Boston balance	$18,609,000
Boston clearance	$28,000,000

Wall St. Hears

New York, Sept. 14 (INS)—That American Smelting & Refining (ARS) may vote an extra or increase the regular rate at tomorrow's dividend meeting.

The earnings of Van Raalte (VRT) currently are running at an annual rate of better than $5 a share.

That full-year profits of Adams-Millis (ALL) may be the lowest since 1932.

AUTUMN Activity GOOD

MAIL ORDER SALES INCREASE

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
Copyright, 1936, by Universal Service

New York, Sept. 14—The official opening of the fall season was characterized by close to the best volume of activity thus far attained this year.

The overall situation shows an improvement of 10 to 15 per cent as compared with a year ago.

In some trades, the showing is the best for the period in six years. The August steel tonnage, for example, was the best for any month since March, 1930, and for the current year thus far volume is 39 per cent greater than in the same months of 1935. There is a widespread feeling that the industry will not touch its peak for the year until the fourth quarter. Incidentally, the showing for August was the best recorded for any August since 1929.

Mail order sales in August were at a new high despite the drouth. Of course, the drouth has no deterrent effect on current income. The pinch may come in some sections early next year. Meantime, farm income is up, and is being swelled by liquidation of capital assets in the form of livestock, for which food and water are scarce.

The recovery this year has been characterized by a belated pickup in the hitherto laggard heavy industries.

In addition to the stimulus to steel by railway and automobile orders, it has been helped by a revival in construction. Last month, residential contracts awarded $100,000,000 for the first time for any August in seven years. The total awarded for the ten 148 per cent ahead of the record for August 1935. To some extent, the building boom reflected the effect of the bonus stimulant. Moreover, it also includes federal housing projects which have been held back by acquisition of sites.

In connection with the bulge in business, the effect of artificial income, including the bonus, largely farm benefit checks, and federal spending should be properly evaluated.

—VOTE AMERICAN—

In a sense the uptrend in business may be a good break for the political "ins."

The opposition, however, will point out that the chief will have come since June, 1935, when the Supreme Court in the Schecter decision invalidated the NRA and in other epochal decisions, lifted from the business world most of the significant New Deal inhibitions. Therefore, whether this is a Roosevelt recovery will be one of the big questions the opposition will insist is a "drouth-Roosevelt recovery."

The objective data indicate that the recovery has been singularly irregular and that it has been frequently interrupted by interferences.

TRANSACTIONS ON NEW YORK CURB MARKET

	High	Low	Last
AIR INVEST WAR	4¾	4¾	4¾
Ala Gt Sou (1142)	26	26	26
Allen Ind (4a)	13½	13½	13½
Allen Ltd	1	1	1
Am Cyan B	17½	17½	17½
Am Gt P&L war (25.8)	1¾	1¾	1¾
Am Gas & El (1.60)	41¾	41¾	41¾
Am Maracaibo	1	1	1
Am Meter	35¾	35¾	35¾
Am Potash & Chem	3	3	3
Am Superpower	1	1	1
Am Thread (.20)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Am Writ (.20)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Amer Yvette A	3¾	3¾	3¾
Anglo-Chilean	1	1	1
Ark Nat Gas A	4¾	4¾	4¾
Ark Nat Gas B	4¾	4¾	4¾
Ark Nat Gas (.80)	12½	12½	12½
Ar G & E A	1	1	1
Ar G & E B	1	1	1
Atlas Corp (.40)	19¾	19¾	19¾
Atlas Plywood	15	15	15
BABCOCK & WIL (.850)	85	85	85
Barium Steel	2	2	2
Beck & Corp	2¾	2¾	2¾
Beck & Decker	21	21	21
Blue Ridge (.10)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bonsonelli (.12)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bourjois (.20)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bowes	2¾	2¾	2¾
Brown Co pf	2¾	2¾	2¾
Brown Fr Hear (1)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Brown Fr Hear pf (1)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Brown Shoe (1.60)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bruce E L	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bruce, Wm. (.60)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Buckeye Pipe (2)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Bunker Hill (.50)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Burma Mines	2¾	2¾	2¾
Burry Biscuit	2¾	2¾	2¾
CAR FE PROD VTC	11½	11½	11½
Cal Ind Air A	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cal Ind Air B	2¾	2¾	2¾
Can Marc Wire	2¾	2¾	2¾
Can Vinegars	2¾	2¾	2¾
Carnegie Metals	2¾	2¾	2¾
Carrier Corp	2¾	2¾	2¾
Carrols (AM) (.10)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cartier Inc	2¾	2¾	2¾
Celanese of A (1.60)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Celanese of A pf (7)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Ill Sec	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Ill Sec pf (7)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Maine P pf (6)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Ohio Steel	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Ohio Steel pf	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Pow & Lt pf (6)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Pow & Lt pf (7)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Pub Ut pf (6)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Pub Ut pf (7)	2¾	2¾	2¾
Cent Pub Ut pf (8

NEW HAVEN

Bankers TOLD ROAD Is Sound

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW

From a purely local viewpoint the heartening remarks of Professor William J. Cunningham on the New Haven situation easily proved the highlight of the Savings Banks Association of Massachusetts convention.

The Harvard expert has made a special study of the rail's position since the association's committee retained him as adviser and is in an excellent position to comment on the New Haven's outlook.

After calling the Bullmore new England economy sound at heart, Professor Cunningham went on to say that the present management is alert and progressive, but some of the difficulties inherited from the past would have been stamped through the period of major operating economies in liquidating about 10 lines.

Of particular interest to the New Haven Cunningham commented on the recent ruling by the New Haven Trustees that no dividends are to be paid on the common stock and there is ground for the hope that part of the savings effected by reductions has been loaned for expenditures that will increase the earning power of the road and the first half of 1937 will probably show a substantial improvement over 1936.

Cunningham also commented on the recent Interstate Commerce Commission ruling on consolidations and said that the New Haven, Boston & Maine, Maine Central, Rutland, Bangor & Aroostook, Boston & Albany and Delaware & Hudson are situations well suited for consolidation. Whether the Pennsylvania and New York Central will be included in such a plan will depend largely on the attitude of the Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio.

Studies of Eastern railroad problems will be made by Professor Cunningham and his associates with results to be known before next January.

Notebook: Jones and Laughlin Steel is said to be operating regularly in the vicinity of 50 per cent of capacity. . . . Which probably explains why so many traders have been favoring it of late . . . Since the company operating at this rate over a full year would show about $8.00 per share on the common . . . And at 50 per cent for the same period earnings would jump to about $11 per common share . . . National Steel is expected to show between $6 and $7 per share for 1936 . . . With the added speed the last quarter will be very good . . .

Stock prices were a disappointment to many brokers yesterday. Regardless of the fact that business continued fairly active and that prices held up well, in the main, it had seemed as if the bullish influence for the week-end would bring the remainder of the list into line with the leaders. Comments for new forecasts of a bull market, based on the philosophy that the industrial average must go above its previous 1936 peak before it can be considered to have definitely entered a new bull market, ranged from the cautious point of view that the coming week would be a critical one, to the opinion that the market was ready for a sharp upward movement. Whether or not the latter will be accomplished late on Monday, or whether we will have to wait for the beginning of a new week remains to be seen.

As the beginning of foreign exchange transactions sterling was weaker in the early part of the week and the French franc was also off a cent from the previous week-end.

STOCKS Continue WEAK

TRADERS STAND BY

New York, Sept. 14—Selling tremors rippled through the stock market today and many of the leaders were shaken down fractions to around 2 points.

Encouraging to recovery proponents, however, was the extreme lightness of dealings. In addition a number of specialties near the fourth hour managed to weather the squall for minor losses.

Current Items

Trading divided little attention between the Maine election and the Democratic convention today. A sustaining influence for the market was the report of the Commodity Exchange Administration that the price level index already discounted a 50 per cent increase in the 1936 corn crop. Corn futures were off 2 cents a bushel.

Wall Street found little encouragement, however, in the Maine election returns. Republican victories were indicated by 2 to 1 majorities in all but one of the 16 counties heard from. Democratic Chairman Monk, Chairman Monk, Chairman Monk, Democratic National Committeeman Wyman, Democratic Treasurer Wilson, Democratic Secretary of State Hamlin and Democratic Auditor Brann were defeated by substantial majorities. Democratic Governor Brann was defeated by Governor Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, by 37,000 votes. Democratic Governor Brann was defeated by Governor Lewis O. Barrows, Republican, by 37,000 votes.

Borrow With Confidence Through The Want Ads!

FINANCIAL

A Money to Loan

SINGLE SIGNATURE LOANS UP TO $300

Now! BORROW ON JUST YOUR PERSONAL SIGNATURE

No other security or endorsers required when you borrow here. Salaried employes find the perfect solution to financial problems in this helpful, dignified plan.

IDEAL FINANCING ASSOCIATION INC

BOSTON, 305 Washington Street, Room 1106, Tel. HAN. 1700
MALDEN, 9 Pleasant Street, Tel. MAL. 0700
QUINCY, 1429 Hancock Street, Tel. QUI. 1700
WEST ROXBURY, 1712 Centre Street, Tel. PARKway 1700
ROSLINDALE, 15 Poplar Street, Tel. PARKway 1700
WAKEFIELD, 467 Main Street, Tel. WAK. 1700
NORWOOD, 561 Washington St., Tel. NOR. 1700
WALTHAM, 253 Moody Street, Tel. WAL. 1700
CAMBRIDGE, 31 Dunster Street, Tel. KIRkland 1700

20 MONTHS OR LESS TO PAY

Money to Loan

At Reduced Rates to

Married or single persons, with or without security, on your own signature.

We charge all the competitive rates will permit. Compare them with those of any other lender. Then write or phone most convenient office.

Be Sure It Is The "National"

24 SCHOOL STREET-BOSTON
689 MASS. AVE.-CAMBRIDGE
1 SALEM STREET-MALDEN

NATIONAL LOAN SOCIETY

A LOAN ON YOUR Signature

Can be quickly obtained if you are steadily employed on salary. Phone, Singer Bldg., LIB. 0936. Other plans available—amounts up to $300—with 20 months to repay.

CONSERVATIVE Financing Service
2nd floor, Singer Bldg., LIB. 0936
31 Tremont St., Boston, Liberal Code

Loan Charges are REDUCED

Get the cash you need at our NEW LOWER rate! Pay only 2% on balances above $100 and 3% on one hundred or less. Why pay more? Come in or write us and save the difference!

Phone, write or call at our office

453 Washington St., Boston

NEW ENGLAND EQUITY

At your Service

Let the Pilgrim Help You with some financial problem. Learn to suit your needs made within one day. Call, phone or write.

$50. to $2000

PILGRIM PLAN
24 SCHOOL ST. CAPITOL 7243
24 Hour Service 90 Days to Repay

AUTO & TRUCK LOANS
IMMEDIATE SERVICE
AMERICAN FINANCE CORPORATION
Room 227 Park Square Bldg. HUBbard 1700

LOANS To Family Women Only
No Collateral Required
Room 16, 176 Washington St.
Room 16, 176 Washington St.

LOANS HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE AUTOMOBILE
SALARY LOANS
Room 1, 176 Washington St.

LOANS FURNITURE CO-MAKER
SALARY LOANS
Room 1, 176 Washington St.

LOANS at reduced rates. FAMILY FINANCE CORPORATION
Room 1, 176 Washington St.

Other Classified Ads

Page 22

EMPLOYMENT

50 Employment for Women

CHOCOLATE PACKERS
Experienced on Fancy Packing
SHARAF CO.
15 NOR. ST. EAST BOSTON

General Maid

Tailor and Presser

61 Employment for Men

Auto Body Metalmen Wanted

63 Situations Wanted Women

Curtains

Couple

64 Situation Wanted Men

Instructions

81 Lots for Sale

3 LOTS AND GOOD WELL
$69 Summer or year around. Terms. Arlington 4th st.

82 Farms and Land for Sale

NEW BARGAINS IN FARMS. Big illustrated catalog free. Describes 47 States. STROUT AGY., 150-PH Oil Bldg., Boston.

86 Real Estate Mortgages

2nd Mortgage Loans to Home Owners. BUTLER FINANCE CO.
555 Washington St. Liberty 8615

HEMPHILL DIESEL SCHOOLS

R. H. WHITE CO.

EVENING AMERICAN POST SUNDAY ADVERTISER

FREE RENTAL BUREAU
INCORPORATING WITH BOSTON REAL ESTATE EXCHANGE AND CREDIT BUREAU
Our service is free to anyone seeking rental information about Boston apartments, stores, offices, etc. Call at the Rental Bureau, 2nd floor, Boston Real Estate Exchange, 85 Exchange St., Boston.

BARBARA HOLMES
Will be glad to help you.
Telephone HANcock 4100
9:00 to 5:30

REAL ESTATE MARKET

80 Houses for Sale

ALL ELECTRIC HOME
60 Moraine Street
Jamaica Plain
Nine single home and garage 7 rooms and tile bath; oil heat; hot water; electric refrigeration; fenced; landscaped; electric refrigerator; fenced; landscaped and other features. Shown Sunday afternoon, other time by appointment.
Ask Mr. Fowler
Jamaica 0800

Gloucester
'See This Then Judge for Yourself'
EASTERN POINT
One and two family houses; easy terms; 4 days a week for responsible occupancy if desired. Situated on Gloucester's beautiful outer harbor. Nearest to Cape Ann. All rooms, bath, open fireplace, kitchen. A house of great charm. Attractive rents. Also 2 cottages and garage at beach; large lawn; within and every convenience. Address Mrs. BENTON Eastern Point, Gloucester.

LOVERS OF NATURE!
Every room a picture—IN BELMONT SECTION—situated to rolling, tree-studded country with a brook flowing and birds, not only 7 miles, walk from 16 car transportation and all surrounding conveniences, but there are no traffic lights to stop you. Here is a home of charm, service and distinction, with every modern convenience, and it is offered to you with $1500 UNDER COST.

Middleton Bargain Only $4000
This Home Can Be Remodelled for Year Round
15 miles from Boston. Bungalow type of 6 rooms and bath; hot water heat; with large living room, fireplace, dining room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms, tiled bath, enclosed porch; garage; nearly 9 acres of land. Owner, Mr. Kates, Middleton, Mass. Tel. Peabody 1000.

61 Employment for Men

$5500 WEST QUINCY
A modern home of 6 rooms and bath; hot water heat; with large living room, fireplace, dining room, kitchen, 3 bedrooms, tiled bath, enclosed porch; garage; nearly 9 acres of land. Owner, Mr. Kates, Middleton, Mass. Tel. Peabody 1000.

REAL HOME WEST ROXBURY
Near Bromley, new 7-room house, hot water heat, oil burner, tiled bath, open fireplace, all new; 2 car garage. Granite foundation, insulated. Open daily. Key at house or Builders Office, 1 Bellevue Rd. Tel. Par. 0700.

HATHERLY BEACH—SCITUATE
—HM. home, 7-car garage, can be bought for $6000 and will be sacrificed at $5000.

Builders
Cash for Custom Trading Stamps. Bring or Postage Stamps. Premium Co., 611 Washington St., Room 1, Boston.

$12,500 2 years old, 2 baths, English basement, 2-car garage, reception, fireplace, 3 bedrooms, Miller Terrace, 1311 Beacon St.

Sunny Mattapan Home! 7 rm. sun Parlor, fireplace, 2 baths, 2 toilets, 2 lavatories, 2 car garage, $7500. Open Sunday 2 to 5 P.M. 1 Miller Terrace.

Milton
NEW Milton corner sun house. Five fully Arr., Garage. Builder on premises. Adjoining Blue Hills Reservation. Open daily and Sunday 2 to 5 P.M. Directions: Take Milton Sta. to Milton Village, turn left on Canton Ave. to Blue Hill Ave., turn right to Milton Hill Rd., turn left to Milton Hill Rd., turn left to Milton Hill Rd., turn left

NEW ENGLAND'S GREATEST EVENING NEWSPAPER

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1936

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION
net paid average, 6 months ending March 31, 1936 260,723

"Do We Want Free Government in America?"

GOVERNOR ALFRED M. LANDON came to Maine as an average American citizen, talked to other average American citizens, spoke a language average American citizens understand.

Governor Landon did not come to Maine as a political magician, with a wand in his hand to wave away the problems that beset the nation.

He did not pretend to hold a bag of tricks. He did not promise to do things for the people they are unable to do for themselves.

Instead, he urged his audience to go forward with COURAGE and INTELLIGENCE, solving their problems in the AMERICAN WAY as their fathers who founded and built America solved their problems.

It took courage to do what Governor Landon did, to dare to be honest, to face facts without fear.

THROUGHOUT the Maine campaign, the strategy of the New Deal has been distinguished by one thing —DECEIT.

Capitalizing the darkness of distress, the Roosevelt spokesmen sought to convince the people they have exhausted their own resources, that all things they have hitherto relied upon have failed, that all they have gained in the past is lost.

Without exception, New Dealers have pictured the American people as a gibbering, craven, beaten populace, ready to lick the hand of a self-appointed master holding the whip of dictatorship over their heads.

Always, by direct statement or sinister suggestion, there was the warning, only Mr. Roosevelt can save America—only Mr. Roosevelt and his company of Farleys, Tugwells, Wallaces and Hopkinses.

IN MAINE, as wherever he has spoken, it was not Governor Landon's intention that any American should look to him for the kind of leadership that proposes to take the guidance of the national destiny OUT OF THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE.

He said that the duty of the people of the United States is to get back into the stride of national progress that carried their country out of the wilderness to pinnacles of happiness and prosperity no people have ever known in any other land.

He deplored the New Deal policy of STANDING STILL, of CURTAILING, of DESTROYING, of MAKING SCARCE.

He asked:

"Where would we be today if we had adopted this philosophy in 1890? Or in 1900? How many automobiles and telephones would there be in the country? How many moving picture theaters? How many radios?"

He condemned, without mincing words, the New Deal tendency to create and foster monopolies at the expense of the small businessman, the worker and wage-earner.

He declared:

"It is not difficult to see what inevitably happens when this doctrine is followed.

"First the government creates a monopoly. Then it finds that it is against the public interest to leave such a monopoly, even though regulated, in private hands. In consequence, the government decides to take over the monopoly."

That has been the procedure in Germany, in Italy, in every country, in every continent where dictatorship has raised its ugly head.

With characteristic courage, Governor Landon sees the danger in America, dares to face it, is determined to stop it.

MAINE found Governor Landon's speech a sharp contrast to the fear-filled exhortations that have become familiar since the advent of the New Deal.

It was clear, understandable, truly American, devoid of any suggestion of miracles.

It was one citizen speaking to other citizens, united in the common bond of love of country.

It was an honest statement of the issues of the campaign in Governor Landon's honest way:

"Do we want the government prying into every little detail of our business lives?

"Do we want the government forbidding us to plant what we want in our fields?

"OR

"Do we want to be free to plan for our future?

"Do we want free government in America?"

Why Wages Are Low

THE ARTIFICIAL nature of "improvement" in national conditions that arises from government borrowing and spending is demonstrated by statistics on the national income furnished by the National Industrial Conference Board.

The total income of American citizens derived from private industry and occupations dropped from 73 billions in 1929 to 41 billions in 1934.

In the same period, the total income of citizens derived from government sources INCREASED from six billions to nine billions.

This explains how the national government can put up a great show of lavish expenditure with the appearance of helping large numbers of people, while at the same time from ten to fifteen million workers remain jobless.

The more people there are on government payrolls, the fewer there are on private payrolls. Government payrolls are supported by taxes against industry, and industry cannot pay ruinous taxes and support its own payrolls at the same time.

This being true, are not the wage-earners the real taxpayers, and the real victims of government waste, extravagance and inefficiency?

Real recovery will come when the government gives industry a chance to pay its money out in wages instead of in taxes.

Radicals Fight Dorgan

REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS DORGAN of Dorchester has been an outstanding member of the Massachusetts Legislature, a loyal friend of the working man, a relentless enemy of radical propaganda.

Representative Dorgan sponsored the Teachers' Oath Law, knowing that, while ninety-eight of every hundred teachers would not object to a pledge of allegiance, like Mayors, Governors, Presidents and other public officials, Communists and anti-Americans would object.

Today, Reds and Pinks are fighting Representative Dorgan's candidacy for clerk of the Suffolk Superior Civil Court. "Get Dorgan" seems to be the radical cry of the day.

The fact that Representative Dorgan sponsored resolutions protesting the persecution of Catholics by Mexican Communists and the suffering of Jews in Germany apparently also angered some of the Red element.

But Dorgan stands firm on a good record, confident that most citizens, neither radical nor Communist, will endorse his candidacy tomorrow.

Help For the Farmer

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT discussed in his recent radio address the simple truth that the purchasing power of city workers provides a market for the products of the farms.

American farmers will want to know:

"What farms?"

The Roosevelt Administration has done two notable things to the farmers.

It has restricted domestic production.

And it has flooded the American markets WITH IMPORTED AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

At the Cross-Roads—Americans Must Choose!

By T. E. Powers

That's That!

By Bruce Gustin

France claims to be too poor to pay anything on the debt she owes the United States. But she is starting out to spend nearly one BILLION dollars on an armament race with Germany. She has no money to pay for her last war but she can find 910,000,000 dollars to buy airplanes, guns, tanks and other equipment in preparation for another war. And she probably thinks that when this next war breaks, the people of the United States will be foolish enough to put up the money to carry it on.

You may say "What France does is her own business." Ordinarily, that would be true. What she does with her own money should be her affair. But what she does with OUR money is OUR concern. And when France spends hundreds of millions of dollars which she could and should apply to reduction of the debt she owes the United States, she is using OUR money.

There is another reason why the European armaments race concerns the United States. Repudiation by European countries of the debts they owe us do not wipe out a dollar of those debts. It merely shifts the burden of payment from European taxpayers to American taxpayers. Every dollar of indebtedness to the United States which France and other European countries refuse to pay must be paid by American taxpayers. War preparations in Europe inevitably mean higher taxes in the United States. Don't forget that.

Secretary of State Hull, deploring use of the skill and energy of scientists for destruction, asks: "Shall we allow this application of genius and energy to be dissipated in the agony of armed conflict, or shall we insist with all the determination at our command that they be employed objectively in the pursuits of peace?"

There is no question about the American answer. We cannot prevent other nations from making fools of themselves by plunging into another orgy of mass murder and destruction. But we can discourage that by making it plain we will not assist any combatant in any way.

New York Day by Day

-:- By O. O. McIntyre

New York, Sept. 14—Diary: To the train with Harry Silvey to say farewell to Genevieve Cooper again Joining Ryley at their new Florida home. And at breakfast imitating the drummer trying to date the waitress at my father's hotel, but my cousin Josephine and my lady awarded only pinchy smiles.

A brave letter from Raymond Carroll about The Paris That Was and which he knew so well. And another Carroll—Earl—dropped in before departing for Hollywood to live permanently. So to H. T. Webster's hide-out but he gone for the day, thence to see Dorman Smith, another cartoonist, newly come to town.

To dinner with the Lisle Bells at a Tyrolean kitchen with yodeling waiters. Then to Major Bowes' apartment awhile, looking at his many paintings and reading Mark Twain's letters to Margaret Illington, among them his bitterness "to this swindle called life."

Crashing the Empire tower is something new in gate crashing but it has been achieved by two youngsters from Brooklyn. They had to climb 2240 steps to make the 108 floors and when they knocked timidly at the last barrier it developed that, unwittingly, they had awakened to a Cinderella experience.

Julia Chandler, the manager, was so struck by their ingenuity in getting by the close guard, she accorded them all the privileges of the tower including special refreshments. The lads had pooled resources—a dime—to reach the skyscraper on, as fitting climax to their escapade, they were sent home in an official's car. They had come, they said, to look at the stars.

There is a germ of fantasy, too, for the realist in the idea of the thousands who live and work high up in New York. A great city above a city. At least a quarter million on higher levels. Their kinship is certain although they are unaware of it. Above the Twentieth Floor! People who come down from anywhere to do their chores—mountain or building—are somehow equipped with more than those who work on the same lower level.

Perhaps that's why New York is so bursting with ambition—this coming down from aloft and getting back there to sleep and dream of new achievements.

Personal nomination for the most curious combination of naivete and Broadway sophistication—Abel Green of Variety.

One of the in-and-outers of the New York parade—a sort of stage Man About Town—is Dudley Field Malone. He will, girded like a gallant, have stretches of ringsiding at every important event, including an Inverness caped presence at the opera, and then, like that, goes into seclusion. No one sees him or knows his whereabouts.

Bagatelles: Lupe Velez leads all the American movie stars in London publicity this season . . . Harry Pitzer is shopping for a night club site in East 60th . . . Bill Robinson eats a quart of ice cream daily the year around.

Claude G. Bowers, historian and Ambassador to Spain, has already 12 offers to write a book on the revolution at enormous advances . . . Erskine Gwynne may revive his Paris Boulevardier in Hollywood.

This is such a strange and surprising world. And I get to chuckling today how amusing it would be to learn that the pontifical J. P. Morgan was a regular wag at that fool game of handies.

Listen, World!

By Elsie Robinson

This business of "coming of age"—most of us think it depends on the calendar. Happens on a certain day, in a certain way. One day we're youngsters—the next we're grown-ups. But that isn't so.

Coming of age has nothing to do with the calendar. Some of us grow up in our early teens. Some of us never do—are still peevish, pouting children at sixty.

And most of our misery is due to this misunderstanding . . . to our cockeyed notions that time can turn us into adults. It can't. Only the ripening of our own spirits can bring maturity—ripening that sometimes seems to come in a flash. Some shock or sudden loss, some tough test—and, presto: the trick is done. Or isn't.

There's a swell yarn on this theme in the September issue of COSMOPOLITAN by Ernest Hemingway. About a rich young man and his wife on a safari in Africa. Hunting lions and buffalo—with a professional guide named Wilson. With his first lion, Macomber, the pampered rich man, bolts—and snaps the last shred of respect that binds the beautiful but completely worthless woman who bears his name.

A TEST OF COURAGE

There's a nightmare period when the three of them face the fact that he's yellow. Then they shift the three bull buffaloes. Huge, black animals, bulking almost cylindrical in their long heaviness, their big, black tails carr, moving at a gallop across the far edge of the open prairie . . .

Ugly, vicious beasts—one rip of their wide black horns meant ravelling death. Beside their menace, lion hunting was child's play. No peppering away at these brutes, trusting to chance shots to finish them. Two shots—and two only—could penetrate those armored skulls and steely muscles—through the nose, or chest. And after that, even if you were lucky enough to land, they "took a lot of killing," said Wilson.

These things Wilson told Macomber even while the bulls thundered toward them . . . told them to the man who yesterday had run in crazed fear from a wounded lion. But within the last hour something had happened . . . to Macomber.

With the first plunging onrush of the maddened monsters . . . the first bellowing "ca-ra-wong" of the great guns . . . fear had left him. Courage had filled him. He was no longer a coward MACOMBER HAD COME OF AGE!

NO LONGER AFRAID

And Wilson, the lawless cynic, sees and is profoundly touched by the change. "He had seen men come of age before and it always moved him. It was not a matter of his twenty-first birthday. It had taken a sudden chance of hunting, a sudden precipitation into action, without worrying beforehand, to bring this about.

"Fear gone like an operation—there's the thing that must happen to any mortal before he can grow up. Fear of pain and pressure, fear of responsibility, criticism, competition . . . all the endless and damnable forms of fear which kept us shamefully infantile . . . never, until they are 'gone like an operation' do we truly 'come of age.'"

Yet how we dread that operation—dodging and resenting the wrench that SHALL SET US FREE!

Bible Text: "Let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us."—St. Matthew 5:16. Suggested by the Rev. Ralph L. Rood, Baptist minister, Newport, Vt.